Police Hope For Lead In Murder Of DP

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.— (CP),— Ontario provincial police—prob-ing the mysterious slaying of a Lithuanian displaced person—today hoped to have enough infor-mation before them to lead to an early solution of what so far appears to be a crime without a motive.

A post mortem on the body of 36-year-old Napoleonas Jonusas will be performed this morning by Dr. M. O. Glotz, Ciivs Hospital pathologist. The body was brought to Ottawa from the farm of Mrs. Annie Baryluk, nea Navan, Ont.,

Meanwhile bits of wood bearing tiny blood spatters and glass bearing what appears to be fingerprints have been gathered for analysis by the RCMP. Photo-graphs of markings on the floor will be studied in an effort to track down the slayer.

Ethiopia Asks To Try Graziani

Ethlopia nas demanded the surrender by Italy of Marshal Pietro Badoglio former Italian Prime Minister, and Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, former Italian Gover-nor-General of Ethiopia, for trial as war criminals, the Ethiopian Legation in London annoutoday.

The demand was made in identical notes addressed to the Brit-ish, United States, French and Russian Governments, requesting Russian Governments, requesting them, under the terms of the Italian peace treaty, to instruct their ambassadors in Rome to represent Ethiopia in discussions with the Italian government.

The note named 10 Italians allegedly guilty of war crimes and crimes against humanity during the war against and occupation.

Aim At $1,000 By Christmas For Food Fund

At no season of the year is planning for a special event so universal as that at Christmas. So it is that the local committee of the UEFB which is continuing the work of this c'ty and district's own British War Victims' Fund, is hoping to raise $1,000 by Christmas mas.

There is an urgent need of this assistance to the British people, now subsisting on a below normal health standard of rations. Those of us who paid nearly $10 for a turkey for one day's rejoicing, could well afford to consider some halo as well could well afford to consider some help as well.

Tuesday was a good day for the Fund, G. R. Melton, a member of the committee alone reporting $200 in a combined total from the Dewart Milling Co. Ltd., Peterborough Grain Elevators Ltd., Duffus Motors, Lillico Motors, and the Gillewie Gargee In addition Duffus Motors, Lillico Motors, and the Gillespie Garage. In addition to this another $57 in cash was received from J. L. Thompson, Mrs. C. E. Hall, P. S. Bennett, J. A. Gibbs, C. V Elliott, Mrs J. A. Chase, RR 1, Peterborough, and an anonymous donor at the uptown branch of the Royal Bank.

Donations to date now total $652 leaving a balance of $348 required to reach the suggested total of $1,000 by Christmas. When one considers that the only extra meat allowed the British people for the Christmas season, amounts on the average to just one small link of sausage for each person, the goodness of heart displayed by citizens here, for a people in need, will rise to reach this objective.

The output of 520,000,000 units of electricity a year would in-cre se five-fold the present gen-erating capacity of North Wales and save about half a million tens

If agreement is reached with local authorities six new hydroelectric projects will be constructed at a cost of £20,000,000 ($80,-000,000).
Special efforts will be made to preserve the amentities of the country, which is one of the most beautiful areas of Britain.

"The various hydraulic works can be blended quite effectively with the surrounding countryside and the artificial lakes which are formed can be additional attraction to the scenery," a spokesman for the nationalized electricity authority said.

While the larger plan is still taking shape, work will proceed on extensions to two existing hy-dro-electric stations in the area, to be completed in about years at a cost of £623,000.

Aggressive Holland

The Dutch East Indian possessions have long been the richest gems in The Netherlands' crown. It lost them during the war to the Japs. After the war it lost much territory to the Indonesians who set up a Republic. During the last two years agreements have been reached and not acted on, made and broken, by both the Indonesians and the Dutch. It was thought that through the good offices of the U.S.A. and U.N., a fair and acceptable distribution of sovereignty and territory had finally been achieved. The Dutch have militantly dispelled that notion. On Sunday they invaded the Indonesian Republic in Java and Sumatra by air, sea and land.

Most of the western world will unhesitatingly call it invasion and aggression. The Dutch claim that they are merely forestalling a planned January Indonesian attack on Dutch territory in the islands. They also seem unwilling to recognize the new Republic except as a puppet, subordinate state, a mild concession to East Indian nationalism. When the Republic shows signs of wanting to be or likely to become more than that, the Dutch recoil in amazement. hurt surprise and dismay, and then unwind again in an attack.

It is easy to understand the Dutch motives. They have been excellent colonial administrators. It may well be that under Dutch governors all Indonesia would flourish economically and socially better than under complete self-government. The rubber, oil, spices, cotton and food crops of the East Indian Empire have given profitable occupation to Dutch sons for four hundred years and have been a large element in the Dutch standard of living - which was the highest in Europe before the recent war. The Netherlands lose much if they lose Indonesia.

Nevertheless, the twentieth century is not a colonial age, and the best colonial administration cannot fulfill the aspirations of a vigorous, nationalistic people except by giving up its authority. The Dutch Government should heed the words of Pandit Nehru, Prime Minister

'We are pledged to end the alien domination of Asia. Though we cannot give now, we cannot remain idle spectators. No one can prevent the tide of independends in Asiatic countries. Our foreign policy is that no foreign power should rule over any Asiatic country.

Bi-Lingual Ontario

Last Sunday Cardinal McGuigan opened a new six-room school in Toronto, the Sacred Heart School. It has the distinction of being the only school in Ontario's capital which conducts classes in both English and French. Bilingual instruction in a Toronto elementary school is not an innovation, for the new school replaces a smaller one which had been in operation for sixty years. About 240 children of French descent will attend it.

Ontario, like the rest of Canada, is officially bi-lingual, but nearly all the citizens who have both French and English on their tonguest are French-Canadian. English-Canadians have not bothered to learn French except as a set. of grammatical rules. The new bilingual school in Toronto will not alter the situation, for it is for French-Canadian children. There are, however, signs that Ontario is becoming less antagonistic to the French language. One reason is that there are 400,000 people of French descent now living in the province. Another is that French instruction in our secondary schools seems to be improving. The most important is that Ontario is becoming less bigoted, and realizing that Quebec is also a loyal part of Canada, Ontario folk now know that the prime loyalty is to Canada and not to "the Old Country", or even to numerous. Last Thursday the Ottawa Citizen published an editorial in French. Earlier in the year a story by Gabrielle Roy appeared in Maclean's Magazine in both French and English. A member of the Ontario Legislature spoke to the House in French. The bi-lingual University of Ottawa has an unusually large enrolment of both English-speaking and French-speaking students. It has received good support from English-speaking Ontario people in its building expansion. The day may be at hand when Ontario rsons with any social or cultural pre-

Freer Trade

We have had some bright figures from Ottawa recently. The Treasury reports a surplus of more than $560,-000,000 as of the end of November. The official reserves of gold and U.S. dollars have increased to $854,900,000, which is impressive considering how low they were in October a year ago when the embargoes and bans were imposed. Our balance of trade with the U.S. is still unfavourable. In October the deficit was $9.700,000. However, that need not worry us too much, for Canada is usually in the red with the U.S. It is only when the deficit reaches the heights of a year ago October ($86,200,000 for that month alone) that our financial and trading situation becomes precarious. Many of the drastic restrictions imposed in October of 1947 have been lifted, and now that we have sufficient American dollars in the federal pot to allow freer trade, other barriers against imports are to be removed on January 1st.

The removal of the import ban on a considerable list of consumer goods will benefit the building, industry, may soften prices a little in Canada since Canadian manufacturers are liable to face increased competition from the U.S., and will stimulate British trade with Canada. Artificial barriers to trade are seldom signs of economic health; in fact, they are usually imposed when something has gone wrong with the trading system. It is good that Canada's condition now permits of their removal.

The Pay Of Doctors And Clowns

A writer in the London Daily Telegraph says that in Soviet Russia a star clown gets six times the pay of a state doctor. Tush! Tush! Are we supposed to think that therefore the Soviet Union has no sense of the fitness of things? How wicked to put funny-men at 6,000 rubles a month and the medical benefactors of humanity at a lowly 1,000! Is it not more blessed to cure with a scalpel than to kill with laughter?

Even in the western world the art of the clown is often considered as good medicine as the potions of a doctor. And are there not more good doctors than there are good clowns? It is no disparagement of the medical profession to say that skilled doctors are a dimea-dozen compared with great clowns. How many Charlie Chaplins and Harry Lauders are there in a generation? We need the clowns, and even in the western world, pay the few Lauders and Chaplins considerably more than we pay our general practitioners.

The difference between the Russian and western system is one of degree, not of kind. The top clowns in Russia get less than $300 a month, the state doctors $55 a month. Fred Allen does not work for $300, nor our G.P.'s for $55.

Disliking No One

The Right Honourable W. L. Mackenzie King, M.P. for Glengarry, celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday on Friday. He said: "It is a great reward to be able to look back over a long and eventful life, with few regrets, and disliking no one". It is a virtuous thing to dislike no one, but we suspect that that kind of virtue is possessed only by old men or nincompoops. Mr. King, be it noted, called his ability to dislike no one a "reward" of a long, eventful life, not the cause of a successful one. In his younger days he, a man of no mean ability or feeble character, had a strong personal animus for many people. One reason for his success may have been his capacity to hate, and to transform that into a force which raised him up the political ladder over the prostrate bodies of people whom he had disliked. Love may move the world, but it is the people who get your goat that spur individuals into action.

St. Paul was so little interested in the Jesus of history that he did no poiner to visit reter (who had known Jesus in the fiesn) until three years after his conversion to the new faith.

AS late as the 5th century there was no general Christian celebration of the nativity of sesus, and a variety of opinion about the proper date for it: January 6th, March 25th, or December 25th. About 400 A.D., the Christians in Rome began observing December 25th, which had been the date of a pagan festival. Syrian and Armenian Christians clung to January 6th. In Britain, December 25tn was a festival long before Christianity came to the island. According to the Venerable Bede the pagans called it "mother's night, by reason, we suspect, of the ceremonies which in that night-long vigil they per-

ALL the so-called Christmas carols are not carols; in fact, most of the ones sung at carol services are not carols at all: they are Christmas hymns-like "On Come Ail Ye kaithful" (a quite modern hymn, for both Latin words and the music are probably Latin words and the music are eignieenth century) and "silent Night" (a it becomes antique. The Oxford Book of Carois detines carois as "songs with a religious impuise that are simple, hilarious, popular and modern". The word "carol" has cancing origin, deriving from the Italian "carola"-a gance in a ring, and medieva Latin "chorusa"-a dance to the flute. A real carol is gay, genial, sometimes ecclesiastically improper, sometimes ungrammatical. Since tney are numanistic, not hourgical, there are no ancient carols-none earlier than 1400, or even 1450. Because they are not starchy stuffy, or studious, few carols have been written since the eignteenth century.

Of the well-known Christmas songs, "The First Nowell" is a true carol. So is "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen". That line is, by the way, often misinterpreted, The comma mes after the word "merry", not before so the line means, "Gentlemen, God K. you merry". There are carols of other sons in the year besides Christmas, but mo-Corisimas and Twelfth Nigot, which is the Feast of the Epipnany—January 6th, when the Wise Men brought their gifts.

IN the flower shops at this season, azaleas with their profusion of red, pink or white bloom, are among the more decorative, and ensive p-ants. A reason for the high prices is that they are imported—those in borougn stores come from Belgium. Another is that they are hard to grow. They are of the rhodogendron family, but must be carefully grafted and cultivated to transform them into indoor plants. I looked at two fine pots of azaleas in a florist's shop the other day; both were of the same colour and with about the same amount of bloom, but one was priced at six dollars, the other at sixteen. The cheaper plant was lower; seemingly the more tree-like and higher the azalea, the higher the price.

PAYING JUST DEBTS

Sir: At this Christmas season, may I take opportunity to express my gratitude, along with sending, that, in behalf of hundreds of others, whom, I feel assured have that gratefulness at heart, toward all those in the County Council, Tp. Council, Highway Dept., and all others who have had any influence, power or efforts connected in starting the much needed, deserved and long ago paid for (by taxes) highway for this Stony Lake section. We certainly appreciate the work thus far accomplished and continue to hope for the best for completion, to repay the debt that has been so long unpaid to the many farm families that date back to over 100 years where the forefathers laid a fou: ation for which we who enjoy it now should feel most grateful and give thanks that this section was plessed with people of character than has carried on to this generation.

We express our gratitude in appreciation of the late Mr. Ferguson who made it possible for bus service during the tourist season and most grateful to Mr. F. Coyle and his most efficient and conscientious bus driver Ray mond Jackman for the yearly bus service which gives the youth of this section a deserving chance for advanced education, farms, in case the needed highway development proceeds to completion, making this ection have advantages to live up to the potentialities so evident.

for any part they have taken in aiding this section in any manner, especially, with the highway advancement and giving our people work to keep them in this section. All the Nepheline Mine truck drivers and the guidance of their manager and owner of the firm. At this Christmas season and throughout the entire year may, we have in abundance kindness, thoughtfulness and deeds that could pay many a debt, make more healthy bodies by developing the healthiest minds for it is the results of thoughts, deeds and words that can even stop wars, make people live forever.

Never forget, that the young and old come and go, some live only here and others live hereafter too, but "kind deeds and kind words never die."

CHRISTMAS TREE PROTEST

Sir: My heart bleeds every time I see Christmas tree in somebody's house, or a bunch of them on the back of a truck or for sale in a lot. To cut down young, beautiful spruce and balsam just to stick up for a day or two in a house is downright wasteful and mad. Just as mad as the German-Englishman George III, or the complete German, George I, who was responsible for bringing the wrong-headed German custom of Christmas trees to England, and so later to Canada. It's a typical, stupid, Hun notion

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For this cause I Paul, the prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles, if ye have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God which is given me to you-ward: now that by revelation he made known unto me the mystery . . . Which in other ages was not made known to the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit; that the Gentiles should be fellow-heirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel: Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power. Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grave given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ

For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named, that he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man. (Eph. 3: 1-3, 5-8, 14-16.)

And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand two hundred and threescore days. (Rev. 12: 6.)

Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for their's is the kingdom of heaven. (Matt. 5: 10.)

And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ. (Rev. 12: 13-17.)

Margarine, And All's Well!

Well, margarine now may be made and sold legally in this country, and it will be interesting to see what happens. It has had such a persistent build-up that we may be certain every family will hasten to buy a pound when it comes on the market. It will be tried out on the breakfast toast and the dinner-table bread, and in cooking. It will be compared with butter, and there will be much talk of its flavour, its looks and its gen-

Must Keep Eye On Power Supply

CAMPBELLFORD, Dec. 23 -

TORONTO, Dec. 23 — (CP)—
Continued co-operation by labor and industry in arranging working schedules during week-days will be an important factor in helping maintain present improved power supply conditions.

This statement was made Wednesday by H. D. Rothwell, administrative assistant of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, who met a Brantford delegation representing labor and industry.

278 MILES OF "TUBE" The total length of the under ground railway in London is 278

Best sports quip of the week, according to Doug Vaughan of Windsor, was made by Coach Hap Day of the skidding Maple Leafs. When asked the same old question of what's wrong with the Leafs, the unhappy one said: "Two years ago, if I told my players to go through a brick wall they'd do it in style. If I asked them the same thing last season, they might go through. If I asked them now, they'd say 'you go first'." It's as pithy a way to admit a club lacks the lust and hunger for victory as one will hear. Not that Day admits the club won't make the playoffs, but he realizes right now that the Leafs aren't showing the stuff which brings championships.

Hap Day himself is a good, steady coach. And Conny Smythe has no superior as a fire-eater. He bitterly resents defeat in any form and is flable to sell any one of his players down the river at any time. He fights with other NHL managers, with referees and his own players. He coldly points out in print that so-and-so of the Leafs isn't pulling his load. Personally, we think he has them jittery. Toronto will likely be up there again come playoff time but it must be remembered that there are other good teams and star players in the NHL, too. Not a real weak sister in there at the moment and it looks like a dogfight all the way.

He Blew His Top

They tell a typical tale of Smythe's temper. He was rushing round the Gardens during a game and he flopped into an empty rink-side seat. Then the ticket-holder of the seat returned and and usher quite properly said: "Sorry, Mr. Smythe, but that seat's tak-Darned if Conny didn't blow a fuse, fire the usher on the spot and stamp angrily away! After the game, he rehired the usher with an apology. Yeah, the Leafian boss burns up fast and furiously

Most champions are "hungry" players or fighters, as the case may be. That's often literal, too. But a club or person too used to winning laurels just hasn't the driving desire and extra hustle in most cases. Jack Dempsey was a good example of that in his younger days. He was a hungry killer in the ring till after he took the world's crown. Later, he began putting on a bit of weight and not driving quite so hard, taking longer to win and taking longer rests between bouts. Till eventually he was beaten. Leafs may be like that after a period of success in Stanley Cup and NHL competition And maybe that's why Smythe is trying to fire them anew with his own fighting spirit.

Maybe Six Clubs

Latest word on our OHA senior "B" grouping is that there'll be a schedule meeting in the Lindsay arena topight. Stouffville and Markham will be invited along with Toronto Meteors, Petes, Legionnaires and Toronto Bells. Still hopes that the latter may reconsider withdrawing. If Bells return to the group, and Markham and Stouffville come in, we'd have a six-team setup. In any case, officials here hope to have at least four clubs in as originally planned. But nothing will be known for sure until after this meeting in Lindsay. The schedule will likely be drawn up tonight.

* * * Frank Buckland informs us that Legion's application to use Goalie Ross Nicholls this season has been granted by the OHA The reason for this is that Ross is a replacement for Doug Free. Legion had Doug signed when Max Silverman asked them for him so he could join the Sudbury Wolves on their European tour. He promised them a replacement, though actually that promise could only be made by the OHA executive. However, the latter reviewed the case and felt a replacement was in order for Free, and naturally Legion picked the goalie. They won't be able to use any other 'Cayeop or Lindsay player, but nonetheless should ice a strong squad. * *

Roll For Chickens

Girls' Bowling League held the annual chicken roll this week. Dixon had top single of 304 and Betty Goldie led in triples with 791. M. Payne was nearest the blind score of 698. Special winners of blind score draws were: I. Bullock, A. Stinson, L. Vincent, E. Rishor and B. Robertson. Towne Togs took down team honors with leading one game total of 1206 and high cross of 3147. Competition wasn't as keen as usual with four clean sweeps hung up on the night's play. And now the lasses will coast over the holiday week-end.

The present policy of making university training open to all young men and women able to profit by it has almost doubled university population and caused "quite a serious deterioration in the standards of university life," says a report by the University Grants Committee on university development between 1935–1947.

To meet the changed situation the committee urges a policy that "studies.

Within two years under-graduates in the technical fields have doubled and the overall university figure already is 83,000.

Government grants, which in 1935 accounted for only 34 per cent of university revenues, now provide 52 per cent and by 1900 are expected to amount to 60 per cent.

Can you imagine the contrast of the fullness and abundance in the stores of Peterborough, Ontario, with the limited stocks of life! Make A Contribution All you have to do to bring foods in corresponding stores in Peterborough, England.

Here, is almost endless variety. There, is a drab sameness and narrow limits of available meats and groceries, day after day without choice. Just the usual allotment to which your ration card entitles you!

Can you imagine England without a Christmas plum pudding? A man casually mentioned last night receipt of a letter from his sister. She wrote: "We wouldn't have a pudding for Christmas, if yours hadn't arrived." That lit-tle acknowledgment is eloquent of gratitude and need among the people—whose forebears invented the English plum pudding. You can't make plum pudding

"It is a good thing to bear United States," Mr. MacKinnon and the airlines contributed to this in mind, and to put through two plane accidents, one of which important calls, where possible, killed 52 persons.

The board in a final report on the accidents said the probable cause of both was the burning of gasoline which entered the cabin heaters through air intake scoops as a result of fuel tank over-flow. That finding had been dissome months ago.

The accidents involved Douglas DC-6 four-engine transports. The first occurred at Bryce Canyon, Utah, Oct. 24, 1947 when a United States Airlines plane crashed. Fifty-two persons including a crew of six were killed.

The second involved an American Airlines plane which landed at Gallup, N.Mex., Nov. 11, 1947 after a serious fire in the belly of the ship. No one was injured.

Students in the Civic Hospital School of Nursing celebrated Christmas Wednesday evening in the Argyle St. residence. It was one of the jolliest of parties, the enjoyment heightened by generosity of Santa Claus (alias Dr. E. A. Hammond), who not only officiated for the distribution of gifts, but provided a beautifully decorated cake, crackers and

Mrs. Walter Perry, director of music, led in singing of familiar carols until all guests had arrived. Miss Doris Hanna of the senio class was chairman for the program, and called upon Misser Jean Bulmer and Beryl Christie for a piano duet. Miss Nancy the evening with "Here Comes Santa Claus," played on the violin, accompanied by Miss Vivian Rowland at the piano, and for an encore gave a pretty medley. The new class of 30 students sang "Deck the Halls," with Mrs. Perry leading.

Highlight of the program was the comedy presented by first year students in three scenes, en-titled "Mind Over Matter." Miss Shirley Gordon made up the characters, while giving running commentary on the parts they would play. Those taking part were Misses Joan Sharpe, Bar-bara Deyell, Evelyn Taylor and Pauline Pengelly.

Coffee and sandwiches were served in the class room where a most attractive effect was given crossed red crackers edging the large oval and the centre piled high with fruit, nuts and candy around a small tree. Gifts to the nurses of Christmas cake, candy and nuts were passed and the evening ended happily with everyone wearing a fancy paper

CanadaGaveMost Food To Britain

WINDSOR, Dec. 23 (CP)-Bet ty Burton says she knows 1,052 ways to prepare codfish. She's fed up with codfish.

The author, former Windsor resident who now calls London ome, expressed her opinion of odfish in an interview in which she praised Canada's generosity in responding to appeals for food in Britain. The worst part about Briton's meagre rations was planning meals to provide variety and "if I never see codfish again it will be too soon."

She added: "I don't think anyone in Canada can realize how much food par-cels mean to the people in England.

"The Canadian people gave more per capita to England than any other country, and make no mistake, the English people are conscious of this." Miss Burton, spending Christ-

GRACEFUL JEWEL CHEST-A designer of fine costume jewelry really has ideas about a beautiful jewel box. To house such items as a fine single strand pearl necklace, a handsome necklace set with amethysts and pearls in a floral design, suspended from a thin gold cobra coil, with matching bracelet and earrings, this house has created a fine copy of an ancient Chinese chest in simulated ivory and teakwood. It has three compartments lined with white satin. We aver that the nicest costume items in the stores this year are those created by our own designers and manufacturers.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We are a group of teen-agers who would like to know if, when a girl has been going with a boy a lot and she knows he is going to kiss her, it is permissible for her to remove her lipstick before he kisses her, or does that make her leak too. or does that make her look too anxious? Our boy friends approve of us doing so occause they say it saves handkerchiefs and ties and ollars. What do you think about this? FIVE PALS

ANSWER: This is a delicate and difficult question to answer because there are two sides to it, both of which have their points. Undoubtedly it is a good line for a girl to look wide-eyed and innocent and to be coy and hard to get. In such a case she would leave her lipstick on because the boy friend would conwould leave her lipstick on be-cause the boy riend would con-clude from this that she never had been kissed before and that she was SO surprised, and that she had NO idea that he felt that way about her. The drawback to this, however, is that there seems to be no lipstick that will stay on to be no lipstick that will stay on in a clinch, and after the first kiss the recipient is apt to look messy and her lips to need repair. On the other hand while it may seem an unromantic and calculated thing for a girl to remove her lipstick and have her mouth cleared for action, as it were before she steps out with a led who fore she steps out with a lad who is a kissing bug, it is no wonder is a kissing bug, it is no wonder that the boys are in favor of it for it saves them a small fortune in laundry bills. For while lipstick won't stay on lips, it is hard to get off of clothes. Husbands with suspicious wives are particularly enthusiastic over girls keeping their mouths as Nature made them. And this leaves the lipstick problem up to the inlipstick problem up to the in-dividual.

In the 4-Hearts, North barely made his contract, losing tricks to the trump A plus two more to West's long hearts. Pairs at other tables in the same tournament got into 6-No Trumps and made it like rolling of a log, with no tricks lost except one to the heart A.

When South heard that jump response by North, he could have added that strength to his own and seen easily that the side should have a slam in No Trumps. He had a choice of several courses, one of which was so bid 6-No Trumps at once and the other to take it easy, possibly cue-bidding spades, hearing diamonds then from North, then Blackwooding. If North's response to the 5-No Trumps had been only 6-Diamonds to show one king, then 6-Diamonds could be the contract; when it happened to be 6-Hearts, however, showing two kings, South should have chosen the same 6-No Trumps.

Christmas Celebrated At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Dec. 23-(ENS) -Churches were well filled on unday for Christmas services, the community carol singing at 8:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's United Church, led by Homer Ouelfette, being broadcast by means of the memorial sound system installed last year in the tower. Fraser Carr and Don Spicer read the lessons covering the story of the birth of Christ, at the regular service, relieving the minister the Rev. G. C. R. McQuade, who was suffering from a sever cold. For this reason, the usual address was omitted.

Additional accompaniment for some of the carols was provided by Gordon Might and Donald Mc-Knight, playing silver trumpets, and Mrs. E. L. Hetherington play-ed the organ. Soloists were Mrs. Gordon Baker and Mrs. Lawrence Gordon Baker and Mrs. Lawrence

Canadian Skater Will Belong To Three Unions

NEW YORK, Dec. 23—(CP)— Barbara Ann Scott will soon be a full-fledged union member. For that matter she'll belong to three unions, all affiliates of the Association of Actors and Artists of America (AFL). Application already has been made to the American Guild of Variety Art-ists by the world champion Now in her third day as star of the Roxy Theatre's holiday stage show, Barbara Ann is a full-fledg-ed "variety artist" and will pay a $50 initiation fee along with an annual fee of $24. As her salary increases the annual fee increases up to a $100 maximum. Rumors contract signings with motion picture producers and radio shows will mean that Barbara Ann will apply for member ship in two of the AGVA's sister unions—the American Federation of Radio Artists and the Screen Actors' Guild.

Officials of the Music Corpora-tion of America reiterated today that nothing has been settled concerning movies and radio. Plans all are still tentative and include television shows as well.

Membership in AFRA will only cost her half as much as the AGVA membership because of the affiliation between the un-ions. The same holds true for the Screen Actors' Guild.

Instead of a $50 initiation fee in AFRA, Barbara Ann will pay and $50, depending on her earnings from acting parts.

Since then, crude oil production has been increased by approxi-mately 415,000 barrels dally and heating fuel oil stocks have climbed to totals which would have been considered fantastic last January.

There is no indication of a de-cline in the unprecedented de-mand for petroleum and petrol-eum products. Shortages of steel continue to prevent maximum exploration for new reserves.

Adverse weather or a prolonged strike could erase much of the current optimism.

Production leads the industry's 1948 accomplishments but is followed closely by improvements in transportation and expansion of research and plant facilities.

CCF Candidate Loses By 500 Votes; First Test At Polls

ASHERN, Man., Dec. 24 (CP)-Manitoba's Coalition government today had a Christmas present from Fairford constituency voters in the form of a by-election triumph by James Frederick Anderson, Liberal Progressive candidate, over C.C.F. opponent Mike Taczynski.

Results from all 18 polls in the voting Thursday in the riding stradddling the area between Lake Winnipeg and Lake Winnipegosis were slow in coming in, due in part to snow-blocked roads. The 11 polls heard from when tabulating ended Thursday night gave Mr. Anderson 797 votes to 297 for Mr. Taczynski.

The victorious candidate succeeded former premier Stuart Garson, now federal justice minister, as member of the legislative assembly for Fairford. Mr. Garson had held the seat since 1927.

It was the coalition govern-ment's first test at the polls since Douglas L. Campbell became premier last month. Mr. Anderson's election left the coalition with 26 Liberal Progressive, 14 Progressive Conservative and two Social Credit supporters. In opposition are 10 C.C.F. members and three

The Coalition, formed in 1940 under former premier John Bracken, was continued by both Mr. Garson and Mr. Campbell.

The campaign leading up to yesterday's by-election was one of the quietest in Manitoba's history, partly because of storms which swept the northern interlake region, blocking roads and generally making extensive campaigning difficult. Lack of any major issue also contributed to the unobtrusive nature of the by-

Saunders Gives New 3 P.C. Power Boost

OTTAWA, Dec. 24 - (CP) -The United States has presented power-scarce Ontario with an appropriate Christmas gift this year. In a simultaneous Ottawa-Washington announcement Thursday the U.S. government said it would allow the diversion of another 2,500 cubic feet of water a second from the Welland canal. This, said Ontario Hydro chairman Robert Saunders would provide an additional 1,250,000 killo watt hours to be produced at the Decew Falls Hydro plant near St. Catharines.

He immediately announced a three-per-cent increase in South-ern Ontario daily power quotas—the sixth boost granted in the

The U.S. approval of the water diversion, which is in addition to a 4,000-cubic-feet-a-second diversion assented to in 1944, may well see the elimination of power blackouts this winter, Mr. Saunders said. However, there still was need for voluntary conservation on the part of power consumers. Demand still exceeds the commission's available power by some 3,000,000 kilowatt hours daily.

SHARON AND KENT YOUNG are the children of Mr. and | lack of snow for Christmas day, but this condition now has been rectified.

Children, Interpreters of Christmas

On the first Christmas, a Child was the central figure. Through nineteen hundred and forty-eight years, the story of a newborn Babe, with His promise of 'Peace on earth, Goodwill to men' has been kept alive in a world which has known but litle of that peace and goodwill. Each year, it is in the faces of their children that men see again that vision, that hope.

Reflected in the trusting eyes of children is a faith which is, sought by adults. As long as there are children, Christmas and its message—will live,

The wonder of a child's discovery of Christmas spreads to those to whom the story is old—too old. The never-aging miracle lives in all its beauty and simplicity in the unquestioning acceptance of a child.

Each year, there are children to whom the story is new. And to older hearers, the story takes of the story itself, but because the experience of the young hearers is transmitted to their

The tree, blazing with light and shimmering with an un-wordly awe, to them is a castle of amazement. They know—as only children can know—that it is a beacon guiding Santa Claus—the saint of all good girls and boys (and which of them is not good in anticipation of his vis-it!)

Bright and early on the more ning after his magic visit, quivering with pure animal excite-ment, the children are boss. Trembling fingers unwrap San-ta's parcels, squeals of delight ring out as the wonderful, won-and weeks to come—the joys of those gifts are tasted. Dolls are lovingly cuddled; sleds are borne to the snow-covered hills with shouts of glee; cars and trains and building blocks and mechanical toys get a thorough try-out by their youthful recipients.

THESE TWO YOUNGSTERS, like thousands of children all over the country, can hardly wait to get a glimpse of Santa claus with his fur-trimmed coat and pack of parcels for good their believing arms, is symbolized a childish thought little boys and girls. With infinite care they hang up their stockings Christmas Eve.

And the "grownups?" Well. their Christmas is also there-in the laughter and smiles of the youngsters. Cares find it hard to enter the scene worries slip for the that blessed moment in our hurried living. It is a pocket in time dedicated to happiness, in an existence where unhappiness and doubt are too familiar.

Who can see the thrill in a child's eye at a time like this without feeling a responsive mood? What heart cannot open with a vibrant answer to a yell of exultation under the tree as yet another pearl goes on the stran of joy encircling a breathless five-year-old?

In the modern world, there is too much that is un-Christmas for most of us to turn of. simple pleasures. Adults need someone to interpret Christmas to them.

It has been said that the meaning of Christmas cannot be understood by children. That is wrong. Of all human men-tal processes, a child's mind alone is capable of grasping the message and meaning in its deepest, its most elemental,

To a child, everything is real and clear-cut. He sees things defined sharply, with no shadowy complications to obstruct their views, no finely-drawn arguments to sully their appreciation.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed ... And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David) to be taxed with Mary, his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered: And she brought forth her firstborn son; and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds, abiding in the fields, keeping watch over their flocks by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

The Gospel according to St. Luke.

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and have come to worship him.

When Herod the king heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judea; for thus it is written by the

And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king they departed; and, lo, the star which they saw in the east went before him, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And when they were come into the house they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down and worshipped him; and when they had opened their treasures they presented unto him gifts: gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country, an-

Today's News

Our leading article is usually devoted to a discussion of what seems to us the most important news-local, national, or international-of the time. We are making no exception today by giving the Christmas story. That is the greatest news for us in Peterborough, for millions everywhere. It is the good news, the gospel: "good tidings of great joy".

Church-Going At Christmas

Despite the statistics of the 1941 and latest Canadian census in which it is reported that 971/2 per cent. of all Canadians call themselves Christian, it is apparent that only a small minority attend church services with any regularity. If next Sunday all the people in Peterborough who say they are Christians went to church, fewer than half of them could find seats in our churches.

There is a tendency to make jokes about those who go to church only at Christmas and Easter. That is injudicious, and if regular church supporters are the jokers, it is condemnatory of the church which they support. The folk who go to church only on those occasions are at once a hope of the church and a challenge. They are a hope, because they represent the majority of Canadians who still possess some sort of belief in or residual regard for the function and purpose of organized Christianity. They are a challenge because at least twice in the year the church has the opportunity to show them, the bulk of Canadians, that the church is indeed Christian, that it holds the key to the ages and the promise of the future.

It is a good thing to assent to one's inclinations, to affront one's scepticism or laziness, and to go to church at Christmas. The institution which is the Christian church is neither an accident nor ephemeral. It is part of our civilization, part of time. It is more than sermon, music and conned prayers. It can transcend its earthy inadequacies and crudities. Therefore, people who call themselves Christian and want to be Christian need have no qualms about attending church at the Christmas season. They should, indeed, welcome the opportunity.

What The Dickens!

The only good thing about the popular Victorian-Canadian euphemism for the Devil ("the Dickens") is that it puts on our lips the name of Charles Dickens. No man of literature is farther removed from the devil. To read him is to acquire faith in the innate goodness of man, the betterment of society and the prospect of heaven. He is the optimistic voice of common humanity, the strong status. Inus readers of the New Yorker and humour of Anglo-Saxon earth. Hear him in Oliver Twist: "Please, sir,

I want some more"; or "There's light enough for wot I've got to do". In Martin Chuzzlewit: "Buy an annuity cheap, and make your life interesting to yourself and everybody else that watches the speculation"; "What we've got to do, is keep up our spirits, and be neighbourly, We shall come out all right in the end, never fear". What heartening aphorims he has left us-now they seem proverbial. (He owes in some of them a debt to Shakespeare.) "As good as gold"; "Lord, keep my memory green"; "Let sleeping dogs lie"; "Heaven knows we need never be ashamed of our tears, for they rain upon the blinding dust of earth, overlying our hard hearts". And for this season there is, of course, Tiny Tim's 'God bless us every one!" So his wonderful metaphors run through his stories and the ear of the English-speaking world: "Secret, and self-contained, and solitary as an oyster". "The New Year, like an Infant heir to the whole world, was waited for, with welcome, presents, and rejoicings". "It was a true...as turnips is. It was as true...as taxes is. And nothing's truer than them". "A man must take the fat with the lean". A wonderful man, our Dickens.

A Seventeenth Century Good-Bye God bless the master of this house, The mistress also, And all the little children That round the table go.

And all your kin and kinsfolk, That dwell both far and near; I wish you a Merry Christmas, And a happy New Year.

SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: I am in an hotel today and suffer the inconvenience of being asked what I want for breakfast. I am not accustomed to answering such a question. For many years my breakfast has not varied by so much as a calory, and I consider any breakfast but my usual one a heathen abomination. In the mat-ter of breakfast, I am out-and-out Tory. If my day is not to fall in ruins it must be founded upon a sliced orange, a dish of porridge, one side of toast with marmalade, and three cups of weak tea. I know men of shifting and uneasy faith who change breakfast foods as easily as they change their minds; I know women of doubtful virtue who will jump from toast to hot rolls with a light laugn and a wanton glance from beneath their eyees. I know inordinate men who eat meat and eggs at breakfast, and deliquescent women wao break their fast with a rusk and a glass of lemon juice. But mine is the one, true, apostolic breakfast, ordained at Creation, and enduring till the twilight of Time.

MONDAY: As I sat on a siding today I reflected upon the extraordinary slowness of our Canadian trains. There are, I know, fast trains in this country, but they never go anywhere that I want to go. The trains which I am forced to take aawdle through the countryside, squatting every now and then to cool their bellies in the snow, while I yawn and try to read-a diversion which the mpiness or the roadbed makes impossible. ... Roused from a doze this afternoon by a fear that the train was on fire. There was no smoke, and I decided that someone must have left a pair of rubbers, or possibly a soiled against the heating apparatus. But later I discovered that a man across the aisle had lit a pipe, at which he sucked with obvious enjoyment. There was a smoking section of the car, but he aid not choose to go to it. Instead be blew his fetid exhalations everywhere, causing old ladies and young mothers to seek refuge between the cars, while men like myself, apparently in the best of health turned grey in the face and wished for death to end our sufferings. I don't mind pipes; I smoke a pipe myseli; but this was such a pipe as the damned must smoke in Hell.

FUESDAY: Was talking to a man who had recently returned from England, and was full of information about the narm which he thought the socialist government had done there. For one thing, he said, the dog-boxes have disappeared from English trains. This rattled me, I confess. Not long ago there used to be special holes between the carriages of hingrish trains, in which dogs rode; they were happy in there, and they passed their journey in sleeping and trying to look out of small window which other dogs had licked and blown their noses upon. But such dogboxes are no more, and dogs ride in the carporters or not. This man said that he had riggen firty miles in a carriage with a dog as big as a calf, which stood on his feet, stuck its nose into nis pockets, and beat noisily upon his newspaper with its tail....This suggests to me that the Labour Government depends neavily upon the dog-lover vote, a very powerful political group in England where dogs are regarded as semi-sacred, along with such totems as crumpets, Brussels sprouts and umbreilas. "I'ne voice of the people is the voice of Dog say these zealots. 4 4 4

WEDNESDAY: Desperate for Christmas gifts I have been driven to giving subscriptions to magazines this year to many of my iriends who deserve something better. The tragecy of magazines is that nonody has any time in which to read them; only those wno are condemned to lonely vigils in doctors' waiting-rooms are able to wade through those pungent comments on world affairs, those orimant disquisitions on married happiness, those taies of adventure, for which magazine publishers pay so much. But most of us like to have a few magazines coming to tne nouse, if only to proclaim our intellectual the Atlantic curl the lip at those whose living-room tables boast only Life, Time and the Reader's Digest; and these too are given tne sneer of contumely by readers of Horizon and rarusan Review; and all of the foregoing ter emparrassment in those homes where Country Life, 'I'ne Tatler and Punch lie beside the chairs, though I cannot quite explain why. So all week I have been tearing those hard little cards out of magazines, and accepting the Special Offer whereby I can give suoscriptions at bargain rates. It is a coward's way out, but what am I to do?

THURSDAY: A kind friend has sent me a Bay of Fundy lobster for Christmas, and I decided to eat it tonight, as lobsters grow impatient if kept too long. Spent quite a time trying to undo its buttons and find its zipper, for a lobster is one of Nature's most battling packages, though a noble sight. last had to call for skilled assistance. skilled Assistant laid the lobster bare in no time, reminding me of a jest much favoured Gaffer Marchbanks, my great-great-"It saw the salad dressing". This was considered designtfully salacious when Gaffer was a roystering blade, and he once had his face slapped for whispering it to a Nice Girl. The incident deepened his determination to marry a girl who was not Nice, and their descendents all wifes a not Nice, and their anus all suffer from a taste for ribaldry which I have never been able to root out of my heart. Strive as I will, gross expressions such as "bottom", "tum-tum" and "camisole" creep into my conversation, and I was once guilty of telling, in mixed company, about a lady organist was could change her combinations without taking her feet off the edals. That sort of thing marks a man as a Smutty Fellow, and people avoid him lest they be dragged down to his level.

TRIDAY: Christmas Eve, and I suffer all day from a sense of oppression, for I have not bought enough presents, and I have not sent out enough greeting cards, and I am not at all sure that I have enough to eat and drink in the house to last me over the holiday. O, I am a Cursed Thing! A brewery has sent me a card, but I have not sent one to the brewery; an insurance agent has sent

A Sad Christmas At Quebec (From N. E. Dionne's "Champlain" in the Makers of Canada Series)

IN the autumn of the year 1635, Champlain suffered from a stroke of paralysis, which was considered very severe from the com-mencement. However, hopes were entertained for his recovery. The months of October and November passed away, and still no sign of improvement appeared. Champlain therefore, made his will, which he was able to sign plainly, in the presence of some witnesses. Father Charles Lalemant, the friend and confessor of Champlain, administered to him the last rites of the church, and on the night of December 25th, 1635, he passed away at Fort St. Louis (aged 65 or 68).

All the inhabitants, without exception, were deeply affected on hearing the news of his demise, and a great number attended his funeral. The funeral sermon was preached by Father Le Jeune. Champlain was buried in a grave which had been specially prepared, and later on, a small chapel was erected to protect his precious remains. This chapel was unfortunately burnt, as we have already mentioned, during the conflagration of June

4 4 4 THE Jesuits' Relations of 1636 give a full account of the last days of Champlain, which we here quote: "On December 25th, the day of the birth of our Saviour upon earth, Monsieur de Champlain, our governor, was reborn in Heaven; at least we can say that his death was full of blessings. I am sure that God has shown him this favour in con-sideration of the benefits he has procured for New France, where we hope some day God will be loved and served by our French, and

The father comforted him throughout his sickness, which lasted two months and a half, and did not leave him until his death. He had a very honourable burial, the funeral procession being formed of the people, the soldiers, the captains, and the churchmen. Father Lalemant officiated at this burial, and I was charged with the funeral oration, for which I did not lack material. The Coming of the Great King

All hail the Universal King! The Lord of life and glory; Now let us all rise up and sing, And tell the wondrous story:

How as a babe He came to earth, All in a manger lowly; The shepherds worshipped at His birth, And saw His mother Holy:

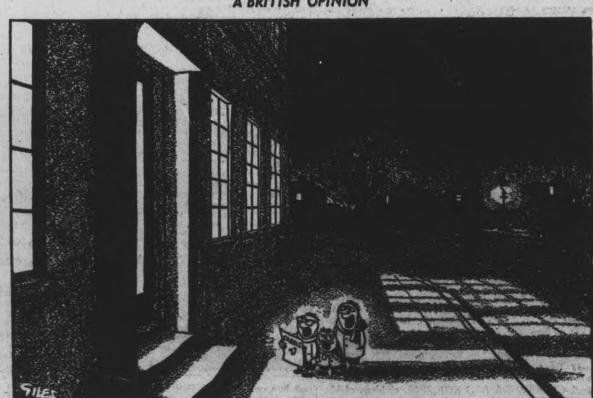

The wise men from the east afar, Came with their presents rare;
All guided by a brilliant star,
And they too, worshipped there.

Now as a King He comes to reign, O'er every tribe and nation; We welcome Him with glad acclaim

And bow in admiration

DEAR SANTA CLAUS: Years ago when life was not so splicated, I used to ask you for a great many things. I'm sure you never met my wishes completely, yet strangely enough as I ok back, it is with a feeling of complete satisfaction. That being so, you must at least have made me sufficiently happy for the day, otherwise the memories would not be so pleasant. I have travelled many, many miles on life's broad highway since that distant day; my hopes, ambitions and ideals have taken a beating but still they persist, and with them too, a cherished thing is the belief that you can still grant my wishes—if only in part. Perhaps I have absorbed that philosophy that the good a man does lives after him, and that is why my thoughts turn to the future. The thoughts concern the boys of tomorrow, but coupled with these meditations are memories of the old men, and the ons we can learn from them.

MEMBERS of that great band of grizzled, kindly old men, most of them nearing 70, had a code of behaviour in hunting and fishing, that brooked no greed or selfishness. They never took more than needed, they always thought of tomorrow, they were ever to school youngsters in their way of life. My plea to you Santa in this letter is to make the young men of today, yes, even the middle-aged men listen to these old timers, and profit from their wisdom and experience.

I DOUBT if the old timers realized how much good they did, and are still doing. Actually each of this gallant band wears the clock of greatness, but it rests so lightly on their shoulders, they are unaware of its existence. Perhaps the best way to emphasize my point is to tell you of Joe Barrturn, the patriarch of Shelter Valley. He was Uncle Joe to everyone, a kindly old man who lived alone in a snug cabin on Hemlock Creek. No one knew his age, but they did know that four generations of boys had known and loved him, had fished and hunted with him, had sat by his stone fireplace in the cool of summer nights, and when the winter wind sighed and whistled round the eaves, listening to his stories. Years before he had been a Mounted Police, had travelled the prairies, and threaded his lonely way along the sled trails within the Arctic circle. He had seen the spot where the Fitzgerald party perished, knew the beauty of the aurora, had seen the great caribou herds, had hunted Polar foxes.

HE HAD STOOD atop Chilcoot Pass back in '98, and whispered words of encouragement to cheechakos who died in the mad rush over its snow-clad slopes. He had bared his head before many a rock cairn which marked the grave of a friend or an enemy. He had heard the thunder of Canada Geese taking off some northern lake, had stood in wonder as their myriad wings whistled the unforgettable melody of the migration. Ogilvie, LaNauze, Burwash and many others well known in history by their exploits, had felt the helping hand of this man, now grown old. Truly he had a wealth of memories, and he had too, that easy knack of recalling them in an interesting manner. As is so often the case, this man's material wealth dwindled with each passing year. But nevertheless his needs were few, and he knew no poverty. But this year, Christmas came, and he wasn't strong enough to make hand sleds, or knife sheaths, or bows and arrows. It distressed him, because he had so many boys to remember, and send little gifts to at Christmas.

+ + + + + + AND SO IT HAPPENED that a week before Christmas his thoughts were somewhat bitter. One evening, Bill Marshuff came in, and Uncle Joe happened to mention his disappointment, in sort of apology. Now Bill was 30, and it seemed he could rember Uncle Joe for at least 26 years. After their pipes were going, and he had arranged the stool so that Joe's bad leg would be more comfortable, Bill started to talk. "You know, Uncle Joe, you are the richest man in the valley. In fact you are Santa Claus, but you don't know it. You have gone through life doing good for people, without actually realizing the wonderful contribution you were making. You want to give Tommy Smith, a present, why, you have given him the greatest present any man could give. You showed him where the black bass lurk, taught him how to catch them, but above all, you practised conservation down through the years and so Tommy Smith now enjoys good

"YOU ARE PROBABLY THINKING of Hec. Sullivan who likes duck shooting so well. You taught him how to use a gun, where to find the ducks, but far more important, you never shot more than you needed, so now Hec and all his buddies can enjoy good duck shooting too. And then there's Billy Jones, he's getting married soon. you like him too, but did you ever stop to think of the Christmas gift you have already given him. I'll bet you didn't? Well, you never took more than one deer, did you now, and what do we find, the charles River, ranged themselv- M in the Huron alphabet the deer are still plentiful. We can take in Whitey White in the list, es along the badly-chinked walls. figure 8 is used). he used to poach muskrats out of season—to get food for his family, he said-You showed him the error of his ways, by having him trap in the chancel. in season and always leave some muskrat houses untouched, so that now. And the Indian family back in the bush aways, you are worrying about them too, I suppose. There's lots of mink still left be cause you showed that renegade he was stealing from himself when

+ + + + + + WE MIGHT AS WELL go right down the line, Uncle Joe, just to set you straight in your thinking. Farmer Keys had a grand crop this year and he can thank you. You were the one who went to the school down at the crossroads and gave the kids a talk on how the bluebirds and the other insect eaters were a boon to the farmer, and brought wealth to a community. Keys because you recognized your responsibility and corrected an evil.

Yes, and how about the Carvers, those with fall. and how about the Carvers, those rich folk across the valley.
think a lot of their youngster, Joey. You taught him to handle a shotgun, after his old man had given up in disgust, because you were patient, and kindly, and-don't forget, Joey wouldn't even know what a partridge looked like except in pictures, if you hadn't been content with a legal bag. No, sir Uncle Joe, you're all mixed up in your thinking, maybe its that bum leg, because you usually don't get to pitying yourself like

OH, YES, I almost forgot one of the most important items. How out that trout stream, the only one in this district. You raised the when they were going to drain that cedar and tamarack swamp that feeds the stream, and won your point. And how many of the kids growing up today can thank you for the abundance of speckles in the stream. We never heard of you taking an undersize trout, did we, and didn't you show us the kind of tackle and bait to use? Didn't you teach us that the trout should not be disturbed when per arrives, because then they are full of spawn, and ready start laying eggs on the gravel and sand beds. Remember, Uncle Joe, it's not so long ago that you fought the bush fire in Tom Burley's slash and stopped a fire that would have wiped out the valley. What would we have done for Christmas trees if that had gotten away. No, sir you have been giving us Christmas presents or years, Christmas gifts that are renewed year after year, so just mber that". And so they sat, the old timer and the young man in silent communion of sentiment.

THAT SANTA is the story that illustrates my plea. Make the younger generation, listen to these old-timers, heed their words,

One Christmas Eve, more than three hundred years ago in Old Quebec's log parish church, three Huronia, a complete devastation musicians were preparing for the carol service. By the light of four candles spluttering in iron brackets, they leafed through their sheets of music. The warmth from two glowing fire kettles, requesitioned from the Governor's warehouse, had finally brought suppleness to their stiff fingers.

While Tweed goes to Stirling, Campbellford to Marmera,

Norwood at Frankford, and Madoe at Hastings. Three new rinks in this large and lusty league. Everything points to a banner season around the district. Reports are that most squads have bolstered for the puck grind opening right after New Year's and running till Feb. 16, followed then by playoffs. All teams play three times a week, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Likely large crowds again will be on deck

Puck referees should be up on their rules, neat in appearance, quite definite in their decisions and see that: All games start prompt ly on time; all minor officials are prepared to carry out their duties; goal lights and nets are in proper order; ice is marked right; benches are provided for each team and also for penalized players, timers and official scorer; only players in uniform, coaches, managers and train-the lineups and these are shown the referee before the game; the ofassists, if any, are credited; rink managers place police at the play-no attention, just calls everything as he sees it and promptly without fear or favor. The OHA usually supplies good competent officials, and competing clubs never know what referees they are getting on a game night till just before the teams take to the ice. The referees

Our senior "B" setup is a rather odd one this year, with eight teams—half of them intermediate "A" clubs—inter-locking to some extent in the schedule. Actually, the only teams to be seen here ere playoffs will be Toronto Meteors, Legion, Petes, Stouffville and Markham. Latter two, along with Bobcaygeon and Lindsay, are of intermediate "A" calibre, while Toronto Bells (senior "B") won't travel this far.

But all eight interlock to some extent. Schedule will be published within a few days. Our OHA season opens Jan. 3 with a junior "B" game here, while Legion opens at home

"Fords Out Front on Night Before Christmas"

Twas the night before Christmas - the children were dreaming Of a Ford in their future - smart, swanky and gleaming And Mother and I gaily grinned for we knew That this wonderful dream was about to come true. Then out in the driveway wheels crunched on the snow And the Ford dealer gave us a cheery "Hello". He wasn't the Santa Claus type,-he appeared Without any reindeer, a pack or a beard. But when he drove up in that elegant bus You bet he was Santa, in person to us. "Merry Christmas," he said, with a smile that was pleasant. "The Ford in your future is now in your presence." Well, Mother was eager and I was agog So we took the new Ford for a nice little jog. A jog? It was more like a journey on wings, What sest in that motor! What ease in those springs! With Queen size in comfort, and King size in brakes, We laughed "Ford's out front with whatever it takes." So proud as a Princess and rich as a Lord, We glowed with our glory in having a Ford. And thought, "When the kids start their Christmas Day Hunt For presents, they'll find that a "FORD'S OUT FRONT!"

Greetings and best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

We were informed late last night that the curling rink will be closed all day Christmas.

We were in at the rink Thursday evening watching the prospective Tankard rinks playing the first round of a five game series, to determine what two rinks will represent our club in the Ontario Tankard games. Considering that most of the rinks had never played together before, the games were fair. There was some good curling and some not so good. However, there are four more

Toy Repairing Discontinued By Two Groups

Prosperous times seem to have temporarily eliminated the annual repairing of toys for the needy children of the city.

Until the second year of the recent war, the Fire Department was in charge of fixing toys, and the firemen, who often have some spare time on their hands, used to enjoy their work as Santa's helpers. But when toys became difficult to obtain later in the war the annual service was suspended.

Chief George Smith said that another contributing factor was the increased prosperity of Peterborough families brought on by the post-war boom. Because of this, he contended, there was less need for repairing second-hand form.

At one time the Firemen held an annual Penny Day. Citizens would contribute to a "penny line" that stretched along Charlotte to George and then down Simcoe and along Hunter. In this way sufficient funds were raised to finance the repairing. A far day also helped to fill the tag day also helped to fill the

Europe Enjoys Brightest Yule In Years

LONDON, Dec. 24.- (AP). Christmas throughout Europe to-day looked forward to a brighter Christmas than they have enjoy-ed in years—though generally a more expensive one.

The United Kingdom has the makings of a merrier Chistmas this year than last—for people who can afford it. Chickens, ducks and geese are more plentiful and the Food Ministry has authorized extra rations of some tightly-con-trolled foods.

For the first Yuletide in seven years Britons can get plenty of rum, brandy and gin at controlled prices ranging from $6.50 to $8.50 a bottle. Buyer resistance has forced some British toy shops to cut prices in half.

As a special treat, the Fuel Ministry has told Britons to use all the electricity they wish the next

Practical Value of Doctrine Harwood

Of Virgin Birth of Christ

By REV. E. R. JAMES

Mary said: Behold the hand maid of the Lord. Be it unto me according unto Thy word.—

St. Luke 1:38.

This truth that Jesus Christ was born of the Virgin Mary is to be held fast by every Christian. It is the corner stone of the mystery of the birth of the second Adam; the Head of the New Race—THE NEW MAN. In contrast to the false gospels you will note the delicate language in which St. Luke, a medical man, tells the story of the re-entrance of God into this world through the Mary His Mother and that without spot of sin to make us clean from all sin."

What is the practical value of this doctrine of the Virgin birth of the Lord Jesus? It means that Jesus is God. Christianity stakes all on the Divine nature of the Lord. Many accept this in humble, child like faith. Yet it is necessary to emphasize this truth. story of the re-entrance of God into this world through the agency of a Hebrew maiden. A Jewish village girl becomes conscious of a spiritual visitor. He opens with words of courtesy: "Hail, thou that are highly favored of the Lord. The Lord is with thee. Blessed are thou among women". Then followed the important message, "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee and the power of the Highest shall ever shadow thee. Therefor that Holy shadow thee. Therefor that Holy would pierce her own soul.

In due time the Lord Jesus was born in Bethlehem, the house of bread. It symbolizes that He is indeed to be the Bread of God which came down from heaven.

This writer's Christmas greeting is that:

THE HOLY GHOST MAY OVER SHADOW YOU AND THAT CHRIST MAY BE

upon you an enter into your very soul and you will become parshadow thee. Therefor that Holy soul and you will become partiaker of the Divine Nature. Slowly, silently you will become the holy Ghost will do in her the marvellous work and in due time the Son of God shall be born. But there is a primary question. Will she consent? God will not force Himself upon her. Angels are waiting for her answer. In a supreme act of self denial she gives herself to the carrying out of the Divine purpose. "Behold the hand maid of the Lord. Be it unto me according to Thy Word." She knew that the sword would pierce her own soul.

In due time the Lord Jesus in John you and enter into your very soul and you will become partiaker of the Divine Partiaker of the Divine Nature. Slowly, silently you will become impregnated with the will develope something of His partiace and other virtues in you. As a scholar of the Faith tells us "You will become a little Christ "The grace of a little Christ "The grace of a little Christ "The grace of Christ" will be taking hold of you. Through your own personal experience you will discover the fit unto me according to Thy Word." She knew that the sword would pierce her own soul.

In due time the Lord Jesus

CHRISTMAS CHEER FOR VETS—Special turkey dinners are being prepared for the hundreds of Canada's war veteranas who will spend Christmas in hospital this year. Typical of Yuletide activities across the country is the scene above where chef Jim Garrick prepares the big bird ior patients at the Veterans' Health and Occupational Centre, Billings Bridge, suburban Ottawa. Wilfred Deschamps, Left, Carleton, Ont., armored corps vet, pulls at a leg of the turkey as S. tSaples, Right, Ottawa RCAF vet, looks on.

Christmas is the time of year when home—and the things that home implies—are closest. For most it is the time above all times when the members of each family do their best to gather around some common meeting place to share the holiday. And, it is a time of sharpest loneliness for those to

There is a group of people in Peterborough for whom this December 25th will be a day for memories, perhaps more keenly than others can ever understand. They are the DP's who arrived in Canada during the year from European countries This will be the first Christmas for the or Canadian sail Canadian

Children of the employees of Canada Packers, Limited, had the Capitol Theatre to themselves today for a Santa Claus party.

The program opened at nine o'clock with an hour of movie shorts that were celected for children. Then Santa Claus took charge. He had a generously filled stocking for every CPC boy and girl up to the age of fourteen, and it was understood that considerable attention had been given to the choosing of gifts for the pleasure of the young people.

The children were accompanied by their mothers, but a few of the men on the staff, including Mr. G. S. Matthews, general manager, were present, although the plant was working until noon. The Capital was comfortably filled with the CPC youth who quite evidently had a merry time.

Thursday evening when about 175 children, guests of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, greeted Santa Claus. Officials of the Order described it as a ecord attendance.

Each year a Christmas party s sponsored by the combined Peterborough and Otonabee Lodges for the children of mempers. Also present were boys and girls from the Children's Shelter. Guests first of all sat down to a meal of sandwiches, cookies, cake and ice cream—enough to satisfy the hungriest child-prepared by the Rebekahs under the supervision of Mrs. Robert Hendry. Stage entertainment followed Tom King brought rounds of applause by his clever playing of the harmonica. Mrs. W. Rayner proved equally popular by play-ing several numbers on the ac-

Three eating places which have ahnounced their intention of closing all day Saturday are the Churchill, the Hollywood and the public dining room of the King George Hotel. One hotel which will serve lunch, and dinner to the public, has reserved every table. Another is allowing no advance reservations. Inspecor E. V. McNeill, commanding officer of No. 8 District Headquarters of the Provincial Police here, said that his reports indicate hazardous driving conditions in many sections. This will call for extreme care in driving. The Christmas crowds on the roads are another factor he said. In the city, Chief Constable John Thompson gave a similar warning to drivers.

"There's nothing special to tell the driving public," he told The Examiner.
"The same common-sense rules

Since earliest days, the bringing of evergreens indoors at Christmastime has been one of the first ways of giving the home a festive air. It has its roots in the profound reverence of the ancients for all natural

The Christmas tree, to the Canadian. conjures to mind everything that is most precious to him . . . his home, hearth, kin and friends. Yes, Christmas means the tree, the open fireplace . . . the gay laughter of scomings . . . the scampering of holiday-excited children and tinsel . . . oh yes, and turkey and plum pudding and tables groaningly laden with food . . . mysterious brightly wrapped parcels. No other symbol evokes such peace of mind ... so warms the heart as the sight of a gaily lighted, festooned tree, sil-houetted in the window of a Canadian

TRIBUTE FROM HOLLAND-Walter B. Herbert, president, and Mrs. Margaret Cameron, secretary, of the Canada Foundation, study the medal presented to the Foundation for fostering improved relations between Canada and the little town of Winschote, The Netherlands. The story started when Canadian troops, billeted in Holland after the war, helped clean up the rubble in the war-torn town. Grateful Winschoteners decided on a friendship-with-Canada program, focussed particularly in the schools. The medal is named after Maj. Lloyd Brooks of Prince Albert, Sask., who commanded the Canadians.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

The Mysterious Joy of Christmas that still lingers in the hearts of men despite all the turmoil in the world, causes us to pause and consider our friends and all the things that are fine and good in this old world of ours. Now that we are nearing the close of another year we think of our customers with whom it has been a real pleasure doing business. We hope we have served you well in the past and hope to do better in the future. We wish it were possible to gather you around one huge fireside to extend our greetings and thanks. In all sincerity, in the Spirit of the Season we wish you, one and all,

CHRISTMAS PRESENT-These civil servants in the Veterans' Department at Ottawa are pleased as punch at the announcement of new salary increases ranging from $10 to $20 a month. The Christmas-present raise won't show in their pay envelopes until January but the girls could be a little freer in their shopping. Left to Right are Gwen Cain, Vivien O'Reilly, Julie Buisson and Agnes Poole.

WAS the night before Christmas, when all through the house Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse; The stockings were hung by the chimney with

The stockings were hung by the chimney with care.

In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there:
The children were nestled all anug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads.
And mamma in her kerchief and I in my cap
Had settled our brains for a long winter's nap —
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter.
I sprang from my bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash.
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash,
The moon on the breast of the new-failen snow,
Gave a lustre of midday to objects below:
When what to my wondering eyes should appear,
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer.
With a little old driver so lively and quick
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick!
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled and shouted and called them by name!
"Now, Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet, on, Cupid! on, Donder and Blitzen!
To the top of the porch, to the top of the wall!
Now dash away, dash away, dash away all!"
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle mount to the sky,
So up to the housetop the coursers they flew,

With a sleigh full of toys — and St. Nicholas, toe
And then in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each little hoof.
As I drew in my head and was turning around
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soo
A bundle of toys he had flung on his back,
And he looked like a nedlar just opening his pack. And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and sood A bundle of toys he had flung on his back. And he looked like a pedlar just opening his pack. His eyes how they twinkled, his dimples how merry; His cheeks were like roses, his nose like a chergy; His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow. And the beard on his chin was as white as the snow. The stump of a pipe, he held tight in his teeth, And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath. He had a broad face and a little round belly That shook when he laughed like a bowl full of jelly, He was chubby and plump — a right jolly old elf; And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself, A wink in his eye and a twist of his head. Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread. He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work And filled all the stockings; then turned with a jerk. And giving a nod up the chinney he rose. He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle, And away they all flew like the down of a thistle; But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight "Happy Christmas to all and to all a good-night!"

PUP CONSOLES TWINS-A few hours before A. F. Margerison, of Gravenhurst, Ont., dropped dead in a Toronto store on Monday he bought this six-week-old wirehaired terrier for his twin 12-year-old sons, Dave and Charlie. Then the pup was returned to its owner because funds were low in the Margerison family. But a friend stepped in with a $25 gift to the boys and a Christmas bound to be sad was made a little brighter.

Ugly Duckling Should Try Talents, Beauty Substitute

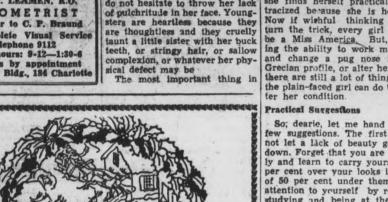

ROY V. LEAMEN, R.O. OPTOMETRIST or to C. P. Braune Complete Visual Service Telephone 9112 Office hours: 9-12—1:30-6 DEAR MISS DIX: I am a very unhappy teen-ager. I am a homely girl and am tired of being tormented about my looks. My feelings have been hurt so many times that I sel-

ANSWER: I doubt if any martyr who was burned at the stake ever suffered a greater agony than the girl who is an ugly duckling, and who has to endure the jibes of her comrades who do not hesitate to throw her lack of pulchritude in her face. Youngsters are heartless because they are thoughtless and they cruelly taunt a little sister with her buck teeth, or stringy hair, or sailow complexion, or whatever her phy-

She would gladly swap her hopes of Heaven to be voted the Class Beauty, and she goes through the sufferings of the damned when she finds herself practically ostracized because she is homely. Now if wienful thinking would turn the trick, every girl would be a Miss America. But, lacking the ability to work miracles and change a pug nose into a Grecian profile, or alter her skin, there are still a lot of things that the plain-faced girl can do to better her condition. To Moisten Chefs Pudding

So, dearie, let me hand you a few suggestions. The first is do not let a lack of beauty get you down. Forget that you are ho ly and learn to carry yourself 90 per cent over your looks instead of 50 per cent under them. Call attention to yourself by reading studying and being at the head of your class. Nobedy will criticize you if you have medals on your breast.

Cultivate a good line. Make yourself so entertaining and amusing and be such jolly good company that people will leave a Dumb Dora sitting on the anxious seat, while they flock about you like bees around a honey-pot. And always be well dressed. There are very few people who ever distinguish between a woman and her clothes.

And don't forget this: A woman's attractions are not confined to her face. They are in her in-telligence, her kindness, her sweetness, her loyableness—else there wouldn't be so many married women.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am an unmarried woman in my middle forties. For the last two years
I have been engaged to a man several years my senior, who is deeply in love with me and anxious to marry me. I earn my own living, make a good salary, have my own apartment, but if I marry this man I will have to give up my work and move to another city to live.

This Swiss culinary artist has been turning out the wherewithal for Christmas repasts on a similar scale for the past 20 years and should know all about it. In addition to the 3.000 pounds of pudding, he also makes 300 pounds of regular Christmas cake and 120 pounds of special chocolate cake that's made in the shape of an old Yule log. This comes complete even to jutting branches and gnarled bark.

Plum puddings are his special baby. As well as the contents of a good-sized wine cellar, beer, Adolfe states, is the best kind of moistening it is possible to put in a Christmas pudding, but he pours in a few bottles of other stuff just for the principle of the thing. His recipe has been concocted after European countries in which he worked before coming to Canada. It calls for some four bushels of chopped apples, 180 pounds of flour, 300 pounds of brown sugar, 300 pounds of breadcrumbs, 200 pounds of mixed peel, 100 pounds of almonds, and, oh yes, 400

No cooking is done on Christmas day. Only special guests—such as bachelors who are close friends and have no family groups of their own—share in the actual day with the family.

A day for rejoicing, there are all forms of the cup of conviviality—beer, wine, whiskey, liqueurs, cognac. And a special Luithuanian treat: apple wine: 3 or four years old, tingling sharp, "clear as a bell."

The day following, says Miss Laugaliene, is the day devoted to visiting. The greetings of the season spread from the intimate family groups through the whole interlocking circle of friends and neighbors.

North of course had opened with a third-hand psychic whenhe started all the trouble with his 1-Diamond. He virtually showed himself up when he refused to stand for the double of 2-No Trumps. East therefore knew that his partner would be sure to take some action over the 3-Spades. He therefore passed acoundly, of course a forcing pass.

The defenders set the 3-Spades three tricks doubled, for a top score in the tournament where the shuffle produced this deal. At other tables, the contract ranged from 3-Hearts to 4-Hearts, the latter being set and the former of course not producing anything like the 500 points this East-West pair scored.

RALEIGH, NC, Dec. 24 (AP)—
Whatever the cause — jangled nerves, women smoking, prosperity—more people are smoking more eigarettes in the United States.

This spells continued prosperity for most of the tobacco industry—both the farmer who grows the weed and the manufacturer who converts it into cigarettes, cigars, pipe tobacco, snuff and chewing tobacco.

450,000,000 pounds in 1948, but still were ahead of the 1934-1938 average.

The big carry-over last winter caused the Secretary of Agriculture to order a 27.5 per cent reduction in acreage for the 1948 flue-cured crop. About two-thirds of the United States total tobacco production is flue-cured.

Tobacco prices are protected—and will be again in 1949—by a government guarantee to loan 90 per cent of the parity price. For flue-cured tobacco, this support

The United States Treasury, 39 States and 30 municipalities also share through taxes in revenues produced by tobacco. The Federal Government collected a total of $1,300,280,000 on tobacco products in the fiscal year ending June 30, of which $1,208,204,000 was from a $3.50-a-1,000 levy on cigarettes.

000 was from a $3.50-a-1,000 levy on cigarettes.

The cigarette manufacturers, the United States Department of Agriculture reported, turned out approximately 385,000,000,000 cigarettes this year, a record production which exceeds 1947 by 15,000,000,000 and is more than touble the highest pre-war year.

Manufacturers of other tobacco products, for the most part, remained on a fairly even keel.

№ $650,000 Fires In Montreal Over Weekend

MONTREAL Dec 27—(OP)—
Montreal was plagued by five major blazes and numerous minorfires which caused damage expected to run well over $650.000 during the Christmar week-end.
No fatalities due to fire were renorted

Most disastrous was a three-alarm outbreak at shed No. 16 on Victoria wharf Christmas eve. Huge shipments of merchandise and 40 trucks were destroyed. Another 40 trucks of 180 parked in the shed were heavily damag-ed by smoke and water.

Work of the firefighters was made difficult by a thick fog which hung over the St. Lawrence river, freezing weather and brisk winds. Damage was set at $500,000. The Vienna Grill on St. Cath-rin Street East was damaged to an extent of $15,000 at 4 a.m.

Sunday.

Less than five hours later firefighters of the same station were called to fight an outbreak at the Chanteclerc Cafe on Notre Dame Street East. Damage was estimated at about $5,000.

Shortly after noon a two-alarm fire razed a two-storey structure in Verdun causing damage believed to be more than $106,000. One fireman was overcome by smoke and required hospital treatment. At 1 p.m. the house of Williams Stevenson in Senneville near the western tip Montreal Island was razed. Fire remained uncontrolled for the better part of the day. Damage was placed at about $20,-

PORT HOPE, Dec. 27—Town council has decided to take action against a firm of contracting enstalled a faulty sewer on Trefusis

The 250-ft. sewer is reported to be filled with hard sand some four or five inches thick.

Deputy reeve E. B. Lingard pointed out to council that there was a $3,000 hold-back on the job which would not be paid to the company until repairs had been done. The trouble was believed to be caused through lack of proper precautions by the contractors when installing the sewer winter weather last year.

Investigation Of Bread-Baking In The West

Mr. Carl Goldenberg, special Commissioner investigating an alleged combine in the bread-baking industry in the three most westerly provinces, has made a report. In his opinion and after taking and studying evidence over many months, seven large chain bakeries "hold the dominant position in the industry. The structure of the prices at each level has been established by agreement or common understanding....The element of price competition has been removed in large measure from the distribution of bread whether sold by the bakery on a house-to-house delivery basis or by independent merchants through retail stores". In other words, he believes that the chain bakeries in the West have been fixing prices in violation of the law.

His disclosures recall the situation in Ontario a year ago when the breadbaking industry was censured in Parliament, at meetings of the price-spreads special Committee, and in the press. The public outcry and the possibility of court action being taken against the baking industry had one rather direct result. The price of bread dropped, and now we can, if we wish, buy ten-cent loaves almost everywhere. Mr. Goldenberg's report on the western alleged combine has been submitted to the Attorneys-General of B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan, who may prosecute the companies. Judging from our experience in Ontario, it does no harm to keep a wary eye on distributing methods and prices in industries supplying basic foods.

Free British Health Service

The National Health Service in Britain ias been operating since the summer. The majority of Britons seem to like it, the majority of British doctors do not. Their discontent is reflected in the pages of the Journal of the British Medical Association. Here is a paragraph from recent issue of the Journal:

The situation is still too confused to give anything like a clear picture of what is happening, but perhaps the most note-worthy fact is the eagerness with which the public has sought to take advantage of a service which, in effect, guarantees the supply, free of direct charge, of everything from wings to iron lungs. There has been an overwhelming demand for spectacles and dentures, and a run on the chemist shops so fast at times as almost to exhaust the supplies of certain pharmaceutical products. Presumably in time the novelty will wear off and the demand for such things as spectacles will decrease as the numbers of those apparently needing them diminish. This rush of the public for remedies and appliances has put an acute strain upon the medical profession, especially those in general practice. Evidence comes in from all over the country that doctors' surgeries are crowded out, and the doctors themselves deplore that this heavy pressure of work has made it at times impossible for them to give their patients adequate care and attention. If the demand for the doctor's time continues at the present level we can foresee that in the event of an epidemic in the winter the life of the general practitioner in particular will become intoler-

The British Medical Journal is not satisfied, either, with the monetary rewards doctors are receiving for their labours, although it admits that general practitioners in industrial areas will not be earning less than they did before July. They are having to work harder for it. The decline in private practice, specialist and general, has been much sharper than the profession expected. The Journal consoles its readers by remarking that this fall is "probably a reflection of the hard economic times in which we live". It may also indicate that people who formerly paid full fees to private practitioners are satisfied with the new service.

Undoubtedly in a health scheme so vast, there are imperfections and that in its first years there will be injustices and hardships. It is not a "free" service, of course, for it is financed out of taxes and monthly contributions exacted from the people. For the first three months of the Service, the national bill for eyetesting was £981,951; for drugs. £1,905,447; and for dentists (including dentures) £1,232,057.

Damage By Fire

Examining some statistics which have recently come to hand concerning fire osses in Canada in 1947 we are surprised to discover that several cities of Peterborough's size have suffered loss roughly comparable with our own. This is odd, for we think of fire as something which occurs by chance; the existence of a rough average loss suggests that there is less chance in the incidence of fire than might be supposed.

Peterborough's loss in 1947 was $314,-049, or $9.70 per capita. In St. Catharines loss was $342,138; in Kingston it was MUHAMMADAN wedding, which she describes in Artist In Unknown India, was the climax of all Marguerite Milward's vivid impressions of Hyderabad. The wedding had been going on for days, and was on its last day, when Miss Milward and her hostess looked in on his usual spectacle.

"We were received in the Zenana quarters (the author goes on to say), while H.E.H. the Nizam and his daughters, who drove up at SIGNS the same moment as we did, were entertained in the main building. Inside the central room was a gorgeously draped red and gold bed, with the bride weeping all alone in the middle of it. She looked such a pathetic crumpled up little bundle, robed in red and gold to match and many draperies to hide under We went up to greet her, but it was difficult to find head or hand as the poor girl was bowed down and stricken with grief. She had never once seen the man she was about to marry at six o'clock that evening. It seemed incongruous to see all this feasting and congratutations with the 'happy' bride weeping in the midst. Was she really inconsolmarried in the same way and lived happily ever after, and sne had longed for this day all her life without doubt. But tradition says the bride must appear an unwilling victim

IT will be well worth the while of anyone planning to visit Mexico in the near future to browse through Mackinley Helm's Journeying Through Mexico, which incidentally, is beautifully decorated by William C. Eastler. Here is some important advice for a visit to Mexico City, the capital, a must for every traveller:

"When you reach your hotel, you would do well to eat a light supper and go to bed early. For most people, the first night in the capital is critical. If the altitude of 7,415 feet means to get you, it will coax you into eating and drinking and leave you bloated and dizzy: You can fool it only by playing the Spartar that evening. In fact, doctors say that if the newcomer would spend the first day in bed, quietly occupied in getting used to the altiude, he would have a much happier time when he starts out sight-seeing. Since most travellers are not actually willing to wait twenty-four hours to get out on the streets of the City of Palaces, one can recommend only to the average impatience, a leisurely start on the morning, which follows arrival and an uncrowded day in which a general view may be taken.'

Can Ottawa Expropriate Hull?

What was due to happen has happened: M. Maurice Duplessis, premier of Quebec, con-tests the federal government's right to expropriate land in Quebec near Ottawa in order to carry out the Greber plan. The federal authorities are astonished at Mr. Duplessis' attitude. We do not understand that astonishment. ably about. Even three google-eyed halfdead fish proudly displayed by an angler are enough to turn our stomach. However, we do not have to look at the herring catch, nor do we expect that Canadians have to eat all the 300,000,000 Yarmouth herrings, and the other millions caught elsewhere down in those salty regions. Indeed, we should congratulate Nova Scotia and its fishermen on the large catch, on behalf of the people of Europe who need food. We must admit, too, that a couple of herrings on our Sunday morning breakfast plate, decently disguised as kippers, are quite to our liking. A kipper is a pleaantly domestic sort of thing and does not have the unnatural appearance of a live herring. As a pig acquires respectability when it is pork, so a herring is civilized when it is a kipper.

From a philosophic point of view we are disturbed by the 300,000,000 herrings a month. How long will the Atlantic offer up that many fish? Is the gold of the sea being too rapidly depleted, the herrings that lay the eggs being gluttonously killed off? Perhaps the Nova Scotian fishermen have never heard the dire prophecies of men like William Vogt whose book Road To Survival is agitating many thoughtful persons now. His thesis is that the people of the world are eating themselves off the planet—using up its water, its food, its minerals, its soil, at such a rate that that they would have ruptured coalfifty years hence everybody will have the living standard of coolies. Which brings us to the sad experience of another musician, Hugo Wolf, at The boy who had failed schools because he was interested in nothing but music, was now expelled from the Conservatoire of Music, at Vienna, "for a breach of discipline." It seems that the hoax in question—a pretended threat to murder the principal! — was actually perpetrated by someone else but young Wolf's independence and fiery temper had earned him the reputation of being capable of anything and the blame was fastened on him. His father was crushed by this fresh disgrace, Hugo was enraged, his kind aunt gave him money for board and lodging. That was hardly enough because of an insatiable appetite for books. He read foreign books as well as his native German—including Mark Twain, Scott and Dickens. We hear of his turning a friend out of bed at six in the morning to hear an episode from Pickwick. Words and phrases exercised enormous potency on his mind; and it is said that, fascinated by the word "usequebaugh" in Rob Roy, he could not rest un-til he had tasted some.

Busy Preparing For Opening Of Parliament

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Dec. 27 (CP)—Officials in a dozen government departments will begin making concrete preparations this week for the opening of parliament Wednesday, January 26. Some steps for the opening al-ready have been taken but, with the actual date unknown, they necessarily were of a preliminary nature. However, Prime Minister St. Laurent's announcement on Thursday that the House will open Jan. 26 was the signal for bustle of activity.

For the man on the street, this fifth—and probably last—session of the 20th parliament—will have at least one cheerful aspect. With a general election in the offing some say it may come in June or October—the government is cer-tain to introduce healthy cuts in taxation, both in personal income taxes and many of the indirect levies.

The cost of living will rank high in the topics of debate and the opposition parties can be expected ato belabor the government for its alleged failure to cope with this problem. # Detroit Still Leads League After Losing, Winning One

By BERT ALLEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Detroit Red Wings salvaged a split in their two week-end games and emerged from the battling still atop the National Hockey League roost after relinquishing the top spot for one night.

The Wings weren't in the mood to hand out any late Christmas presents Sunday night when they handed Montreal Canadiens their second getback in two nights by beating the Habitants 3-1 in the motor city. Saturday Detroit dropped into second place temporarily by losing a 2-1 decision at Toronto.

Other week-end clashes saw New York's unbeaten streak halted at six games when they lost of the Canadian City Saturday, while Boston earned their brief fling in first place via a 2-1 verdict over Chicago in the Hub Saturday.

Sugar Jim Henry played brilliatily to hold off all Ranger thrusts until 15.50 of the last session when rookle Mickowski finally scored.

Chuck Rayner hung up his third shutout of the campaign in Montreal Saturday when New York outplayed Canadiens by a comfortable margin for their 2-0 triumph.

More significant perhaps than the results is the mounting injury list which has hit every team in the league at some time this season. And in almost each case the puayers sidelined have been the property of the manufacture of the manuf top-liners.

Shoulder Injury

The injury bug hit Boston Saturday when Eddie Sandford, their star sophomore centre, suffered a slight shoulder separation when banged into the boards by Chicago's Doug McCaig. Sandford will be out for at least a week, Bruin officials said.

* * * * * * Next week, our headquarters are moved, to a large extent, to the Civic Arena, fwo blocks south of the CGE. Three OHA games there and a lot of other OHA-ers fanning out from there o'er a fairly large area. Plus minor melees down that way and skating. Action aplenty for some three months coming up, depending on the weather. The recent cold anap fixed the natural ice up good. Rink is complete and will be a busy spot for some time to come. Back before this writer was born, they opened our last covered rink—the Breck and now another one is about to be unveiled for hockey fans here. And not before time, eh?

* * * Starting Next Week

Next week sees the juntor "B" Oddfellows open it up Monday m., with Legion and the Petes opening their senior "B" schedule here Wednesday and Friday nights. PMHA-ers have it Tuesday and Thursday eves, with Saturday set aside for skating. As mentioned the other day, our senior "B" grouping is an odd one. Actually, fans here can figure it's a five-club setup of Legion, Petes and Toronto Meteors (all senior "B") in an interlocking schedule with two intermediate "A" teams. Stouffville and Markham. The other three entries, Toronto Bells, Lindsay and 'Caygeon, don't play here.

Yeah, an eight-team group but only five play in this city. Toront Bells refused to travel further than Lindsay, owing to the cost, while Lindsay and 'Caygeon felt they were out of their class against senior "B" opposition. Stouffville and Markham were willing to travel to Peterborough, and so were Meteors (who make Lindsay home ice). The other two, of course, reside here. Various clubs will interlock their schedule one way or another, but our interest is in the five-club setup performing in and out of our town. If Markham and Stouffville come up with strong squads, it's a good grouping and folks will see plenty of puck action. We'll have hockey at home, anyway.

Red Predicts Surprise

Coach Red Creighton of the Petes-the battling redhead is satisfied with the group and the rink here. Says the arena is a lot better inside than you'd expect from its exterior. And he's pleased that the Petes will meet Legion half a dozen times ere a possible playoff meeting. Creighton reckons some folk are underestimating the Petes and that they'll be surprised when the men o' McGillis swing into action. They're bolstering all the time and this year will have some first-class veterans balancing out a young, scrappy squad. Plus a couple of newcomers. Red also feels sure Ron Horton will be out from now on. They drill Wednesday and Thursday nights from six to eight at the Sacred Heart rink.

MARMORA, Dec. 24—(ENS)—Parents of the schelars of Marmora Public School and members of the Marmora Home and School Association for the second successive year were guests of the teaching staff and scholars of the school at the annual Christmas entertainment held in the Town Hall last Tuesday evening. Principal E. C. Prentiee who was chairman pointed out that the chairman, pointed out that the program could not be thrown open to the public due to the large enrolment of 167 scholars. Opening with Christmas carols by the school numbers were given by the various grades. The playlets, drills and vocal numbers revealed fine memoriz-ing effort on the part of the ju-veniles. The enactment of vari-ous nursery thymes was mirth provoking and the large audience ranked the entertainment with

The long string of coaches, with the party were about a half a dozen men who are well into their one of the biggest holiday passenger crowds out of Toronto many years, was too heavy a load for the hill near Claremont.

The local was only ten minutes behind schedule through Agin-court. Then it disappeared in the general direction of Peterbor-ough. The weather created greasy rail conditions, and that unusual physical condition, combined with the weight of coaches, finally forced the crew to split the train. It made the Dagmar grade in two sections. This delay was described as unavoidable.

Meanwhile, it was reported, the station here during its struggle with the slippery and sloping rails east of Claremont. It disappeared into the night after only for a day or a week, but throughout the entire span of a

All aspirations that aim at assistance to people in unfortunate circumstances at any time, and at any place, are worthy of fulfilment. Specially is this so, when they are linked with the blesse spirit of Christmas, because they give expression to all that the yearly celebrations of this great festival means in the lives of all Christian people.

One is able to recall that in this respect, the people of this city and district have always demon-strated their thought for others re unfortunately situated than

The culmination of the days leading up to the Christmas Day of 1948 asaw no exception, and while a very late start was made by the local branch of the UEFB to gather funds for the purpose of sending food parcels to the people of the British Isles, the amount of $100 set as a shirt amount of $1,000 set as an objective to be raised by that day, saw its fulfilment by a nice margin over and above that amount. In this one could readily recognize in many cases, the help of those who had supported the British War Victims Fund in days gone

Such staunch supporters of that fund in the war days as Branch 32 of the Canadian Legion, now so the Canadian Legion, now known as the British Empire Service League, the Employees of the G. prying plumber, found one man's Christmas cheer in the city this Christmas morning. The citizen is one of those suf-fering under the handicap of a family which disapproves strongly of the cup that cheers, and, like his fellow-sufferers, he is forced to resort to devious hiding places for the precious crocks. Came the happy morning. The lady of the house discovered that the household's plumbing was, for some undiscernable reason, not in working order. A plumber was sum-moned from the bosom of his loving family to investigate. He found the trouble: the fruitof - the - grape - loving member of the family, the night before, had hidden a bottle in the shiny white cabinet in the bathroo which contains the working parts of a rather vital piece of the family plumbing.-R.B.

Jimmy Justin and Ben Wright were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment and released an hour later. The third man of the crew, John Cox, jumped clear when he saw the accident would take place. He was unhurt. Damage to the gas-driven jigger was extensive. PC Clare J. Mc-Gillen investigated.

Mrs. Roy Feeley of 533 Brioux Ave., was injured in an accident early Christmas morning on Edion Ave. The car, driven by her husband, went out of control, into the ditch and struck a tree. Mrs. Feeley had a cut hand and pos-sible chest injuries. Damage to the car was to the fender, headlight, bumper, grill and radiator. PC Allen Edmison investigated. J. Slight of 392 Dublin St. and

C. Garside, 499 Dixon St., were drivers of cars in an accident at 3 am. Christmas Day on Donegal St. Both cars had fender and bumper damage. The trunk of the Garside car was also dented and he axle, tie-rod and headlight Douglas J. Farthing investigated.

A hundred dollars' damage to the car of Roy Bulmer, Division St., Cobourg, was caused in a col-lision with the car of Fred Jones, 565 Douglas Ave., on Christmas Eve. There was no damage to Jones' car. PC V. J. D'Donaghue investigated. A bus and a parked car were in collision on Reid St., near Charlotte Street, about 8.30 Sun-day night. The bus, driven by Robert Thornton of 435 Mark St. swung sharply on the ice and struck the parked car of John Stinson of Painswick. There was no damage to the bus and about $50 damage to the car, with no injuries. PC V. J. O'Donaghue investigated. A tender-smashing collision be ween two cars on the Canal Rd. about 6 p.m. Christmas Day caused about $175 total damage. Drivers were Donald Andrews of Nor-Ave. Miss Muriel Martin, 1 Edgewater Blvd., one of several passengers in the Andrews car, received a slight injury on her nose. PC William G. Scott investigated.

Two Hit-Runs
Two hit-and-run accidents were reported to city police during the holiday.

The car of Robert A. Dutton of 502 Water St., was struck by an unidentified car as it was parked at that address. Damage was to its fender and rear light and tire. The accident happened sometime Christmas Eve.

Late in the morning of Dec. 24, a truck driven by Ruman Morta. of 324 King St. received about $15 damage when it was sideswiped by a car which did not stop. The by a car which did not stop. The truck had been parked on George

Strikes Pole
On the Wallace Point Rd., be fore midnight Christmas Eve, the car of K. Warman of 832 Lock St., received about $200 damage when it left the road for the ditch, struck and knocked down a telephone pole. The driver, who was alone in the car, was not injured. Investigating was Provincial Constable Cecil Chambers.

About $125 total damage was caused Saturday midnight in an accident a half-mile east of Cavan involving two cars and a truck. Garnet Whitfield of RR 1, Fraservi!', was the truck driver and the cars were driven by Armitage of Cavan and Orville Monerief, RR 1, Fraserville. The Armitage car was parked with motor trouble when the Whitfield truck, swinging to avoid striking it, was hit by Mon-crief's car, which was following. There were no injuries. Provincial Constable George Henderson investigated.

Cars of Orville Elliott, RR 3, Lakefield and George Emery, 485 Rogers St., were damaged in a collision at Hunter and Water Sts. on Christmas Eve, too. PC Andre Dalton, investigating officer, reported that damage to El-liott's car was to a fender and an axle was bent. The Emery car had damage to its radiator, fend-er, headlight, bumpers, windows and springs.

Slight damage to both cars was reported in an accident at 8 p.m. Christmas Day, investigated by PC Donald Mackay. Drivers were Oliver Wells, 634 George St. and W. F. Ballantyne, Water St. The accident, which caused about $30 total damage, happened on George St.
About 3.40 p.m. the same day.

400 Water Street, Peterborough, Ont.

A survey recently made by the Department of National Health and Welfare revealed the startling fact that 27 out of every 100 of our school children are definitely undernourished. An additional 23 of every 100 children revealed signs of probable malnutrition.

These are alarming conditions!

As the cost of food continues to soar, will these figures increase? The situation calls for serious thinking and action-

Hearty meals of abundant, bulky foods are no assurance of a well-nourished body. Proper nutrition calls for the right foods in the right amounts-daily.

If the strain on your table budget forces you to cut down on valuable protein food like meat, make sure that the food values they would have contributed are obtained by some other means. The daily need for PROTEIN, for example, can be supplied—at lower cost—by combining reduced quantities of expensive protein foods with milk.

For a very few pennies, you build up the protein in a meal by including milk-made dishes. At the same time, you provide other food essentials which milk supplies at relatively low cost.

Here's something worth remembering-the words of one of the foremost nutrition experts of our time: "I suggest that you begin your budget-making by setting aside money for a constant milk supply of a quart a day for every child in the family and at least a pint for every adult. And the less money you have to spend, the more, proportionately, you should spend for milk."

Remember this, too! Even if you are not forced to cut down on your buying of expensive foods, your children normally require 4 to 5 glasses daily. If you ARE forced to cut down their servings of certain other foods, keep them drinking milk. It's the cheapest food you can buy—comparative prices reveal the fact that milk has increased less than any other food group!

During 3½ years of occupation the Soviet Union has stamped its imprint on 20,000,000 Germans between the Elbe and Oder rivers.

Loyal pro-consuls of Moscow transformed the politics and econ-omy of this war-shattered land. Dressed up in a Teutonic accent and paying lip-service to nationalism, Communist dogma grips the population virtuelly from the cradle to the grave. Red objectives now are plain They include:

A noe-party state; a super-strong police force; liquidation of private enterprise: creation of kolokhoz (collective) farming; unswerving obedience to Russia in foreign affairs.

Time Table Different The cold war has dispelled much fog surrounding Russia's aims in Germany. The pattern is much the same as in other satel-lites in Eastern Europe. But the time-table is different.

Because of the attempt at fourpower control in Germany after the war, the Soviet occupation zone has lagged far behind Bul-garis, for example, in approaching Stalin's principles.

2-Year Terms In Toronto Faces Voters

TORONTO, Dec. 27 - (CP). -For the fourth time in eight years the question of a two-year term for City Council faces Toronto voters. They'll decide it Jan. 1— traditional civic election day in the Dominion's second-largest city.

Toronto voted down a two-year term for Council and the Board of Education in 1940, 1941 and 1947. If it's approved this time, there won't be another election 1951.

The issue is providing the biggest fight in a campaign marked also by Mayor Hiram E. Mc-Callum's first attempt to get elected Mayor. He led the poll for Board of Control last year and was appointed Mayor by City Council when Mayor Robert Saunders resigned to become chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

His sole opponent is Ross Dowon, a member of the Revolutionary Workers Party, a Trotskyite organization. He polled 15,423 votes last year when he was snowed under by Mr. Saunders. Nearly 400,000 persons are eligible to vote for the four-man Board of Control and the 18 al-dermen—two from each of the nine wards. Nine men have been nominated for Board of Control, while 45 persons seek the alder-been set exactly two tricks, to give East and West a score of only 300 points, much less than their game was worth.

During the post-mortem, one player said that, if he sat in the West chair, North could not have shut out his side by any measures. Being certain that his length in the three unbid suits would find a good match with East, he would have bid 2-Clubs over the 1-Club to let his partner know at once about the game probabilities, especially since his hand "sat over" the opening bidder. East said that, if West made that bid, not even a hop to 5-Clubs would have kept him from bidding 5-Hearts, which could have been taken out into spades if West did not fit the suit.

One player said that over the double by West, he would have bid only 2-Clubs as a mild impediment to the opposition. But then you will usually find one Caspar Milquetoast in almost every game.

Rev. Ivan C. Morgar officiating, Interment Little Lake Cemetery.

COX—In loving memory of my dear Uncle Ad, who passed away December 27, 1944.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance, Just a memory sad and true, Just the love and sweet devotion Of one who thinks of you.

—Ever remembered by your loving niece Dorean.

husband and father. Johnston Fallis who passed away eleven years ago today. December 27 1937.
"Though his smile has gone forever, And his hand we cannot touch Still we have so many memories Of one we loved so much. Though out of sigh he's ever near Still loved, still missed, still ours, He will live with us in memory Until the end of time."

From remembered, by his loving. Ever remembered by his loving wife and family.

KEMPT—In loving memory of Kempt, who passed away two ago, December 27, 1946. Nothing can ever take away. The love a heart holds dear. Fond memories linger every day Remembrance keeps him near. Ever remembered by his son Johns and daughter-in-law Susie.

TURNER — In loving memory of Charles William Turner, who was killed in action December 27, 1943 He is not dead who gave his life To make the world a better place. The memory of noble deeds The passing years cannot efface. -Ever remembered by mother, father

7-Cards of Thanks

THE SISTERS OF ST. VINCENT'S Orphanage wish to thank all the organizations and the many individuals who were so generous towards the children during the past year, and for those who made their Christmas a happy one.

The family of the late Fred Hickey wishes to thank all those who were in any way connected with the search for his body. We wish especially to thank the Cauadian General Electric Company and their men who did a really magnificent job We also wish to thank those who sent flowers, mass cards, etc. Your many lundnesses at this time have been much appreciated.

Taken from Wires of Canadian Press.

TORONTO- Just back from a nonth trip to Europe during which he studied interior decoration and design, Earl Wilson, in-structor at the Ontario College of Art, said "Every Canadian artist should beg, borrow or steal enough m.mey to visit Paris." He said the French Government is "most hospitable" to Canadian ar-tists.

PRESTON — Officials of the South Waterioo Hospital committee have announced plans for the 150-bed hospital, which will cost an estimated $2,061,000. Ratepayers of Galt, Hespeler and Preston will be asked to approve the venture, expected to cost three communities a total of $1,539,000. Government grants and donations.

BRUCE MINES— A new five-room school in this Northern On-ario town, will be opened this week. A nurses room and lunch rooms are included in the school, which cost $30,000. All debentures

NAPANEE- Their 71st wedding anniversary was celebrated on Christmas Day by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kimmerly, who will both be 92 in April. They were mar-ried in the vilage church in Cole-brook. Mr. Kimmerly, a storekeeper in Flinton village for 34 years, was later a farmer, and in 1935 established a lumber busi-

FORT ERIE—Police said Sunday $1,250 worth of watches and jewels, stolen Dec. 17 from the store of William A. Gibson, had been found in the room of John Arthur Smith of Fort Erie. Smith has been charged with the theft and is free on $1,000 bail.

There were still plenty of or-ders for better grades of lumber but as one producer said, "We can't cut just part of the tree." Lumbermen see a few bright spots. Shipments have slumped less than orders, meaning that while new orders are not being placed, old orders are not being cancelled. And for future, there has been renewed inquiry on January and February shipments at present prices.

Native Of Smith Dies In The West

is the leading United States League scorer with 47 points. Son of a pioneer family in the vicinity of Fowler's Corners, Frederick Deyell died Dec. 7 in the Alameda district of Sas-katchewan. He had been in fail-ing health with a heart ailment for several years. His condition grew worse last spring, and fin-ally for five weeks preceding his death he was confined to bed.

Mr. Deyell was born 75 years ago on the western boundary of Smith. The homestead was the second of two Deyell farms, south family had first occupied nearly a century ago. He was a son of Samuel Deyell and his wife Sarah Burgess. In 1898 Mr. Deyell left for the west, obtaining homestead in the Mayflower and Alameda until his death.

Mr. Deyell took a keen interest in farming and specialized in high grade horses. He was of a retir-ing nature, and did not seek public office other than as a school trustee. He leaves his wife, one daughter, and his son, Ralph, both Samuel Deyell of Omemee. The funeral service was held Dec. 12 at Brobisher United Church.

JACOB SIDDERS.

A former resident of Otonabee for half a century, Jacob Sidders, 84, died in Kingston hospital on Christmas Day following a short illness. He was born in Kent, England, and came to Canada at the age of 12 and was a well-known market gardner in Otonabee township. His wife, the former Mary Ann Little, predeceased him several years ago.

He leaves one son, Harry, Kingston, and was himself, the last surviving member of his family. He was a former member of the Anglican Church but in recent years in the city attended St. James United Church.

Lifford School Holds Concert

LIFFORD LINE, Dec. 27 (ENS)-Lifford School under the direction of the techer, Miss June Brown of Bethany held their Christmas Concert this week. The opening chorus was sung by the entire school. A Christmas tab-leau "In Bethlehem Town" was very effective with the audience joining in the Christmas carols. Recitations were given by Gerald Preston, Eleanor McGregor, Judy DeGeer, Janice Timms, Jimmy McGregor, Thomas Lowery, Bar-ry Staples, Joy DeGeer.

A dialogue "The Selling of Barbara" by Keith Sargison, Betty Preston, Ruth McKinley and Bet-Preston, Ruth McKinley and Betty Preston was very humorous. The smaller pupils of Grade 1 and 2 sang "I Saw Three Ships Come Salling" and "Marian and Her Donkey". Senior girls sang "The Toymaker's Dream". The dialogue "Dad's Quiet Evening at Here-act play Rum-pel-stilkskin, was much enjoyed. Home" by Edward DeGeer and Betty Preston, didn't quite turn out that way. Senior pupils gave a "Colour Drill" and the entire school a rhythm band selection. "The Minister's Call" was a dialogue by Audrey and Betty Pres-

The entire school sang "Here Comes Santa Claus" and Doris Timms and Garry DeGeer Joined in a "Goodnight" recitation just as Santa Claus made his appearance to distribute the gifts from the solution party and draw at the home of the pressurer. Mrs. Earl was chairman and a varied progressive and the pressurer. Mrs. Earl

The usual holiday toll of accidental death left a grim note of around 50 dead, including 16 fire victims.

The holiday started in many homes with the King's Christmas broadcast from London. Later churches were thronged for services of all denominations.

Today, the Boxing Day holiday is being more widely observed than ever before in Canada. It is a civic holiday in Halifax and most other Nova Scotia centres, and a provincial holiday in Prince Edward Island. Boxing Day is also a holiday in Saint John, Fredericton and Moneton, and in many

Says Some Leaders Very Anxious To Settle Differences

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 28 (AP) President Truman refused to-lay to elaborate on his surprise statement that "certain leaders" in Russia are "exceedingly anxious" to settle differences with the United States amicably.

Approaches by reporters at the end of his dally before-breakfast walk at his Independence home, the President declined to enlarge on his "off-the-cuff" luncheon revelation Monday.

"There has been a lot of specu lation about your statement con-cerning certain leaders in Russia," a reporter said. "Could you clarify?"

"You will just have to con-tinue to speculate," the President said.

Faye Roosevelt Slashes Wrist Sheriff Charges

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y., Dec. 28 (AP)—Faye Emerson Roosevelt, beautiful actress wife of Elliott Roosevelt, bore a slashed left wrist today, but how it happened was in dispute.

Sheriff C. Fred Close quoted Dr. H. Sherman Hirst, who treated the 31-year-old Mrs. Roose-velt early Sunday, as saying he understood the wound was self-inflicted and that she had to be restrained from injuring herself

In San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Roosevelt's mother, Mrs. Jean C. Young, said the actress accidentally cut herself "while hunting for aspirin in the bathroom.

After two telephone conversa-tions with Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Young quoted her daughter as saying she reached into a drawer "where there were some extra ra-zor blades. Faye said she didn't notice the blades and cut herself. That's all there was to it. She's quite all right now.'

Elliott Roosevelt said his wife's injury was the result of an acci-

Later Close said he had received word from Roosevelt's counsel that the son of the late President would appear.

The Roosevelts were married four years ago, he for the third time and she for the second.

A native of Elizabeth, La., Mrs. Roosevelt was reared in San Diego, Calif. She has appeared in a number of moving pictures and starred in the Broadway stage hit, "The Play's The Thing," until it closed Dec. 18.

Sidney Brown. Unless one of the four withdraws his name by 9 o'clock tonight there will be an election for Council n Smith.

Clarence Mann and Cecil Northey were acclaimed School Area Board members.

This coming year Reeve Harri-son will find his votes in the County Council carries twice as far as that of any other member. The reason for this is that there are now more than 2,000 eligible municipal electors in Smith, and according to the Municipal Act, this gives the Reeve two votes. As Smith also has Deputy-Reeve Tully in Council, it will give the ownship a total of three votes.

Mr. Harrison succeeded to the Smith reeveship when Gilbert McIlmoyle died last Spring, and Mr. Tully became Deputy Reeve. Mr. Tully became Deputy Councillor Clark is now trying for his third consecutive year in that post; Councillor Fitzgerald for his second, and Councillor Mann for his second after reaching the Council due to the death of Mr. McIlmoyle. Several Tax Boosts

It is not only Smith Township that has boosted its tax rate; explained Mr. Harrison; some of the neighboring ones are in a similar position. Quoting a long list of prices to prove his conten-tion, Mr. Harrison said that the market value of farm produce had reached a new high and that farmers should not be surprised if taxes also went higher.

In the last few years he claimed that the township had spent many thousands of dollars on new machinery, and the cost of snow plowing and fencing was "expen-sive, but a service that ratepayers must have these days.'

He said that one of the chief expenditures that was boosting taxes was education "When I was a trustee you could get a teacher for $600-$800; now its about three times that figure

Trying To Cut Costs Gordon Fitzgerald said he felt that taxes would have to go up out qualified his statement with the remark that council was doing its best to keep them down. Last year he said the rate was only increased about half a mill, but he warned that snow piowing, snow fencing and the upkeep of roads was a "great expense." "The county rate is up quite lot and that accounts for some of this raise," said Milton Clark. He also called the attention of the ratepayers to the heavy expenditures for teachers' pay, educattonal expenses generally, and for the sanding of roads.

County To Blame J. Sidney Brown agreed that the County was "mainly to blame the heavier taxes," but he said that he was not altogether atisfied with the efforts of the of Germany.

He suggested a sanding machine, stating that without sand on of those basic raw materials to the countries participating in the of the hills it was very the countries participating in the climb them. In the case of industry the picture is recorded by the government as no less rosy. Molotov reported that total industrial production of the control of the c duction of the Soviet Union during 10 months of 1948 was 27 per cent higher than during the same period of 1947, and 17 per cent higher than prewar.

The statistical administration previously had said that output in September, 1948, was at a rate 26 per cent ahead of prewar years, implying that the rapid increase in output continued throughout the year.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28 (AP) -Food prices in the United States are on the decline as the old year bows out.

And most trade analysts expect them to ease further in 1949. No spectacular reductions, like the 20-per-cent drop in retail meat prices since September, are nticipated.

Civil Service Pay Increases

Canada's civil servants received the other day what seems like a substantial Christmas present, if the aggregate of pay increases is considered. The increases will cost the country about $25,-000,000 a year. When the pay increases are considered individually, they are nothing to make our public servants gleeful: an average of $180 a year, or $15 a month, or $3.50 a week. When the twenty-five million dollar bonanza is thus broken down into a hundred thousand segments, it spreads pretty thinly.

How does it happen that a generous sum like $25,000,000 becomes a higgardly increase? The obvious answer is that there are too many hands into which are not clearly evident even to the the millions must be placed. We have an army of civil servants. If there were ing the money-raising campaign. Enfewer the pay boosts could be bigger. Therefore, if the nation's public workers wish to feel a bigger effect from a $25,000,000 increase in pay, they should urge the Government and the Department heads to fire a few tens of thousands of their fellow-workers. They do in trust. It is not given to underwrite a not take such forthright action, of course. Many have other tactics. If a person on a job can secure two assistants, that person becomes a Director of which the club supports, if an expensive some sort or another and expects a concert group is brought to a large hall wage increase because of his more ele- and nobody goes to the concert. vated status.

It would perhaps not be good for the country if the civil servants clamoured themselves discarded. Canada's business raising drakes. is big business. If the staffs were cut by fifty per cent. or even twenty per cent. government departments would be shambles. Twenty years ago this country hobbled along with 40,000 civil servants. Today the nation's business has multiplied two or three times, public welfare services have been expanded and 100,000 civil servants may be no more than the minimum required to handle the business and the services.

The truth is that $25,000,000 is not a generous sum to allocate for increases in civil servants' pay these times. It may not even be adequate to the just needs of many thousands of our public work-

Good Works In The Red

A Toronto Lions Club recently sponsored a huge Christmas carnival, The affair flopped. The show lost about $25,000. We mention the matter not to criticize the club's good intentions, but its lack of business sense and its failure to assess before the event the probable support and the effort required to make the affair at least a paying proposition.

Service Clubs, charity balls, benefit concerts and the like are often useful, charitable and communally beneficial. However, now and then organizations become so zealous in making their good works bigger and better that mere activity-busy-ness in professional beneficence-scatters benevolence to the winds, if not to the wrong side of the ledger. Sometimes, in fact, good works are an excuse for a big party or a good time, as when expensively - staged Charity Balls wrap society in ermine and leave hardly a nickel for the charity which was the assigned purpose of the

There can be too many cars up for lottery, too many and too ambitious projects to raise money for worthy purposes. Sometimes the worth and purpose members of the organization undertakthusiasm for doing something presumed good can make profligate school-boys of men who are, in their personal business affairs, paragons of commercial virtue. The money which charitable and service clubs raise is really public money, given subsequent, more grandiose venture in money-raising. It is of little use to a club, the community or the charities

Organizations must not over-reach themselves in their zeal for service money; otherwise not merely club members but the general public will weary to have several tens of thousands of of being contributing ducks to fund-

It was with regret that we learned of the death of Roly Young, for so many years movie critic of the Toronto Globe and Mail. There exists very little criticism of the arts and of entertainment in Canada, and Ontario. the wealthiest province, is particularly badly served in this respect. Roly Young was not a highbrow, and some of his judgements (such as his remark that Pride and Prejudice was of interest only to boarding school girls) showed his ers and to the good intentions of their limitations; but he knew a great deal

Atlantic Pact Talks

By W. N. EWER (U. K. Information Office)

THERE has been quite a lot of misunder-standing about the "Atlantic Pact" dis-cussions which have just started in Washing-

For example, there have been reports that a "draft treaty" prepared by the Permanent Commission of Western Union already exists; the purpose of the present talks is to secure American and Canadian acceptance of it, with perhaps a few amendments; that then a formal conference will put the "finishing touches"; after that is signed other European countries may be invited to accede adopted. For apart from every other consideration, it would be to "ask for trouble". Americans and Canadians are not just going to adopt a treaty drafted in London. And other European States would probably resent the suggestion that they should just sign on the dotted line a treaty from the making of which they had been carefully excluded 4 4 4

THE real process is perhaps slower but likely to be far sounder. The first move came from the United States in May, when Sena tor Vandenberg, then Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, tabled, in consultation with the State Department, the resolution now known by his name. It expressed readiness to "associate" the United States with defensive regional groups which were based on "continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid" and which would "effecuvely develop their maximum defence potential by co-ordination of their military forces and resources". The phrasing was deliberately general. But everybody understood that the reference was to the "Western Union" which had recently been formed in Brussels.

In June, the Senate passed the "Vandenberg resolution". In July, conversations began in Washington between Mr. Lovett of the state Department, the Ambassadors of the five "Brussels Powers" and the Canadian Ambassador-for Canada had at once indicated her desire to be associated with any defensive organization linking the United States and the United Kingdom.

N September, these conversations resulted in the production of an agreed document. Its contents have not been made public. But it envisages the making of some kind of treaty which would defensively "associate the united States and Canada with Western Union. And it is reported to suggest that useful models might be found in the Treaty of Brussels and in the Treaty of Rio de Janeiro under which it was agreed that "an armed attack on any American State shall be considered as an attack against all American States" and that "each one undertakes to assist in meeting the attack". The formula of the new treaty will probably be something between that and the far more precise undertakings of the Brussels Treaty.

BUT there is more to consider than the wording of the obligation—the definition of the "casus foederis" (a case provided for by treaty). There is the big and vitally important question of providing for peacetime co-operation in the working-out of joint plans for use in the event of war. There are questions of economic integration of defence plans and defence programmes. Such preparation, we have learned by experience, is every bit as important in modern conditions as an agreement for mutual aid if war comes, for there would then be no time to convert a paper pledge into an efficient instrument of

Princes And Kings Called Charles

THERE has been no Charles in Britain's pared, somewhat prematurely. Bonnie Prince royal family since Charles II died in 1685. The British in Cromwell's regime had beheaded the first King Charles, his son the second of the name had a place in history as the foremost roue of his time, and to cover a period of more than 250 years we have had a king named James, a William-and-Mary collaboration, a series of Georges, another William, a Victoria and an Edward.

Charles is an outstanding name in royal annals, however, and kings and princes bore it occupy some 37 pages in the Britannica. Charles the Great, better known as Charlemagne, who was King of the Franks some 1,200 years ago, leads them off. There were Roman emperors named Charles, in me's failing days; it was the name of kings of France, Spain, Austria, Hungary, Sweden. There was a Charles the Bald, Charles the Fat, Charles the Simple, Charles the Fair, Charles the Wise, Charles the Bad, Charles the Noble, Charles the Stammerer.

But there was only one Bonnie Prince Charlie, and it is with him that the infant Prince Charles of Edinburgh is being com-

Charlie is a romantic figure in Scottish his tory, and recently in Edinburgh they made a film of his life.

Charles Edward Louis Philip Casimir Stuart was born in 1720, grandson of King James II of England, and English history knows him as "The Young Pretender." He was the last hope of the Stuarts. He was born in Rome, in exile, and in his mid-twenties set off a Jacobite uprising in Scotland which he hoped would carry the Stuarts back to the throne his grandfather had abandoned. But Charles was beaten at Culloden in 1746, and for months the Young Pretender hid in the Highlands with £30,000 on his head. Eventually he escaped to France, to live and plot more than 30 years, but the hopes of the Stuarts had vanished.

Bonnie Prince Charles was a gay, gallant figure whose fame has been much embroidered by legend and romance. The destiny of the infant Prince Charles nobody knows; it would do him much good to possess the Stuart charm, more character and stability than the singing of "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and it was most appropriate that the composer of its music should have been honoured this week in Philadelphia. Accordingly, a bronze tablet was set up where Lewis H. Phillips Brooks, who was the rector of Holy Trinity, had asked Mr. Redner not long before if he could compose a tune for a sim-ple little carol he had written, so that the children might sing it the following Sunday, Christmas Day. But Mr. Redner went to bed on Christmas Eve and the melody had not yet been found. Then in the middle of the night the strain came to him. He rose immediately, jotted it down, and in the morning filled in the harmony. There was just time to have it ready for the Sunday School pupils that Christmas morning of 1868.

But it had been three years earlier that Phillins Brooks on a visit to Palestine had posedly on the spot of the Nativity. He had watched the children of that town gather soft moss for the Christ-child beds which they laid upon their hearths. And loving children as he did he wrote a letter to those of his Philadelphia Sunday School telling them of these events. It was a beautiful letter which must have impressed all those who heard it, just as the scenes witnessed had impressed Phillips Brooks. For these were still strong in mind when he wrote his carol in 1868.

For there is a possibility that other European powers will wish to join in the Pact. Certainly, some will be asked-informally at first-if they would like to take part in the negotiations. is already in existence. But it is far more important that the treaty should be well made than that it should be hastily made. Nor need the time schedule be unduly long. It should be possible to summon the actual conference by the end of January. A month should be ample for the conference itself. That would allow for signature at the beginning of March. Two months, say, for the proposed Pact while still allowing them to take a | the treaty would come into force in May.

Until last week-end the new Jewish Republic of Palestine was a state which Canada officially pretended not to know. It was like a stranger in a small town. Everybody gossips about him and of course knows who he is and what he does and how he comes to be in town, but he has to be inspected critically and preferably accepted by somebody else before the ordinary Canadian invites him into the domestic circle. It is not that we are inhospitable; we are merely cautious, knowing that it is easier to pick up an acquaintance than to drop

The United States recognized the existence of the nation of Israel a year ago, a few minutes after its birth was proclaimed. Canada was not so hasty, because we know that the Americans pick up with people quickly and in the first minute of conversation are calling the stranger by his first name. Further, Canada has many relatives whose prejudices and wishes must be taken into account: Britain, Australia, New Zealand, India. By last week-end Israel had been diplomatically recognized by eighteen nations. In the last year it has shown that it is no fly-by-night goodfor-nothing. It seemed safe for Canada to call it by name without embarrassing the other members of the British family. So the Minister of External Affairs, Mr. Pearson, announced on December 24th—a sort of Christmas present—that Canada was recognizing the Jewish state of Israel and its provisional government.

After tonight's exhibition in Lindsay—the IOOF-ers leave here at 6.45—Coach Archie Weir will have a pretty fair idea of his junior lineup for this puck season. There's a lot of whittling to be done this week ere the sweaters are handed out. Jack Byers is a cinch in goal, and they will require a spare goalie in case of injury. Seven chaps after the four defence spots: Bart Grainger, Bill Berwick, Ken Anderson, Jim Miller, Roy Armstrong, Don Bigford and Revin Cheiny, aminer trophy, premier prize of Boxing Day bonspiel, held at the Peterborough Curling Club on Monday. Prospects up front include: Ted Collins, Don Pagett, Don Floyd, Bob Wyatt, Skeeter O'Heron, Mike Crowley, Tom Birch of Lakefield, John Truss and Sai Fryla of the Soc, Ray Douglas, Whitnell, Patterson of Warsaw, Aitkens, and Haley Windsor, the latter being with a British Columbia team last winter. We don't know a few of their first names as yet. Only nine forwards may be dressed for a game, so some of those mentioned will be getting the chop before the new year arrives on the wintry scene. The Oddfellows are well equipped and have experienced mentors in Coach Welr, Manager Andy Price and the other officials. And they're in a group which promises to give local fans plenty of action.

Legion Nearly Set Legionnaires are lining up okay, also, though there may be a change or two made this week by Coach Ned Vitarelli, They're to go, times change, curlers come and go, conditions change, but as if the ice is good. If these newcomers are good, Legion won't miss the others they've lost too much, though they were smart puckists.

* Comes The Schedule

The senior "B" schedule—interlocking with intermediate "A" up this way—is in tonight. Petes open at Stouffville on Monday and are back here next Friday. Legion open at home next Wednesday against Meteors. All games count, even against the intermediate "A" clubs. The playoff setup as concerns the local teams calls for the leading team of Petes-Legion-Meteors at schedule's end to playoff two-of-three with Toronto Bells, while the other two have a two-in-three semi-final. Then, the finalists mix it in bestof three for group honors. Schedule goes till Feb. 21. Home club appoints a local linesman for group games.

Junior "B" schedule is in tonight, too, and shows the IOOF-ers opening at home next Monday against North Toronto Lions. A sixclub setup, with Toronto Lions playing home games at Richmond Hill, while Toronto Royals are at home in Uxbridge. Lindsay, Whitby and Oshawa are the other entries, with Lindsay and the Oddfellows playing a double schedule. Four teams hit into playoffs when the schedule winds up near the middle of February, first and third in two-of-three, second and fourth in a ditto series, with finalists going three out of five games for the group title. And that's the score.

Juves Readying Up
Couple of juvenile squads in the PMHA are getting shaped up now. Johnny Godfrey and Jerry Coughlin are coaching the Legion Trojans, with Percy Killingbeck the manager. They have open drills (boys up to 18 by Nov. 1) tonight and Thursday at 7.30 at Turner Park rink-the end of Brown St. The Rev. Ray Garvey is handling St. Peter's and they expect a drill any night now at the Orphanage rink on McDonnel St. with these boys asked out: Hickson, the Armstrongs, Bacon, Cavanagh, the Sheehans, Corkery, Cuffe, Crough, Connelly, Torpey, Collins, Caccavella, McGrath, Jones, Allen, Basci,with an orchestra for a take of cap division. Blue Peter, Joseph ano, the Robinsons, Jensen, Bigford, Alberica, Heffernan and others

Unless a man enters into marriage with a heavy head of the steam of affection, he is apt to slow down so completely that his wife won't snow he is going at all. There are many reasons this. The very conditions of a man's life tend to kill sentiment in him and to wean him away from his wife. After marriage a man's thoughts are centered not on being the perfect lover, but on being a good provider. He gets absorbed in his business or pro-fession; and the thing that thrills him is not the touch of his wife's performing a brilliant operation,

THE LUCK OF THE LEAD THE LUCK OF THE LEAD WHETTHER you make your contract or whether it is defeated does not always depend on what the contract is. It may be determined by the uncontrolled matter of which defender has the lead.
If it is one man, he may open a certain suit. If it is his partner, a different suit will get attacked.
With one lead, your contract may be a sure thing, but with the other it may be impossible. Those imponderables show up frequently in duplicate tournaments, and are part of the reason why weaker players enjoy that style of game.
They occasionally get a top score against experts through just such hidden factors.

Who can say that the bidding at Table 2 was better than that at Table 1? It had one advantage in that it kept the diamond suit concealed, but then the bidding at the first table was more informative to the partner and might have uncovered a diamond.

fit if West's hand had been different. But, since diamonds were not led in either case, the question of bidding them had no influence on the final result.

Where South was the leader the contract was made, and where North led it was beaten. South's lead was the short-sult heart 9, based on the idea that, if East would not support a rebid major. North must be well-fixed in the sult—not too bad logic. East won that, in dummy and led a club. North of course wen and switched to spades. But East stopped the third round, and went on to collect a total of four tricks in clubs, three in diamonds, two in hearts and one in spades to have an extra trick.

Where North led, a spade was selected. Note how that and spade continuances caused the suit to be set up before the club. A as a re-entry was removed from North. That lead of course beat the contract a trick.

Word was received here by Mrs. William Titford of the death in Vancouver of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edwin Wakley. The death occurred on Christmas Day and burial was Monday. Deceased was Ida May Titford of Cobourg, before her marriage and was born and raised in Cobourg. She lived here for 25 years but moved west after her marriage. She was 67 years of age and was a sister of the late Bill Titford. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Charlene and a son, Ronald Another daughter, Vivian, predeceased her. Besides her sister-inlaw, a niece, Mrs. Robert Fitzgibbon, lives in Cobourg.

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Sarah A. Hoover, 80, of 178 Aylmer St., was held from the family residence on Monday. The Rev. Dr. James Semple of George Street United Church officiated and pall-bearers were Thomas Whibbsa James Delaney, William Shannon, Ted, Carl and Walter Owens. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Hoover died in hospital on Friday following a short illness, She was born in Markham township, daughter of the late Patrick Hennessey and Mary Meade, and lived in Peterborough for the past 29 years. Previous to this she lived in Fort William for a number of years.

Benor and Burgess committed themselves as candidates, while Wiggins was absent. All nominees will have until 9 p.m. Tuesday either to qualify or deuesday either to qualify or decline. J. F. McGregor presided.

Mayor Harvey Donald, in acepting his nomination, said that ormer councillors had hope and foresight in building a better Campbellford by laying sewers and pavements, and building a High School, but those services had loaded us with a debenture burden that had to be met. He complimented the business men on improving their stores and eulogized the municipal officers on their splendid work. Surplus of $3,500.

Councillor W. A. Kingston, the chairman of the Finance Committee, said there had been a surplus of $3,500 this year and the taxpayers could except some relief in 1949. He stated that the laying down of sewers and repairs to the schools had increased the debenture burden, but the Council had met all of its financial obligations through careful planning and spending. The chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, J. O. Benor, gave a full report on the Light and Water Department. He said that the Light and Power De-partment had $10,101.92 cash on hand at the beginning of 1948, and at the end of the financial year, October 31, it had $16,002.52 in hand. He stated that the com-mission had sold $12,392.62 worth mission had sold $12,392.62 worth of power, $8,709.21 of commercial light, and $27,086.31 of domestic light. He claimed that a third generator was necessary, and that the sale from excess power would in a very short time pay for the added expense. He said that the commission had gone behind in the Water Department, and recommended that water rates be raised. artment, and recomm ater rates be raised.

Don Meyers, chairman of the Board of Education reported on the repairs to the public school: He said the new heating system was functioning properly, the lighting system was satisfactory and the right prices of meterial. and the rising prices of material and high cost of labor had been responsible for the increase over

Plan New School.

Other matters pertaining to the United Counties' Council were discussed by Reeve J. C. Anderson. He stated that the estimated cost of remodelling the county home was $400,000 and this would only give 17 extra beds. He said that he was not in favor of such All a large expenditure at this time.

p.m. Snow removal for the year had cost the United Counties $37,000; new machinery such as trucks and snow plows, $2,300; and health services, $73,000, half of this is met by the provincial government. Councillor Paliser reported that it had cost $3,200 to maintain the fire department. A new hose and trickle charger for the fire ruck had been purchased. Counillor F. W. Burgess, chairman of the Police Department, said that the police force had been reduced to 2 men and that $4.644 for the year was cheap protection for a cown of this size. He stated that the town was almost free of either minor or major crime and this was largely due to the splendid work of the officers.

MONTREAL, Dec. 28 — (CP)—Canadian National Railways has just concluded "one of the most trying years in its history" even though gross income has reached an all-time high, R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president, reported today.

In a year-end statement Mr.

Vaughan reported that gross revenues for 1948 —the last month estimated— amounted to $492,-000,000, an increase of $34,000,000 over 1947. Operating expenses, at $466,000,000 were $15,000,000 lower than in 1947.

"Huge as this income was," he said, "it will not prove to be big enough to compete with the even sharper rises in manpower and material costs to which the rail-way was subjected with compensatory factors being provided to offset them."

NOTICE TO ONTARIO MOTORISTS

Re Unsatisfied Judgment

Fund Fee

Under an amendment to the Highway Traffic Act enacted in 1947, provision was made for the creation of an Unsatisfied Judgment Fund out of which will be paid, in the manner prescribed, judgments for personal injuries and property damage sustained by reason of the operation of motor vehicles, which cannot be collected in the ordinary manner from the judgment debtors.

The method prescribed for creating the Fund is the collection of a special fee, when required, from each person to whom is issued either an operator's or a chauffeur's license.

Although to date no fees have been collected from those operating motor vehicles, the legislation has been in effect since the 1st of July, 1947, and many judgments have been paid by the Department pending the creation of the Fund.

Effective with the issue of 1949 motor vehicle operators' and chauffeurs' licenses, an additional fee of 50 cents (50c) will be collected from each person to whom is issued a 1949 license, which fee will be known as the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund fee and will be set aside solely for the purpose of creating the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund.

This is not an annual fee and no further fee will be collected from motor vehicle drivers for this purpose until the Fund is exhausted or so nearly so as to indicate that there is not sufficient in the Fund to pay judgments for a period of at least one year.

Seeds Dropped Over Missisagi

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Dec. 28—(CP)—Over the blackened Missisagi timber area, swept last summer by giant forest fires, the Ontario Lands and Forests Department has dumped 50,000,000 seeds which foresters hope will replace valuable stands of timber estroyed by ifre.

The seeds, specially coated to give them a better chance of survival, were strewn from an aircraft. Surveys of the area show-ed there were many large unburned patches in which seed trees remained. In other patches, however, seed trees were destroyed and it was over these areas seeds were scattered.

Indian trappers in this district said the fire did one good thing for them. As a result of the fires they now can travel a good part of the distance to their trap lines by bus instead of by dog steigh or snow shoes. Lumber companies who successfully bid for contracts to cut remaining timber in the burned over area prompted the Department of Highways to improve the road which extends for 50 miles from Chapleau on the northern limits of the fire area in the heart of the timber tracts. The Indians now may travel most of the distance to traps in the comfort of a bus.

40 Neighbors Fight Losing Battle To Save Building

FENELON FALLS, Dec. 29.-(Staff) .- Six persons, including an infant, were forced to flee the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jamieson on Monday evening, six miles south of Fenelon Falls, when fire destroyed the large brick building.

Damage it estimated at least $5,000. Cause of the outbreak is not known.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson

there was their son and daugh-ter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jamieson with their young scn John. Also forced to leave the house was Mrs. Jamieson's sister, Miss May Tolmie of Toronto. All of them moved to the home of neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm

Some furniture, rugs and other household articles in the front part of the house were saved; the rest was a total loss. About 40 neighbors formed a bucket brigade to try and put out the fire, but it was beyond their united efforts. Many of them helped to save some of the family valuables.

Highest Income In CNR History Fails To Offset Mounting Costs

Chairman and President. Canadian National Railways.

The Canadian National Railways is altogether likely that even with a record-breaking gross this year, the company's net posi-tion in 1948 will prove to be the lowest since 1939. After payment of taxes, equipment rents and other such charges, the 1948 net will not be sufficient to meet all the interest due on securities held by the public and owing to the Gross revenues for 1948- the nth estimated— amounted to $492,000,000. As compared with 1947, this was an increase of $54,-000,000. But operating expenses, at $466,000,000. were $69,000,000 higher and the net revenues this year were $15,000,000 lower than those of 1947.

Granted Increase.

Last spring, after hearings last-ing more than a year the Board of Transport Commissioners granted the railways an increase of 21 per cent in freight rates, on an ap-plication by the railways for 30 per cent. This was the first gen-eral increase in more than a quarter of a century, but because of exceptions, the over-all increase was only 13½ per cent. These new rates became effective April 8. On September 15, certain competitive rates were raised 15 per cent, these rates having been voluntaripetition. All of these increases added approximately $30,500,000 to Canadian National revenues during 1948, but they fall far short of what is needed to take care of increased costs. Among these costs was a general increase of 17 cents an hour to employees in Canada, granted in July and retroactive to March, and other increases due to changes in working conditions which included extension of vacations with pay. These pay-roll increases granted employees on our lines in the United States added $39,300,000 to the company's operating expenses in 1948 and were unavoidable.

Including new equipment, we paid approximately $213,332,580 for materials and supplies purchased in 1948. This was an increase of $60,402,213 over the expenditure in 1947 for the same to United States railways since June, 1946, are estimated at 43 per cent. Notwtihstanding these adjustments, the continued rise in operating costs forced U. S. lines to ask for more revenues and an application for an additional increase of 13 per cent, with certain exceptions, was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission in October Canadian railways are no better able to get along without money than United States rail-ways, and they have been compelled to seek further relief. Application for an increase of 20 per cent is now before the Board of Transport Commiss hearings are expected to begin in Reduced Tonnage

000,000 tons of freight. This is a reduction of some 221,000 tons as compared with the previous year. Although the railways originated more tonnage on its Canadian lines, there was a notable decline in traffic originating in the United States mainly distance. States, mainly due to restrictions on imports. Approximately 20,-800,000 passengers were carried this year, a decrea a decrease of 426,000

The total volume of express traffic exceeded that of any previous year. Due to the floods in the spring, there was a decrease both fruit and fish traffic from the British Columbia producing areas but this was offset by increases in fruit and gevetable traffic handled from Ontario.

The volume of Canada-United States telegraph traffic suffered a decline but within the Dominion the telegraph department made new records in the amount of bus-iness, with such services as private leased wires, radio programme networks, stock quotations dis-semination and Canadian message traffic. Major plant additions and improvements were carried out during the year and plans laid for further expansion in 1949 handle adequately the continu heavy demand for Canadian National Telegraph services. Shortage of Equipment

In common with other railways on the continent, the Canadian National suffered from a shortage of equipment and during the pas year we experienced at times difficulty in meeting the demands of shippers. Through the co-operation of the Association of American Railroads, some relief was afforded toward the end of the year when the return of empty Canada was expedited.

All railways are endeavouring to meet the competition of other forms of transportation by improving service and equipment and, within the limitations imposed by high costs, reduced rev enues and slow deliveries, the Canadian National is putting thought and effort into making train travel more attractive and we are keeping abreast of modern trends.

During the past year, we re-ceived 28 deluxe first class coaches and we recently ordered another 25. We are still awaiting delivery of 20 sleeping cars of the duplex roomette type, which were ordered more than two years ago The railway is also remodelling in its own shops, a number of sleeping cars of various types, lounge cars, parlor cars and dining cars

A transportation system like the Canadian National Railways, which hauls 86 million tons of freight and carries nearly 21 milion passengers in one year, which handles something like 22 million express shipments and transmits 12 million telegraph messages, which operates a chain of first services, whose annual purchases run as high as $213 millions and ose annual payrolls amount to $315 millions, obviously holds an conomy. Recognizing that they have been entrusted with a pro-perty vital to the national welfare,, its officers and employees are carrying on their duties with integrity, striving to maintain high standards of service while scrutinizing every expenditure. There are factors, however, over which they have no control.

Words And Deeds In Indonesia

How the U.S.S.R. must be laughing at the state of affairs in Indonesia! How Russian commentators must nod to each other, saying, "You see, we always said that all that Western talk about democracy was nonsense; they are simply a pack of greedy imperialists and exploiters of the weak, as we have always maintained". We have the present Netherlands government to thank for this state of affairs. Unless all reports from Indonesia are lying, Dutch behaviour there is on the lowest level of cynical imperialism. We do not think that the reports are lying, but we cannot tell, for Dutch authorities have barred all newsmen from the area - a thing which usually happens only when a government is afraid of the truth.

Let us review, as briefly as we can, the situation in Indonesia. The Netherlands East Indies comprises a rich archipelago, including Sumatra, Java, part of Borneo, the Celebes and western New Guinea, spread over a Pacific area about the size of the U.S.A. Holland gained this rich territory by conquest and colonization. Early in the war the Japanese took the Netherlands East Indies and the Dutch Government -at that time in exile in England promised the Indonesian people selfgovernment and equal status in the postwar Dutch Empire.

During the Japanese occupation an Indonesian republican movement was organized underground, and when the war was over Dutch troops and forces from British India, using American lease-lend arms, tried to suppress it. They failed, and in 1947 U.N. set up a committee representing the U.S.A., Australia and Belgium, to mediate, and the Renville truce was reached in 1948. The Dutch then blockaded the areas held by the republicans.

The Marshall Plan makes no provision for Indonesia, but it provides Holland with $270,000,000, and added $84,000,000 to be used in Indonesia for food and textiles-to be purchased from the U.S.A. and Japan. But the Netherlands Government refuses to grant any of this aid ingles, sens the American pleases on vate Dutch firms, and uses the money in the Netherlands. That is why the U.S.A. has stopped Marshall Plan aid to the Netherlands: American money was being used to assist the Dutch to subjugate people to whom they had promised freedom.

The Indonesian republicans are not communists; indeed, they have fought the Indonesian communists and executed their leaders. They are people who want the freedom which was promised to them. The Netherlands Government, we are sorry to say, appears to be acting in a disgracefully dishonourable manner, discrediting western democracy in communist countries, and driving unreckoned numbers of Asiatic people straight into the arms of the communists. Let Russia laugh! To her the situation must indeed be funny. But to us it is tragically disheartening.

Hanging Tojo

A week ago the Japanese war leader Tojo and six of his associates were hanged. A tribunal representative of eleven victorious nations had found them guilty of war crimes-crimes against humanity. The world is well rid prone to do. of them, but history may not judge the manner of their despatch to be as righteous and just as people in the western world think it now.

Nations have individually laws and codes which protect their societies. They work because the society has generallyaccepted basic principles. The attempt to establish international codes of justice, to mete out punishment for crimes perpetrated against all humanity, is least that is an indication that they ambitious and laudable. The difficulty is have not yet been brought down to eatthat all nations have not a common set | ing their boots.

of beliefs on which to base international justice. Even so-called Christian countries differ about what is just and proper, and war among themselves.

The only nearly universal belief is that might is right. Although some western democracies profess faith in higher principles, the recent war has reaffirmed the validity of power. Other nations may believe that even the Tokyo hangings were evidence that might is still the yard-stick of right. The hanging of Tojo may have been just but it was also a retribution, rather a timely one for Canadians who remember the Christmas Day of 1941 when Hong Kong was surrendered to the Japs.

It will be a long time before any but the victors will bring anybody but the vanguished to trial for war crimes. That time will probably not come until there are no victors, no vanquished, no war, and therefore no war crimes. We note wryly that the Communists in China have published a Christmas list of "war criminals" who would be punished by a people's court when they are captured. The names of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek head the list. It seems that among the modern spoils of victory is the right to try enemies for crimes against humanity.

We could wish that Toto had been given a short, sharp court martial three years ago instead of a pompous trial which dragged on into 1948 and ended on a gallows idealistically imported from victorious democracies. Perhaps national leaders of thirty years ago were wiser and less starry-eved when they won elections on a popular cry of "Hang the Kaiser" and made him a country squire in Holland.

"A Fine Old English Gentleman"

We never saw C. Aubrey Smith on the screen without being reminded of the song about "A fine old English gentleman. One of the olden time". If he was playing the faithful Swedish servitor of Queen Christina, or the honest old Ruritanian soldier in The Prisoner of Zenda something of his essential Englishness still peeped through the disguise. Hollywood, which loves "type-casting", allotted to him very frequently roles which demanded a display of fine manners, handsome appearance and good breeding-the qualities which are traditionally associated with aristocracy, and which aristocrats often display. But few aristocrats could show these qualities better than Aubrey Smith.

He was not a great actor, as screen actors go. He had not the versatility of Harry Baur or Conrad Veidt; he lacked the ability to convey fine shades of meaning which distinguishes Michael Chekov; he was rarely called upon to sustain any emotion, except indignation, for long. But in his own limited field he was matchless; honesty and manly feeling were apparent in everything he did. He was fortunate also, in his appearance; heavily built, but not fat, tall but not gangling, of strongly marked features yet in no way coarse, graceful even after his eightieth year, he was of a distinguished, commanding presence - so much so indeed that actors who were not so well-graced paled to insignificance beside him. Many a "star" looked summate master of good manners. It is a painful fact that many film actors, however carefully they may be schooled by their directors, are never able to root out their essential ill-breeding; they are inescapably common. Aubrey Smith played, in his days on the stage, with Sir George Alexander and Beerbohm Tree, both of whom insisted upon the highest degree of cultivated deportment in their colleagues, and he took to Hollywood a perfected stage technique and an understanding of what deportment really was. Movie-goers everywhere are grateful for his long career, and will miss him, for he gave a special sort of pleasure to millions.

CANADIAN CAUSERIE

Last Look Back By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

FAREWELL, 1948! For Canada it has been a good year-in material things. And in cultural? That is harder to say; history will probably put it down as a year of unfolding rather than fulfillment. Stars shine in the Canadian cultural sky, but just how big they are we do not yet know. In the quarter of poetry Patrick Anderson makes a bright blaze, surrounded by a fine array of satellites, with a pinkish galaxy over to the left. In the quarter of the novel a pair of heavenly twins, Hugh MacLennan and Malcolm Lowry glow forth from the fitful glimmer of myriad small novae. In drama, Lister Sinclair and Robertson Davies are among the more portentous exhalations whizzing in the air.

+ + + T has been a hurried year, as they all are nowadays. And in the hurry quite a number of commemorations that should have been observed have gone by the board. One such was the centenary of the founding of the Pre-Raphaelite brotherhood; alone in all Canadian journalism (I fancy) the Peterborough Examiner paid the respect due to this adventure in thought and paint. But no one remembered another great adventurer in the realms of colour—Paul Gaugin, born in Paris June 1848, whose Tahitian pictures, with their vivid greens, ochres and reds, brought a new boldness into painters' handling of their pigments, and had its share in giving Canada her finest colourist, Tom Thomson

WITH the winter closing upon us and storm-clouds in the international sky, let our long look back come to rest upon a brighter scene—also from the past of a hundred years ago. Robert Browning has just eloped with Elizabeth Barrett (you remem-"The Barretts of Wimpole Street") and for thirteen years-from 1848 to 1861-will be living in the joy of a dream accomplished, blissful love, creative energy and Italian sunshine. What a wonderful world if all hazardous enterprises turned out so happily! A dusty reminder of that bright love was given by the New Yorker the other day: the gondola in which the lovers "passed many lyrical hours during their residence in Venice in the 1850's is now resting in the lee of an ancient barn in East Hampton, Long Island"... old boat has really got me tired out," said Mrs. Juckett, an attractive, businesslike young matron who is secretary of the Ladies' Village Improvement Society of East Hampon, which is the present, nominal and some what resigned owner of the craft.... "Here's how we got the boat. Browning bought it from some old Venetian soon after he and Elizabeth Barrett were married and when she died in 1861 he gave it to his gondolier named Giovanni Hitz. Hitz ran it as a taxi, and when Mr. Moran and his wife were in Venice in 1890 they rode in it a lot. It appealed to them so much that they bought it and had it shipped back here. They enjoyed curiosities,

LET us look back still further. There are bicentenaries that will never be celebrated unless we celebrate them now. That of ruary of 1748. Maybe he is no longer a name to conjure with; yet his ideas make up a good bit of our political thinking. Ask your M.P. to tell you in a phrase what he supposes to be the ultimate aim of government; if he says something about the "greatest happiness of the greatest number" he has got it from Jeremy. His "Treatise on Legislation" had the kind of hold on men's minds then that Arnold Toynbee's "Study of History" has on ours When the translation of Bentham's today. work reached Russia, one of Alexander's highest counsellors, General Sabloukoff, wrote "I desire for my country the possession of those truths which the beneficent genius of Bentham has created for the human race Russia wants laws. He will linger in memory as a con- hand out the same kind of invitation to some Westerner today!

+ + + THERE'S another original spirit, born within a few months of Jeremy Bentham, whom we ought to honour before it is too late: Joseph Bramah. Here was a subject for the Marchbanks pen, and it is a strange omission that the Peterborough Examiner paid no tribute to this great benefactor of mankind. You ask what he did? Why, to his pioneer work the world owes the watercloset! It was in 1778 that he took out the first patent for an improved mechanism, and for the rest of his life the fascinating properties of water occupied his thoughts-the way it behaves when compressed, pummelled and generally pushed around; the tricks you can make it perform by arrangements of plungers, cylinders and pumps. Out of these cogita-tions came machinery for making aerated water, improvements in boiler design, a hydraulic press for printing and other trades, suggestions for the use of the screw in the propulsion of ships, a water-works at Norwich, and -happy afterthought-an engine for drawing beer. Ho, landlord, draw us a good measure for Mr. Bramah. Here's to you, Joe! Here's to all of us in 1949!

newspaper in the last half century. According to Mr. D'Arcy Finn, executive editor of the Ottawa Citizen who is celebrating his fiftieth anniversary with that newspaper, the greatest is the immense foreign coverage now offered by newspapers.

"I can remember when the whole Associated Press coverage was a dozen handwritten sheets a night."

Other equally important changes have curred. Among the greatest, according to Mr. Finn is in the ethics of the profession.

*In the old days, the editor...dictated not only the policy of the editorial page but also got it into the news. So the news had to be tinged with the newspaper's policy beliefs. In a political campaign, the stories and even the headlines had to be slanted in the direction of the paper's policy. If you didn't conform you'd get fired.

"Today the news columns of the paper are strictly objective and give all sides of our day-to-day problems. There is no reason why people today cannot make up their minds intelligently on every issue that is be-

Summarizing fifty years of down-to-earth experience on the Ottawa Citizen, Mr. Finn

"It has been a good life. I have writtenor handled—literally millions of words of news in my time and not once have I knowingly caused to be put into The Citizen one word that I have known not to be true.
"There are some people who think newspapermen 'invent' or 'manufacture' news but this is not so. No newspaperman could be uccessful-or happy-if he did this. Neither "Of course, mistakes are made. When this happens I have found it the best policy to admit the error frankly and ask what can be done to make up for it. "The people appreciate it. Many times the customer thinks he is right but he is wrong. I have had them come into my office with fire flashing from their eyes and smoke pouring out of their ears. Then comes the problem of bringing them around to the right point of view.

"I've never had to throw anybody out of my office. It's always been my policy to be friendly and I hope—and think—I've succeeded.

Based on his fifty years, the executive editor took the opportunity to explode a still all-too-prevalent fallacy. "It used to be a favourite cliche that newspapermen were Some of them were—as in many other callings-but they always lost out and were weeded out. No calling in the world today demands a greater degree of sobriety. Booze and news are a fatal combination.' Then he went on to underline the cardinal principle to which he has stuck throughout "One of the prime essentials of the newspaper business, in my opinion, is loyalty to the cause, through thick and thin. You know your paper's principles; fight for them every day of your life.

"A newspaper's success is the measure of its service to its readers, its community. And that service is compounded of the services faithfully rendered to it by every member of its staff, from the office boy to the boss. So you see, we all shoulder part of a very great responsibility, and that's where unremitting loyalty and earnest, hard work enter the picture."

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version) And when it was determined that we should sail into Italy, they delivered Paul and certain other prisoners unto one named Jul-ius, a centurion of Augustus' band....And when neither sun nor stars in many days appeared, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope that we should be saved was taken away . . . And falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground: and the forepart stuck fast, and remained unmoveable, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves. (Acts 27: 1, 20, 41.)

And when they were escaped, then they knew that the island was called Melita. And the barbarous people showed us no little kindness: for they kindled a fire, and received us every one, because of the present rain, and because of the cold. And when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and fastened on his hand. And when the barbarians saw the venomous beast hang on his hand, they said among themselves, No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance suffereth not to live.

And he shook off the beast into the fire,

Yea, though I walk through the vailey of the shadow of death: I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they/ comfort me. (Ps. 23: 4.)

Moslem Group Thriving On Violence

CAIRO, Dec. 29—(Reuters)— Bearded Shelkh El Banna's Mos-lem Brotherhood, to which the student who Tuesday assassinated Premier Nokrashy Pasha of Egypt is said by police to have belonged, is reputed to have had about 500,-000 members in Egypt alone.

The Brotherhood recently was dissolved by government decree, and behind the dissolution lay a story of violence and terrorism which many suspected but only the Egyptian government knew.

The official statement categorically disbanding the Brotherhood revealed that this movement, originally inspired by a strong Mos-lem impulse, degenerated into a fanatical political organization with its own military formations, its own arsenals, and members who did not hesitate to use bombs and high explosives to express their convictions.

Reveal Purpose

When the organization, after beginning its activities on a religious and social structure, gained numerous supporters as a re-sult of an organized promotion drive, its leaders, in the words of a government statement "revealed their real design, which was purely political; namely, to obtain power and overthrow the estab-lished order in the country." The statement adds that the Meandered Monday over the half-million-dollar span to the city rinks nestling by the east end of Hunter St. bridge. And saw three ons, two in hockey use and the other filled with skaters. We had the son and heir along, toting a brand new pair of skates Santa had dropped down the chimney. He's going on seven now and should be learning to skate. A flock of other kids there, too-some with their parents—taking their first wobbly skete strides. Doug bravely stepped out on the glassy surface by himself when "wham" the ice flew up and smacked him on the seat of his pants! He looked

En route to the rink, you see, he figured skating was a einch. We warned him not to worry about falls as everyone fell frequently when learning to skate. He pooh-poohed the idea and promised to be going around soon on one foot like Barbara Ann. Well, he was on one foot at a time shortly after—though not intentionally—as arms windmilled fran-tically in a futile grab at balance. He agreed to let his mom and dad take an arm each for a time till he got the feel of it. And it was a surprisingly short time before he was doing fairly well himself. Taking short and gingerly strides, to be sure, but making progress.

His Ups And Downs

True enough, he was down frequently but not for the count. Took it with a leugh like other beginners all around, scrambled back up on the blades and kept moving ahead. Ankles wobbled at times and speed was negligible, but he got more confidence every trip out on the frozen water. And was having some fun, too. An hour and a half later, the lad skated slowly across the rink and back, with ankles fairly steady and without falling once. So now he wants to go daily. He'll be a good skater ere long, same as all those kids tumbling around over there. Same as the thousands of Canadian kids starting to skate each year.

Quite a few years ago, we learned to skate over Ashburnham way. Mostly on the sidewalks near home or at the canal. Or at the rink firemen flooded for kids at Cox's Field on Concession St.-now known as Armour Field on Armour Road. Girls and boys skated together while budding hockeyists tore in and out. Later, we graduated to Poverty Pond, the city rink on Hunter by the bridge. The elite who had dough paid their way into the old Mark St. rink to skate to music. Same thing was going on all over the city wherever there was ice. Our skating memories are of frosty nights with fun curling—all across the board on the early draw Tuesday night. Look where you would, you could see someone making a real play. All in all it was two hours of good entertainment.

According to the schedule book this No. 1 schedule concludes January 5.

The date set for the annual Neill

Trophy is Jan. 6.

As yet, we have no report of the activities for New Year's day.

The Scottish curlers who are visiting many cities across Canada and in the United States, arrived at Halifax yesterday. They will be the guests of our club on Monday, January 31. The last time they toured Canada was in 1938. They visited Lindsay and missed Peterborough, although several local curlers were invited by the Lindsay club to elect

Olivia De Haviland Oliver, Best Actors

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(CP).— The New York Film Critics Tuesday selected "Treasure of Sierra Madre" as the best picture of 1948, and Lawrence Olivier and Olivia De Haviland as the year's best actor and actress.

The critics group is made up of 18 critics and 10 newspapers. Olivier was named for his performance in "Hamlet" and Miss De Haviland for her performin "The Snake Pit.

Oilers Leading League Slam Minneapolis

By The Associated Press

Tulsa Oilers, without any outstanding scoring leader, are run-ning away with first place in the southern division of the United States Hockey League.

The Oilers slammed out a 6-3 victory over Minneapolis at Tulsa last night in typical Oiler fashion. The six goals were scored by as many players.

Omaha managed to hold off Houston, 4-2, on the Texas club's rink. Houston scored both goals in the final period.

The games were the only contests scheduled Tuesday night, but R. E. (Rip) Johnson and seven other Fort Worth, Tex., residents announced they had taken over that city's franchise in the league. Eddie Shore, who previously op-erated the Fort Worth club, agreed that all players now on the Fort Worth roster finish out the season there.

U.S. Importers Expecting Their Best Year

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP). —

Many importers in the United States are looking forward to their best year. Exporters, on the other hand, appear resigned to another drop in volume in 1949.

This will repeat the story of 1948, which saw imports climb to peak levels and exports drop from the record set in 1947. But even if 1949 exports drop below 1948's estimated $12,000,000,000, which compared with the record $14,500,000,000 in 1947, American exporters will still be doing better than any of them would have deemed possible in the days before the war.

Many exporters believe volume will be better in the coming six months than in the last six, although they expect 1949 as a whole to fall below 1948. The gain in the next six months will come from the actual shipment of goods out of funds authorized already by the Economic Co-operation Administration. It takes about that long to turn E.C.A. paper into ship cargoes. Imports Will Rise

Imports will rise, particularly in the first half of 1949, foreign trade circles believe, because; foreign production is gaining as war damage is being overcome; E.C.A.'s effect on European economy will bar fruit next year; and American production, and hence its purchasing power, will continue above pre-war levels. This

REV. F. C. MUELLER of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Hamilton, not only believes in Santa Claus, but is something of one himself. Last week an anonymous admirer gave him a $200 cheque in appreciation of his work among DP's. With this money the clergyman bought a machine to record his church services, which he takes around to hospitals and shut-ins. Mr. Mueller is shown with his machine, visiting Walter Perlipp in the Mountain Sanitorium.

In the first half of 1849, feeting grove him a $200 cheeque in appreciation of the Mountain Samitorium.

Rambling Reporter SAD MARKET

The outside market was doleful at noon, overhung as it was by pallid skies, rain and slush. Between the parked cars could be seen a few tables. On one two fowl lay with their necks drooped over the edge, too despondent-looking ever to have hopes of gracing a New Year's table. A couple of dozen eggs, wet and bald, looked cold. Two small pumpkins on another table seemed out of on another taste sented out of place. Farther along were three big jugs of brown liquid, apple cider apparently, but not hard enough for the day's weather. The only cheerful signt in the whole market was a basket of plumy yellow Talman Sweets, sleet in their wet skins and a basket of small Mackintosh Reds twinkling impushly in their rain-washed colour.—T.A.

The oldest Peterborough resident is probably 102-yearold Mrs. Elizabeth Callaghan, who has been living at the House of Providence for the past four years. Although her eyesight is none too strong, and she does not hear as well as she did, Mrs. Callaghan still takes a lively interest in events, and can quote history a good deal more readily than many people three times younger. She still remembers a visit to Ireland many years ago and is an interesting person with whom to discuss several topics. Mrs. Callaghan's younger sister is 94-year-old Mrs.

In the last official step before next Monday's civic elections, candidates for councils and school boards in municipalities across Ontario filed qualification papers Tuesday evening. Tuesday evening.

Many localities discovered they won't need elections. Scores of local politicians failed or declined to qualify. In four towns, nine villages and 17 townships the councils were put into office by acclamation at the qualification offices.

Port Arthur, the only Ontario city with local elections Jan. 3, found itself suddenly without the mayor who has guided it for 15

Mayor Charles W. Cox waited

mon o' South Bay, 12 miles south of Picton, entertained at a family gathering. "We have lived happily together 50 years," Mr. Grimmon remarked.

"The secret of a happy married life is to get out when things get too hot for you—don't argue."

Mr. Grimmon recalled that when he bought cattle for his farm 51 years ago he had his choice from two good herds. He purchased 10 cows for a total of Picton for two years. They have choice from two good herds. He purchased 10 cows for a total of $200, the price of one cow today. Eggs were seven cents a dozen and butter 14 cents a pound.

Mr. Grimmon, 77, this year carried on operations on his big farm, the harvest including 4,000 bushels of tomatoes and other heavy crops. In winter he has extensive woodcutting done on the heavily wooded tarm many of the fine stands of trees having been planted by himself. Today he pays $4 a cord for cutting; 50 years ago he paid 50 cents a cord for cutting

And there you are, and no one knows the answer to the $64 ques-tion of how much time a husband should give to entertaining his wife. But a sardonic sidelight is thrown on the matter by the fact that the wives who complain most bitterly about her husband's devotion to their "horrid old Business" seldom, if ever, object to the money they bring in.

DEAR MISS DIX: We are two girls who are good-looking, intelligent, who know how to make things go smoothly and have all that it seems to take for date-bait. Yet when we sit at home on Saturday nights we wonder loafing instead of working. What shall I do?

BEWILDERED HUSBAND

No Solution to Problem

ANSWER: The question of how much time a man should give to entertaining his wife is one of the problems to which there is no definite standpoint. The great majority of wives are sold to the belief that their husbands' leisure belongs to them and that is should be spent in taking them steeping.

On Saturday nights we wonder if there is something wrong. Can there is a quality of aggressiveness that is lacking in young men nowadays? We know one thing definitely, and that is that on Saturday nights we wonder if there is something wrong. Can there is a quality of aggressiveness that is lacking in young men nowadays? #### BARCLAY ON BRIDGE ,

AMONG the factors that influence the style of play for a conract is the type of game being slayed. In duplicate sometimes the straining of a declarer for size tricks to wis extra match soints may produce fancy results. In the other hand, if a rubber tridge declarer can't make his pame except by taking some exceme risk, you may see him try omething which the match point haplicate addict would not essay to for different reasons, you are keely to find fancy play in either tame which would not be atempted in the other when certain loais some along.

to lose a trick to South if the heart situation was stacked against him. A return through his K could have ruined him if North held the A and a pretty good string.

A careful duplicate player, who felt he had a good score on previous deals, might have played safe, and taken the eight tricks immediately available with five in spades, two in diamonds and one in clubs, hoping for some development that might give him his game, but making sure he was not beaten more than one trick.

This declarer, however, got away with his club Q finesse and then went on to take all of the tricks. When he finally scored the dummy's last club on the eleventh trick, he had retained there two diamonds, opposite his own heart K and diamond A-2. South, holding the heart A and the diamond Q-J, was squeezed out of taking any trick at all.

(Dealer: South. East-West val-nerable.)

After South's 1-Spade is raised by North to 2-Spades, what should East do?

NORWOOD, Dec. 29—(ENS)— Daisy-D pupils held their Christ-mas concert under the direction of their teacher, Miss Marguerite Lamey, on Tuesday. Music for carols was provided by Mrs. C. Coughlin, and Mr. Harry Fife played dance music. Mr. Ronald Webster was chairman.

The program opened with car-ols by the school chorus and a recitation by George Lobb. Ruth Andrews, dressed in red plaid, and Gayle Kennedy in blue plaid, played two piano solos and also danced the Highland Fling. A comical exercise, followed and a recitation was given by Gerald Johnston. A dialogue with Eddie Heffernan and John Bernier dressed as negroes preceded a song by Morrine, Gayle and Pa-tricia Kennedy. John Bernier and Gerald Johnston then contributed a duet. "Christmas Wishes" was given by grades I and II.

Violin selections were played by Mr. Fife, followed by the Irish Jig by Gayle Kennedy, Gerald Johnston, Ruth Andrews, Patricia Kennedy and John Bernier, all dressed in Irish costume. Eddie Heffernan, in sailor attire, danced the Sailor's Hornpipe. The audience joined in a sing-song which was followed by a piano solo by Gerald Johnston.

To hurry Santa on his way, Michael Bain gave a recitation "I'll Telephone Santa" and Eddie Heffernan sang "Here Comes Santa Claus." The program closed with a recitation by George Lobb

International Control Of The Ruhr

The kind of control that has been imposed on Germany's greatest industrial region, the Ruhr valley, is no more international than the new international Danube Authority which is dominated by Russia and excludes the western powers. The Ruhr Authority has been set up by six western nations and it is their representatives and theirs alone who administer it. The six are Britain France the U.S.A. (each with three votes). Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg (each with one vote). The agreement reached last Tuesday provides for the admission of Germany (with three votes) to the Authority when Germany has a democratic and representative government.

Not only is the system of control for the Ruhr very limited in an international way, but in actual practice it will be pretty much under the thumbs of Britain and the United States. Decisions will be made by majority vote. Britain and the U.S.A. have together six votes. Their thumbs are likely to come down at the same time and to press for the same things, because both are more interested in seeing the Ruhr industries booming than are the continental countries. They France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg-have had the hard experience of being overrun by the German war machine built in the Ruhr. Together they have only six votes. When Germany is admitted to a share in Authority her three votes are more likely to be cast on the side of the Anglo-American group than on the French-Benelux side.

We do not quarrel with the settlement and the system. It is good that agreement has been reached so that the Ruhr factories can get on with their controlled business. Further, it was Britain and the U.S.A. who took the burden of the fighting which freed France and the Benelux countries from the Germans. Their voice in the settlement of Germany should therefore be the more important. But let us not pretend that the new Ruhr Authority is international in a large, altruistic way. It is international-western style.

Opulence In Sweets

Last year Canadians spent $75,000,000 on candy and gum. The sum is so large that it gums-up our imagination. Millions hunger in Asia, millions have the bare caloric necessities in Europe, and Canadians stuff their mouths and double their chins and fatten their waists on $75,000,000 worth of sweets. We are not terribly distressed about the situation, for even if we wanted to stuff foreigners with that much candy and gum and deprive ourselves, the laws of economics and the capacities of ships would not allow us to send the sweets. It is probably just as well to waste the sweets on our stomachs as to let them mildew in vaults or pollute the soil. Anyway, sugar is a good food. The army went to battle on chocolate bars and sickly-sweet tea, for it was a routine order that tea must be sweetened and the weekly diet include chocolate bars. Here are some of the succulent statistics issued by the Bureau of Statistics which has been pouring over our 1947 bill for sweets. The selling value of leading products of confectioner, cocoa, chocolate and chewing gum industries in 1947 were: Chocolate confectionery in bars, $11,-126,021; chocolate confectionery in packets, $11,178,184; sugar confectionery in bulk, $9,789,454, and in packages, $4,-217,394; chewing gum, $6,432,874; chocolate confectioney in bulk, $4,428,591; cake and other bakery products, $2,254,-057; and ice cream, $2,198,713.

Chocolate bars represented the largest part of the $76,000,000 total. Factories produced 538,991,156 bars with a selling value of $2f,126,201. Delving deeper into statistics the bureau reported that $40,556,698 worth of materials went into the manufacture think of the run there would be on of the sweets and the gum. The 9,345 employees who turned out the products | from our businesses!

were paid $12,718,309, compared with $10,295,159 in 1946. The value of the products manufactured in Ontario was set at $44,594,917, compared with $21,294,-573 for Quebec and $10,965,373 for all other provinces.

If the people of a country can afford to spend $75,000,000 on sweet foods, the country is not going to the dogs economically. In fact, it may be said that the sweeter a country's tooth, the more opulent is the country. Are not the people of the U.S.A. the greatest consumers of sweets in history? Measured that way, Canada's fortunes are rising. In' 1938, only ten years ago, Canadians spent a mere $30,489,803 on sweet foods. In 1940 the bill rose to $52,078,273. In 1947 it was $76,854,862. Judging from such figures, Canada has indeed a fat future. At present it certainly has no lean and hungry look.

No Longer Untouchable

One of Ghandi's more cherished hopes for India has been realized. The Constituent Assembly of the new Dominion of India which is drafting a Constitution has approved a clause to abolish untouchability. Thus the segregation and degradation imposed by Oriental custom and decree on millions of India's depressed classes will end. Others beside Ghandi have been horrified by the effects of the caste system on India's poor. Christian missionaries have preached against it, and thousands of enlightened natives of higher castes have worked for its abolishment.

A decree, a law forbidding its practice and providing penalties against those who might impose any disabilities against untouchables will not immediately banish untouchability from India. The custom is too deep-rooted to be wiped out by a legal proclamation. Particularly in the thousands of small villages the Hindu temples will still in practice be reserved to people of the higher castes, and segregation in separate wards and outside the villages will still continue.

Patient education and many years will be required before the forty million untouchables will realize that they have equality of status with other citizens of India and for the Brahmins to change their almost religious attitude to the untouchables who have been for centuries the polluted and polluting people.

Eric Riordon

The Canadian painter Eric Riordon died in Montreal last Thursday at the age of forty-two. He is not as wellknown in Ontario as in Quebec, partly because until very recently the Toronto and Montreal groups of painters seemed to work, as well as live, in isolation from each other, and partly because he was devoted to the Laurentian countryside, a devotion reflected in the limited range of his canvases.

Eric Riordon did not decide to make a life work of painting until about 1930. He studied at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Montreal and at the Grande Chaniere and the Academic Julien in Paris. In the relatively few years left to him as a pro-

If it flamed up it was purely spiritual, endowed with unearthly potency. If it merely quenched a fire it was not examed; it was diluted. Actually they did not waste much of the liquid on that kind of test: the fire in the guilet was sufficient proof of its being over-proof. The stuff now so discreetly on sale in the Ontario store puts out fires. I have tested it in a boardingnouse fire. Even the brandy they sell can hardly be coaxed into flame on Christmas pudging. I have tried that too!

> FOR THE RECORD: The town-clock has lost a hand. Why, I do not really know, but am half-inclined to believe the following account given me in good faith:

It is said that two bucks about town who are old enough to know better laid a bet. One (whom I must call X) wagered to present his girl friend with an hour hand of the town clock at the New Year's ball of the Prince of Wales Rangers. (Rather a timely present Chronos, Old Man Time and the like.) X secured a hacksaw and plenned to reach out saw off the hour hand when it was pointing to midnight and would therefore be most easily reached. He had to delay action for several nights because somebody left the light burning in the clock-face chamber. If he leant out the tower window when the light was on a policeman might have raised his eyes and spotted him.

When the light was finally turned off, X, sportingly accompanied by his bettor-friend Y, climbed up into the tower. He had provided himself with a skeleton key. When he reached out the east window (the side less likely to be observed) he found of course that he could not reach the hand. Therefore the saw was useless. So X took off his braces and Y his belt. An improvised lasso was made, the hour hand hooked; a quick jerk, the hand broke off, and they nearly had it. It was off but not within grasp. It clattered down, presumably to the ground. However, when they went down to look for it a police man was standing at the corner. They could have picked up the hand only at the risk of being jumped on by the strong arm of the law. So they departed, handless.

A WORD FOR THE CARMEN

Sir: I see a small squib on the second secion front mildly chiding the Cab operators for their failure to adequately serve the public on a great general holiday. It is somewhat the same as condemning Maple Leaf Gardens for not satisfying the crowds anxious to see the Stanley Cup finals. If the service is only found lacking a couple of times a year I do not think the drivers and dispatchers who carry the load need to feel defeated. The public are not altogether blameless as of 111 calls we made in 12 hours, in response to phone calls of people who had agreed to wait for a half to one nour, 29 calls were "N.G. People who had left with other cabs or friends' cars without troubling to phone cancellations. Probably the original "pnonies" On checking with other offices, Oh yes we do! Some of these calls were placed with as many as four cabs. Surely an uncalled-for waste of drivers' time and patience. Note a reference to a man and small son walking to McGill. If he were out with a small boy it undoubtedly was in bus hours. If the buses failed I feet they were the major sinners, not the hackies who are always ready to turn dollar and at Christmas, found themselves in the position of the man who only had a fork when it rained soup. Further on the page see a list of over 20 accidents, not one caus ed by a cab. The boys driving did so for long periods under trying conditions and should not be unduly castigated by people who would prohably be nervous wrecks after a couple hours of holiday traffic on icy streets So while I hold no brief for the bloated capitalistic Cab operators I really believe the drivers deserve a better recognition of a good effort with the available facilities. Sincerely, CLARE DONNELLY.

Lindsay Twp. Rejects Beer

WIARTON, Dec. 30—In a light vote Wednesday residents of Lindsay township, north of here in Bruce peninsula, strongly re-jected a bid for the sale of beer and wine within the township. Although only three of the four polls had reported tonight, there was no chance, regardless of the outcome at Miller Lake poll, the question would be endorsed. Three of the polls reported 74 opposing with 23 in favor. Miller Lake poll is not likely to record more than a 25-vote total according to the township clerk.
Cecil Hayes, clerk of the town-

Royal Commission Seeks Solution To Canada's Transport Plan

A Royal Commission armed with far-ranging investigatory powers was launcehd today on a search for the solution to Canada's trans-portation problems.

Hockey World Series Gets Cold Shoulder

Forget the idea of a hockey World Series this year, or probably any other, until the strings connecting National League clubs with those in other professional circuits are snipped. As matters shand now, a series could be a farce.

This isn't the only reason against an ice series. There's the calibre of play in the NHL which Canadian sports writers say is streets ahead of any league; the question of playoffs which would drag on into late April and the all-important life-blood of the game—gate receipts.

Seventeen of 31 editors partici-parting in the annual Canadian Press year end poll which has broached the question of a series among the NHL, American, Pa-cific Coast, and United States league champions, turned a thumbs-down on the idea. The result was announced Wednesday and even league officials were agreed.

NHL President Clarence Campbell said at his Montreal head-quarters it would be impractical at the present time to stage a series. He cited two reasons: "All the other leagues have teams operating in them which there are many similar cases.

"The extra series would curtail the playing season of participating leagues to such an extent that it would cut down consider-ably gate receipts of other teams in the league."

A year or more ago, one Natie Brown came up this way a few times as a pro wrestler. He told us in an interview that he'd fought Joe Louis shortly before Joe became heavyweight boxing champion of the world. "He outpointed me, but I never hit the deck," the exscrapper said. Recently we ran across a story by Louis-using ghost writers, of course-in Life and he spoke of the fight with Brown. It was in 1935 and was held in the Detroit stadium. Joe's story goes like this: "Mr. Jacobs hired a special train and brought all the New York sports writers out to Detroit to see the fight. Mr. Roxborough and Mr. Black talked up what this fight meant to me. They said it could start me up into where I could get maybe $100,000 a fight or better, if I showed up good in front of the New York writers. I didn't worry much but this keyed me up."

Louis hasn't much to say of the actual fight itself, just this! "Natie Brown fooled me. He didn't come out open. He came out covered and it was hard to find a hole to shoot at. I got through a few times. He cut pretty easy and I worked on his eyes, but I couldn't put him away. He stayed the 10 rounds." However, they all adjourned to a hotel for a big party and there Louis signed a contract with Jacobs. It was signed in the men's wash room of their suite as the writers took over the rest of the place. Today, Louis has to keep fighting as he still owes Jacobs $260,000 and the U.S. government $175,000. He's made a lot but also has spent a pile.

* * Game Is Called Off

No game at the Civic Arena tonight. Poor ice forced them to call off the exhibition betwixt Toronto Meteors and Legionnaires—who meet here next week, anyway, in a league match. Ice-makers ran into mild weather yesterday and now they're concentrating on putting in a good surface for the official opening Monday, the junior joust. Legion will play Meteors in Lindsay at nine Saturday eve, leaving the hall at 7.30 p.m. We understand that folks who have subscribed money for the Civic Arena will get first choice at OHA ducats for home games-but an official announcement will be made again. Reserve seats will cost a buck for senior "B" tilts, general admission being 65 cents and kids 35. A little lower rate for junior frays.

Lindsay Post gives a big front page heading to the IOOF-Lindsay junior exhibition there the other night. Couple of fights-one developing into a free-for-all-forced police to step in twice and restore order. Fans were getting into them, too, and we trust local fans leave the fighting to the players - else someone will get hurt. One spectator took a poke at a Peterborough puckist doing penance in the sin bin, which isn't good. They had 27 penalties, so it looks like the scrappy juniors are in for a lively season. ### Providence Reds Blank Lions In 5-0 Triumph

By The Canadian Press Harvey Bennett, the American Hockey League's leading goal-tender, chalked up his third shutnight when Providence Reds, leaders of the eastern section with a 20-point margin, blanked Washington Lions 5-0.

The Reds outskated the Lions all the way but were turned back time and again by Lou Crowdis, Washington's 19-year-old goalie who made 42 saves against 22

who made 42 saves against 22

Marksmen for the victors were Eddie Kullman, Ray La Plante, Roger Bedard, Jack Stoddard and Johnny Chad. Johnny Chad.
St. Louis Flyers, western divileaders, coasted to an easy 8-2 victory over Philadelphia Rockets with Barry Sullivan and Bill McComb each completing a hat-trick. Sullivan scored twice in the first period and added two more in the middle session. McComb tallied in every period. Toni Licari and Hec Pozzo scored the other St. Louis markers while Wally Stefaniew and Eric Prentice counted for the Rockets. Buffalo Bisons and Indianapolis Capitals battled to a 2-2 stale-mate in a rough-and-tumble game n which 14 minor penalties were handed out.

The Caps led 2-1 going into the final stanza and with four minutes to go Lloyd Finkbeiner tied t up for Buffalo.

Sixteen penalties including four najors for fighting, featured the Pittsburgh-Springfield encounter which the Hornets took 6-2. Sid Smith paced the winners with two goals with Rudy Migay, Bill Benson, Stan Kemp and Tod Sloan collecting singles. Rene Trudell and Doug McCurdy tal-lied for Springfield. Hershey Bears shook themelves out of a slump turning back Cleveland Barons 4-2. Mark Marquess, Arnold Kullman, Cain and Gordie Bruce blinked the red light for the Bears while Bob Solinger and Johnny Holota found the range for the Barons.

Africa Hopes To Avert Defeat In 2nd Match

JOHANNESBURG. Dec. 30 (Reuters). — Eric Rowan, dis-carded by the South African se-lectors for the third cricket test against England, figured to-day in a second-wicket partnership which greatly increased South Africa's hopes of averting defeat in the second test match. By stolid defensive methods.

Rowan (44 not out) and Bruce (37 not out) carried South Africa's overnight second. nnings total from 28 for 1 to 89

The lunch total still left South Africa 204 runs behind Eifgland's huge first-innings total of 608 runs, but with the match in its last day English hopes of forcing a decision were fading.

III-Luck Dogs Two Men In Borrowed Car

A question of misunderstanding luring a Christmas Eve party got straightened out in city police court today. Robert Lock, 20, of Toronto, and Donald Thompson, 18, of 531 Douglas Ave., were pintly fined $50 and $13.50 costs.

istrate W. R. Philp, KC, of taking a car without the permission of the owner. Lock was also found guilty of careless driving and fined an additional $10 and $2.50

G. T. Connelly of Buffalo, N.Y., testified that he had loaned his car to his brother on Christmas Eve. When he saw it the next day, there had been about $300 damage to it, he said.

Frank Connelly testified that he had driven the borrowed car to a home on Monaghan Rd., where a small Christmas party was in progress. The two accused youths had been in that home. youths had been in that holder a comparison of the control of the meat for sandwiches. The two acvolunteered to get some from friends in the city.

In his evidence, Lock said "he didn't exactly tell us to take the car, but that was the impression we got." Thompson also testified that he had received that both admitted that Connelly had made no direct suggestion and that they had not asked to use the damage to the Longhurst car.

Returning after an unsuccessful trip to try to get meat, the pair ran into trouble on the icy sur-face of Albert St. The car struck a tree, bounced and spun into the parked car of Lockie Longhurst, who was staying at 513 Albert St.

Frank Connelly said he met the two accused as they were walk-ing from the accident back to the Monaghan Rd. house and that they turned over the keys to him. They also had a camera with them, which had been in the car. The accused explained in evidence that they had taken the camera from the car so that it would not

PC Leo Murphy said that the accused had admitted taking the car and being involved in the accident. He said that driving conditions had been icy at the scene of the smash with the tree and parked car.

Magistrate Philp, commenting that the case was obvious as it was "virtually an admission of guilt," added: "Although normally I take a rather strict view in joy-riding, it must be admitted that the facts here are unusual. this type."
On the careless driving charge, to which he also pleaded guilty, Lock testified that the accelerator on the car had stuck, causing sliding on the slippery pavement and wild swinging. PC Murphy's evidence had been a long skid mark in the road.

It's a long distance between an honest storekeeper in Fraserville and an anxious man in Metiskow, Alberta. But the honesty of the one put at rest, the anxiety of the other this week. City police here Wednesday expressed back to Davies Herman Boomhower of the western town the sum of $1,360.01, which he had lost in Peterborough on Dec. 20. The purse containing the whopping big roll had been crease of 20 cents per hundred pounds of their milk announced found on George St. by Eric A. What can I do to keep him that way? I know he loves her, but he daren't show any signs of it; and she never complains, though I often see tears in her eyes. Do you suppose she catches on?

JEALOUS WIFE 4 4 4

ANSWER: The most curious thing in the whole realm of femthine psychology is the jealousy that so many wives have of their husbands' mothers. It is the basis the mother-in-law trouble that wrecks more marriages and breaks up more homes than any one think in the world.

Just why so many wives are more jealous of their husbands' other than they are of any siren, no one knows, but they are. They cannot accept the fact that a man's love for his mother and his love for his wife are two separate and distinct emotions that do not con-flict with each other. Hence, many and many a bride's first act after her marriage is to set out to alienate her husband from his mother.

Husbands Want Peace

What men want in marriage more than anything else is peace in their home. When they come home tired at night from their day's work, they want things to be running smoothly. They don't want to have to listen to arguand recriminations and of them. So many of them give into their wives and let the viragoes separate them from the mothers who bore them. But no man ever forgives the wife who makes of him a courag and a crypton. of him a coward and a craven.

A LOVING HUSBAND

ANSWER: I doubt it, for evidently your wife is more wedded to her job than she is to you and finds a career more interesting than your society. There are many women like that—women who have no domestic instincts whatever who are bored. stincts whatever, who are bored to death having to cater to a man's tastes and habits, and who consider keeping house and making a comfortable home abject slavery.

But your case is unique in that the lady doesn't want to be known as a married woman, prefers teaching brats to rearing babies, scorns the luxuries a well-to-do husband offers and refuses to live with him—only permits him to call upon aer twice a week.

The problem of a woman who has a phantom husband and who wants to be regarded as single, though married, is beyond my ability to solve. You had better submit the conundrum to the $64 questionnaires.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I are in a constant fight over my pet cat, simply because he hates cats. We will pick an argument over it and he will get so mad at me that he won't speak to me for days at a time. It makes me so unhappy that I am thinking of breaking up our marriage.

What would you advise in case like this? DISTRESSED

+ + + ANSWER: Chloroform the cat. Surely a good husband is worth more to you than pussy. To break up your home, to be left lonely and perhaps to have to go to work to support yourself just because you and your husband do not have the same taste in pets will

what the declarer finds in the dummy

That none-too-hot-looking dummy is really good enough to make 6-Hearts a sure thing for East unless a club is opened or South holds up the diamond A until the third round of the suit. If he does anything else, East can get club discard on the diamonds. There was no difficulty to the making of the 4-Spades contract if South manages to play the clubs effectively, as happened at every table. One trick was lost in each side suit.

DO YOU KNOW IT ALL?
THAT IS exactly what is involved if somebody asks you what is the best way to bid an extremely freakish hand. If you give a firm answer of just what should be done—being sure that anything else would be wrong—you probably are not very experienced in this game of contract bridge. The very best players in the world take different positions regarding the bidding of any real freak ever submitted to a bunch of them. And the smartest of all admit that they are not sure at all about the best course.

accept the lowest or any tender.

F. T. COLLINS, (CIO-CĈL).

On December 15 the Ontario Labor Relations Board turned down an application from the UE to become the legal bargaining agency for Outboard Marine Worwers. The Board stated that it was satisfied the UE did not represent a majority of the employees, thus leaving the Inde-pendent Outboard Marine Workers' Union still the accredited baraining agent.

Now that the UE has received this rebuff, the Steelworkers are out to organize the employees. The Steelworkers claim a mem-bership of 930,000 in the United States and Canada and say they re one of the largest unions in the world.

According to the leaflet which was issued from sub-district headquarters at Oshawa, it has branches operating in Port Hope Bowmanville, Oshawa and Whitby, under the direction of Re-presentative M. J. Fenwick. Mr. Fenwick has been assigned by the Steelworkers to "help organize employees in the several unoranized plants in Peterborough Friction between the Steelorkers and the UE is considered inevitable as the latter has not yet given up hopes of organizing the Outboard plant.

First Council Meeting In '49 Monday Morning Peterborough's Council of 1949

begins the municipal year with the inaugural at 11 a.m. Monday. Mayor-elect M. J. Swanston has nvited Most Rev. Gerald Berry f St. Peter's Cathedral to offer the opening prayer, invoking the blessing of God upon the endeavors of the Council.

The oath of office will be taken by Mayor Swanston and the five aldermen who were recently aldermen who were recently elected for two years. They are: Aldermen Dodds, J. E. Gillespie, Dr. Herbert Young, Arthur Bur-rows and Adam Sands.

The public is invited by the council to attend the modest ceremony with which it prefaces its year of business.

They will incidentally see the the decorative effect in the council chamber, the walls in two blending tones of green, bright and attractive. At the conclusion of the address to the council by Mayor Swanston, there will be a committee of the whole session for the striking of the standing committees of the year.

The last invocation by a representative of the Roman Catholic clergy and people was in 1944 when Bishop J. R. McDonald, now of Antigonish, was invited by Mayor James Hamilton to offer prayer on that occasion. And, preiously the late Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelley during his rectorship at the Cathedral, conducted the service.

Say Export Trade Boom Sets Record

Increased Trading With United States Brings Big Boost

OTTAWA, Dec. 31. - (CP) Canada's export trade is booming, due mainly to greatly enlarged shipments to the United States, the Bureau of Statistics said Thursday in reporting November exports of $293,900,000 against $253,100,000 last year.

The November total was only slightly below the peacetime high of $307,000,000 registered in October

With gains over 1947 in all months except June, the aggregate for the 11 months ended Nov. 30 rose to $2,759,000,000, an increase of $250,300,000 over the corresponding period of last year and only $15,900,000 under the total for the full year 1947.

The growth in Canadian exports to the U.S. was outstanding, presumably due to efforts under the government's austerity program to stimulate shipments to that

Port Policeman Says He Shot 'Monster'

MOMBASA, Kenya, Dec. 31— (Reuters)—Assistant Inspector J. T. Brennan, in charge of the Mombasa port police, today claimed he shot the "Kilindini monster" in Mombasa harbor Thursday.

The inspector said the "mon-ster," known to generations of Africans as "the black thing" and said by witnesses to have a head like a bull, was a tree root about 12 feet long on which a puff adder was marooned.

Sixteen people, including five Europeans, claimed to have seen the monster, described as grayish brown in color, about six feet across and covered with scales. Witnesses said the tree root could not be the "monster." Snakes can swim, but not submerge for long period and it now is a month since the "monster"

OTTAWA, Dec. 31 - (CP). In the opinion of a leading scientist, Canada has the terrain and the instrument that offer the world an unequalled chance for rapid understanding of how the rapid understanding of how the continents came into existence some 2,000,000,000 years ago and what has happened to them since. The instrument—the aerial photograph—also offers Canada a swift shortcut—to the geological knowledge of her Arctic, Col. J. T. The joyous welcome given the New Year will subside gradually. In its place will come thoughtful consideration of what we are to make of the 365 days which loom ahead during this 49th year of the 20th Century . . .

Nearing the halfway mark, our nation is at the pinnacle of its worldly power and prestige. No community in the country can boast freer access to facilities for happy and comfortable home life. Our people are earning more than they ever have before.

We the undersigned, conscious of the fact that these freedom, realize that to insure these blessings for everyone -whether one be in industry, business, agriculture or among the millions of productive workers in our landwe must work together to preserve, share and enhance our mutual good fortune.

We echo the greeting "Happy New Year". We want to add that we hope it will be another and even more "Prosperous New Year for All". We pledge ourselves to work with you to make it so.

Mayor Ovens: A Valedictory

Mayor W. G. Ovens is retiring from municipal office after serving two years as alderman and three as mayor. His period of service has coincided with momentous times in Peterborough's development. When he was first elected to the Council the city was approaching its wartime industrial peak. He took office as Mayor at the beginning of the first post-war year, when civic problems arising from the transition to peace were becoming insistently great. Important and difficult tasks were therefore his, as well as a position of honour. He has carried out the tasks with a high degree of competence, probity and industry, and has given to the office of Chief Magistrate a dignity in keeping with the honour which was accorded him this year when on behalf of the citizens he received the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and the Governor-General of Canada.

Mayor Ovens may justly be praised for his advocacy of both the St. Joseph and the Civic hospital projects; his support of the civic employees' pension scheme which has become a model for other Ontario cities; his active and successful endeavour to secure new housing; his close attention to a multiplicity of municipal matters and his generous expenditure of time and thought on them. Much of his work has not yet blossomed on our streets, but the plans have been laid, the direction determined, and when we have our new City Hall, the Memorial Centre, an adequate sewage system and City Planning in action, it will be realized that W. G. Ovens had a large share in the spade work.

His regime has been remarkable for two characteristics. There has never been better harmony and understanding between the Council and other bodies, civic and county, than during his terms as Mayor. The citizens of Peterborough have never had a mayor who was as close to them. He has with decorum and friendliness brought the office of mayor to the people: at dances, civic receptions, charitable teas, church socials, welfare clubs, wherever people have 2000 purposes, ne nas appe the prestige of his office and his own geniality upon them.

He has served Peterborough well, both as head of the Council and as the people's mayor. We hope that he will not retire permanently from public service, for his experience and qualities are too valuable to be withheld.

Hatless Hatmakers

The lid is off the British hat trade. In fact, the trade is a bit up in the air because too many male British heads are unhatted, exposed to the air. In Canada the hatters have been conducting a poster advertising campaign to shame Canadian men into wearing hats. The British hatters are taking other steps, acting on the principle that reform begins at home.

So widespread has become the habit of not wearing hats that in Denton and Stockport, the Lancashire hatmaking centre, 20 per cent. of the workers do not wear hats. In southern England 35 per cent. are hatless. So 7,000 workers in the felt-hat industry are being urged to set an example to Britain by wearing the products they manufacture. There are notices posted outside hat factories: "Don't come in here without wearing a hat". In addition to these disciplinary hat-factory measures, the industry has set aside £25,000 for a "weara-hat" publicity campaign which opened on December 10th.

It does seem appropriate that workers in hat factories should wear hats, at least when the workers are in public wiew. Of course, that sort of reasoning party which we the message "Dress can be carried too far. Should men in slik stocking plants wear slik hose? literally. Your hostess might be a bit Should everybody in dental equipment shocked at your appearance if you arplaces wear false teeth? Should the men rived straight from the bath. Further, in in cosmetic factories attempt to set a this kind of weather, you might catch fashion for heavily rouged cheeks? It | cold.

would be rather upsetting to see the men in the Peterborough Lock Works linked to their wives on a Sunday stroll by lock and chair, to have Westclox employees time their prayers according to an alarm clock, Canada Packers men condemned to a diet of sausage, and the canoe company craftsmen ride to work via the canal in a canoe.

Perhaps the British hatters are a bit mad in their demand that their employees wear hats. It does seem rather a restriction on personal liberty, but some say that Britons are getting used to restrictions.

Holiday Disasters

Every year at this time, and usually on the first publishing day after Christmas, the newspapers are full of stories about fires in homes, children smothering, occupants fleeing a flaming house in the middle of a cold night, traffic accidents, automobile collisions, violent death and gaping wounds. Why this parade of shocking events?

The week between Christmas and New Year's is, of course, usually a lean one for political and international news. There is therefore more space on the front page for stories of accidents and fires. Further, the first publishing day after Christmas comes usually after a two-day holiday, so that news of two days' fires and accidents appears in one day's issue of a paper.

There are, of course, more fires and accidents at Christmas and New Year's than at ordinary times. Christmas tree lights, decorative tinsel littering a house, candles galore, dry Christmas trees, tissue - paper wrappings, fire - places alight, and furnaces going full blast on cold days: these increase the fire hazard in homes at this season. As the danger increases, the occupants of a house must increase their caution.

More traffic accidents occur at this holiday season because drivers are in a festive and care-free mood. They relax their habitual caution. Also, people (pedestrians, passengers and drivers alike) drink more at this time than at others. The cup that cheers even if it does not inebriate is not a good dish to have in one's hand immediately before venturing out into the streets. It is especially dangerous if one's hands are next going to be at the wheel of a car. People do not have a happy new year if they damage their own limbs, or worse, somebody else's.

Predictions

A common pastime at this season is to guess the old year out and outguess the new one in. The chief news is predictions. An expert announces that if New York were A-bombed the port of New York would be ended, caput, finito. International soothsayers predict that "a relatively modest amount of American machinery can tip the scales" in Yugo-slavia and "switch Tito to the Western camp". Political guessers say that Lord Mountbatten will be given a Cabinet position in the British Labour government. The arrest of Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary will, it is predicted, start a war between church and state the growers or soyueans. We could make predictions too. We might say that the sun may not rise toprove us wrong before the event. It is, of course, safer to make predictions which people will have forgotten at the end of the year unless the guesses turned out to have been good. Then the prophet can remind people about his prediction. It is also safer to hedge, to clothe your guesses in two dresses so that whatever the kind of party, there is something to suit it.

We have been reading what one clothes designer-named Tina Leser, if you must know-has had to say about women's fashions in the new year: "The shape of 1949 is based largely on unexpectedly draped skirts and tiny, moulded tops. Sometimes, the skirt drapes up in strange places, sometimes in front, to the side or back. And sometimes it's straight". If Tina Leser is as good a designer as equivocator, she is really a person of address.

Diary Of Year's End

SUNDAY: Lent a hand in making up the actors for some Boxing Day theatricals this evening. It has occurred to me more than the make-up chair is akin to the -analyst's couch: a stranger seats himself and I say to him "What are you?" "I'm an actuary", he replies, nervously; "No, no, what are you in the play?" I say; "Oh, I'm s brigand", says he, and I search his actuarial face for possible points of brigandry which I can emphasize. Even in the mildest face there are possibilities of ferocity, and in the battered mug of a pugilist one may discern omething of Little Nell. As I go with the greasepaints and false hair the ctuary rolls his eyes nervously, like a horse, and when I try to paint his mouth he sucks it in, presenting me with a grim scar; no voluptuary, this man. Yet the next man will expand and beam like a tickled puppy as I rub grease into him. But all have one conviction in common; they all think they are dreadfully plain, and they tell me so in undertones as if imparting a shameful secret And yet they are not plain; most faces have it in them to be interesting, if not handsome It is the plain souls which make the plain faces, and not any lack of good features.

MONDAY: Talking to a man who has been living for some time in the tropics and who has returned for the Christmas season only; he exhausted his picturesque vocabulary in giving his opinion of our winter cli-mate. It is a horrible climate, true enough but I would not change it for the tropics; to eat one's Christmas dinner under a banyan tree, waited upon by natives who were in the last stages of yaws and hookworm, while boa constrictors dropped from overhead (attracted by the brandy sauce) and peccadilloes stang one under the table with their envenomed tails, might please some people, but not me. I am a northerner, and while I do not pretend to like rain and snow, they are native to me, and I to them. Few men want a new personality; they would simply like their present one, with improvements: so it is with

TUESDAY: Received an excellent pamphlet in the mail this morning which had a picture of a beautiful girl smoking a cigarette on the front, and one of a hideous crone smoking a pipe on the back. The inside pages warned me against the cigarette habit in words of baroque elegance: "Automobiles, cigarettes and liquor dives have swept America into one big whiripool of whoredoms", it said, and specified plane wrecks, labour strikes and industrial and economic unrest as a few sample whoredoms. "It cannot be emphasized too strongly that cigarettes are rapidly bringing our nation's motherhood to ROT! ! !" said the pamphlet (written by a Mr. Hart, of California)....I thoroughly enjoy a good pam-phlet, and particularly the noble literary style in which pamphlets in general are couched. "Whoredoms" is a word which I never use myself except when describing the activities of censors, temperance fanatics, or writers who use three exclamation points at one time-really serious menaces to society in fact. Yet Mr. Hart does not hesitate to apply it to anything connected with a combu tion engine, or to the stimulants with which young mothers fortify themselves for their endless battle with recalcitrant youth. I cannot but admire his vigour.

WEDNESDAY: Bought a pocket diary for 1949 this morning; all I could get was an affair which squeezes three days into a single Why do the manufacturers of diaries assume that the life of a man is a chronicle of events so small that they can be crammed into such a tiny space?.... Called on some times. They are a happy family, and one can feel something of their happiness as soon as one sets foot across the threshold. It is sheer morrow, and there is nobody who can pig-headedness to insist that we do not impress our character on the places where we live. There are happy and unhappy homes, gay and sad houses, witty houses and dull ones. Why, I can even tell the politics and religious denomination of a house from the smell in the front hall.

> 4. 4 4 THURSDAY: Spent some time in a hotel today which was decorated with one of the most remarkable collections of pictures I have ever seen, obviously from the hand of an untutored but enthusiastic local master. The American connoisseurs who seek "primitives" and go into fantods over Grandma Moses should see this hotel, and for a small sum I will tell where it is. The pictures were mainly Shakespearean scenes—Othello bragging to Desdemona, Othello bragging to the Doge, and so forth. But one ortrayed Cleopatra lying in a hammock, being swung to and fro by a naked child which appeared to be suffering from sway-back, prolapsed ab-domen and windy spasms; it was clearly in a pitiable state, but Cleopatra was grinning contentedly and idly dangling one foot, about the size of an infant's, in a coquettish manner. A black girl, resembling a monkey, stood by holding what appeared to be a spittoon. I dare say that any collector of primitives could pick up this splendid item for a few thousand dollars, and hold it while the mar-

GYPING THE CHILDREN

Sir: Who is responsible for setting the price of 35c admission for children at Civic Arena? It seems to me, that the slogan "We love our children", used in the canvassing campaign has been lost somewhere along the way. now appears to me that this admission charge for children has been set for the purpose of COWN COM LOS WOODS room for adults who would pay the higher admission. Does everything have to turn into a money grab?

The public donated the rink. Now, make sure (you price setters) that you charge enough adult admission, too, to keep out the little guy, or at least have the games around pay day and maybe he can squeeze enough out of the pay cheque to see a game.

I was a canvasser for donations for the rink. We were instructed to specify that the rink was being built for the children, many gave donations with this in mind. Now, I feel that we have been crossed up.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake (Ps. 23: 1-3.) + + +

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. (Prov. 3: 5, 6.) 4 4 4

For thus saith the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel; In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength ...

mit y is when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left. (Isa. 30: 15, 21.) + + +

O God, thou hast taught me from my youth: and hitherto have I declared thy won drous works... Thy righteousness also, O God, is very high, who hast done greathings: O God, who is like unto thee! (Ps. 71: 17, 19.)

4 4 4 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. (Ps. 23: 5.)

.But the annoying thought persisted. How right were these ingoing over a shoot, or falls, at the fernal pugwuzzies, had I not better change my thinking and make head of the rapids in a bark others do the same, make them realize the pressing need for conservation, if the race is to survive and prosper.

WHAT A MEAL that was. Almost as good as the Christmas Day spread. It consisted of pot-roasted jackrabbit, baked potatoes, creamed carrots, stewed corn and sweet pickles. Then for dessert, there was deep apple pie with cream. I gorged myself, particularly on that big jack. He must have weighed 10 pounds, and the flesh was so tender, so tasty, so satisfying. After the evening meal I lolled in my favorite chair, turned out the lights, and watched the crazy flickering of the flames in the fireplace. The family had gone to a show, so I was alone with my thoughts, and my recollections. New Year's Day was just two days away, so I revelled in a bit of retrospect. I closed my eyes and peered deep into the pool of memory, an irridescent mirror reflecting the memories of 1948. They piled one over the other, like billowing, fleecy clouds racing across a summer sky. I felt smug, content, satisfied. Why shouldn't I? After many years it seemed that people were awakening to the need for conservation, for intelligent management of our renewable resources.

EVERYWHERE THE HORIZON of the future was rosy. The Federation of Anglers had foined all sportsmen groups across Ontario. The Dept. of Lands and Forests was co-operating and making grand progress in their long-range program—then I must have dropped off to sleep.... What's this, the pugwuzzies, about 20 of them, muscular fellows, carrying dry grape vines. Without a greeting they attacked me, and squirm as I might, I was helpless. They bound my legs with the strong vine, lashed my wrists behind my back, then carried me off. We soared across the housetops to the east. It was speak well of anybody without 1782 were living in Bedford, N.H. bitterly cold, so cold I seemed to detect feather icicles suspended in good reason, Mr. Mulvany con- John Gilchrist was brought up in the air over the undulating white carpet of snow. The sombre pines on Brickyard hill, like tall sentinels in a vast expanse of white took on a greener hue. Then we were over Maloney's swamp, and circling a huge pine stump which I knew to be hollow. With a swoop the pugwuzzies went lower and before I knew it we were inside the stump. It seemed to be a huge amphitheatre filled with pugwuzzies of every description.

> AS MY EYES became used to the queer yellowish-green light, I saw I was before some sort of tribunal. On a huge dais sat three very old characters and above their heads was written "Truth, Justice, Faith". Below them was a lesser personage who held a long piece of paper in his hands. A jury was to the left, but instead of pugwuzzies, there was one of every kind of animal and bird, except the out and out predators. They had the bodies of pugwuzzies, but their own heads. I spotted mink, otter, muskrat, deer, moose, elk, Canada Goose, squirrels, quail, partridge and many others. Guards armed with pine-knot clubs were everywhere, and suddenly over the assembly, a voice which I recognized as that of the West Wind, hollered "Order in the court room". I looked up into the stern faces of the three judges, and only the one "Faith" seemed benevolent. Then the clerk or sheriff started to unroll this paper and to my amazement, I saw it was a roll from a teletype machine. + + + + +

A HOLLOW VOICE, intoned, "Peter McGillen, earthling No. 63 selected for conservation propaganda, example and practice, hearken to the charge". Then another voice said "Proceed with the indictment", and I realized my offences were on that roll of teletype paper. Then the character started to read. I didn't like his face, nor his voice, nor his manner. You are charged that during 1949 you failed to sell the people of the need for conservation of our natural resources. Fully 90 per cent are still unaware of the great need that exists and your work should have included a program of education especially among the school age groups. "That is number one", he called and the jury nodded their heads in unison. Then he started on the second count, "People have been lulled into a sense of false security about our timber resources. You know the period of exploitation is not over, you know that little or nothing has been done to reforest cut over areas, you know that a Royal Commission has reported in 25 years the situation will be critical. You have failed to point out these facts. That's charge number two", and the heads nodded again.

"YOU HAVE SPENT valuable time writing about trifling things, when you could have explained the dangers of soil erosion and how farmers could maintain a high soil fertility on their acres. You have looked at barren sandy hills, and shook your head, but you did nothing to correct it. ### Leman Going Strong After 27 Years

TORONTO, Dec. 31.—(CP)—A lot of memorable events have happened to the Toronto Maple Leafs Ball club in the past quarter-century and one official who has been with them during the entire period and remembers most of those events.

Arthur Leman, who began as the Leafs' treasurer 27 years ago, is still at the job—a continuous record unmatched in the International Baseball League.

Leman, who has carried the nickname Deacon for years, has outlasted seven presidents and 17 managers of the club, but flatly won't tell his age. His hair is grey and thinning though—he wears a black Homburg even in his office at the Fleet Street stadium, home of the Leafs.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Montreal Canadiens repuised oronto's bid for fourth place last night by shading the hot-and-cold Maple Leafs 3-2 on a third-period goal by soph winger Norm Dussault.

The loss sank Toronto deeper into fifth spot, three points back of the Habitants, but Happy Day's crew get another chance to close the gap when they play host to Montreal Saturday night.

Last night's game between hese arch rivals of the National Hockey League was a real thrill-er, with the teams sticking strictly to fast, wide-open hockey that kept the 11,177 Forum fans on the edges of their seats through-out. Referee Bill Chadwick had things under control all the way, handing out three penalties to

Offensive Highlight

The Rocket's marker was the offensive highlight of the night-and came while Ca. diens were playing a man short. A back-pass on a Toronto power play skidded out to centre ice, and Richard set sail for the disc. He out-distanced Leafs' Jim Thomson, raced in all alone on Turk Broda, pulled the netminder out of position and pushed the puck home.

This first-period goal gave Montreal a 2-0 lead and came two minutes after Rip Riopelle notched the first Hab counter. Toronto cut the margin to 2-1 before the first period ended on a goal by wild Bill Ezinicki, who, by the way, went penalty-free for the second game in a row.

An elbowing penalty to Murph
Chamberlain gave Toronto a chance to even it up in the middle session. Don Metz, just re-called from the Leafs' Pittsburgh farm, clubbed the puck past Dur nan on a power play with Ted Kennedy drawing an assist.

SPECIAL HOCKEY BUSES

Happy New Year, folks, our best to you in the coming twelve nonths. At this time of year, you can't improve on Bobbie Burns when he sang:

And there's a hand, my trusty fiere! And gies a hand o' thine! And we'll tak a right gude willie waught. For auld lang syne.

For auld lang syne, my dear, For auld lang syne, We'll tak a cup o' kindness vet For auld fang syne.

Not just sure what a "willie waught" is, but we'll take a chance on a short one, say two fingers. But not while driving, no, sir! Let's all have fun tucking away the old year and welcoming the new one, but play it safe. Old 1948 wasn't a bad year in local sports, in fact 'twas pretty good for Peterborough. We got artificial ice for curling, a new natural-ice rink was built, sports generally boomed here and a number of titles came this way. Games for old and young. girls, boys, women and men, had a bang-up year all around, Spectators turned out in larger numbers than ever before.

* * * Titles Came To Us

Legion won their OHA group and went's piece ere being rubbed clicked for what proved to be out. PCVS cagers had another fine season, as did the girls and men's basketball teams here. Curling and then lawn bowling were the most successful yet. Alley bowling, too. Softballers packed 'em in, and the Petes won the COBL championship. Lacrossers repeated for lifted the puck high into the cage while Broda was down on his knees about eight feet out of and tennis went over big, as did badminton, soccer and other sports. Our minors also had a whale of a time in ball, lacrosse, bockey, etc. Yeah, a good year here.

> Sports lost some real friends, also. A few who come to mind are Art Pagett Sr., Tom Hooper, Fred Hickey, Ernie Legion, Herb Ralph, and there were others. Glad to see Ott Cranfield on the mend. You meet a lot of good guys and girls in sports and there are a lot you don't meet or just rarely-those behind the scenes who encourage athletics in every way possible, but keep out of the limelight. To those, we'd like to say thanks on behalf of the youngsters aided. And to all the good fans who pay the freight and give out with cheersofor the youth of Peterborough. And city and district athletes and of-

Let's Encourage 'Em

Let's stay in there pitching for the coming year. Bigger and better games, more and more fun for everyone. Sports are healthy, good training and entertaining. We should all encourage them as much as possible. They cost money, of course, but it costs plenty not to have them, too. We're looking forward to a good hockey season — necessarily a short one until we get artificial ice—and some keen basketball games through the winter and spring months, Fun at the mat matches, and good fellowship at the curling rink. With a raft of summer sports later on, followed by the autumnal review. Yes, we anticipate another fine sports' year here. * * * * *

Civic Arena will be officially opened on Monday night at 8.30 with an OHA junior "B" scheduled fixture. First one of the season, pitting North Toronto Lions against our Triple Link team - also known as IOOF-ers and Oddfellows. Coach Archie Weir has a strong local squad lined up, consisting of speedy and husky youngsters in good shape, and they'll give the Toronto team a battle from the first whistle. It shapes up as a dandy to open the new rink, and no doubt a big crowd will start off the new year by taking this one in. Hope the weather keeps cool enough for a fast sheet of ice.

Getting On That List

We're told, though indirectly, that the way to get on the subscribers' list at the arena is to write there, making application. Your name will be put on the list and that entitles you to two reserved seats for each senior "B" game. You may pick up those ducats anytime up to 10 a.m. of the day of the game; after that they go on general sale. You're not bound to use them at any or all games, nor is there extra charge to be placed on the list. Probably, those who previously donated toward the rink will get first choice if there's a big rush to get on the subscribers' list. Any further info may be

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press Toronto last night didn't produce any change among the leaders in National Hockey League scoring race, but one Leaf and one Habitant marksman edged closer to the select circle. Toronto's Ted Kennedy and Bill Reay of Montreal each garnered a point to take over eighth place with 23 points apiece, one behind a pair of Boston sharpshooters. Pete Babando and Eddie Sandford, and Chicago's Bill Mosienko, who are deadlocked with 24 points. Doug Bentley of Chicago still is tops with 33 points.

Doesn't Want Radio Shows

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec 31-(AP) Danny Thomas, Toledo's gift to the comedy world, says he'll neer again do a regular radio show.

"I am convinced that the minds who run radio don't know anything about show business," re-marked Danny, who has had forays into the world of commercial radio. "It's this way: After you have spent all your life to get where you are, they try to send you where you don't want to be." Meanwhile, Danny's film career is drawing renewed interest. As the result of his work at the Darryl Zanuck testimonial din-ner, 20th-Fox bigwigs have been

Canadian Skiing Governed By Two Systems BY BILL GRAHAM

Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. DONAT, Que., Dec. 31— (CP)—Allais and Arberg may mean little to you—but those who want to impress the after-ski fireside group should learn what it's all about.

The day of the barrel staves and the river bank runs have disappeared and only those who talk learned about telemarks, christies, sitzmarks and gelandesprungs, have a chance of being classed as real skiers by the termonscious followers of the chilly

When the trick term and catchy When the trick term and catchy names have been mastered, the next question to be fired at you will probably be: "Do you use the Allais or Ariberg method?"

Depending on what school of skiing your questioner is an advocate of, you may make the right answer. But if you don't—you have a battle on your hands.

Through the length and breadth

Through the length and breadth of the Laurentian hills there is no agreement between Allais and Arlberg men. And there isn't much hope of a sound decision on which method is best.

The Allais or parallel system was introduced to Canada by Emile Allais, French instructor and former world champion who last year coached Canadian Olympic team skiers and taught in the Queoec City region. It is based on body movements or weight shifts, keeping the skis as close as possible together, al-though as all skiers know, the boards sometimes have ideas of boards sometimes have ideas of their own on what route to take. The Ariberg or snowplow system originated in St. Anton am Arlberg, Austria. Most fam-ous of the Arlbergers is Hannes Schneider, who long has been an exponent of this technique. The snowplow is a movement where the weight is thrown on the in-side edges of the skis and the points are brought together in a near-V. This reduces speed and from this position, by shifting the weight to either foot, the stem turn develops,

In Quebec province—where both systems are taught— controversy has waged the last few years as to which is the better. In the Quebec City region, Lionel Terray, top-notch instruc-tor from France has been imported as chief assistant to Fritz Loosli, a leading teacher of the Allais system.

In the Laurentians, north of Montreal, the trend is toward Canadian and European professionals who believe in the Arlberg

But in the end, system don't seem to matter too greatly. Skiers who master the initial lessons develop individual habits and peculiarities which throw their technique into a class all its own, unidentifiable with either of the two main systems. two main systems.

CANADIAN NEWS EVENTS PLACED IN CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER

SPY HEARINGS—During the hot summer onths of 1948, the House of un-American Activities Committee examined witness after witness in endeavoring to put a finger on Communist spy activity in the United States. Main testimony came from Whittaker Chambers, magazine editor and admitted former nunist. He named Alger Hiss, former state department official, as a leading fig-ure in the Red Spy circle. This is the famous confrontation scene on August 29, when Robert Stripling, centre, committee investigator, pointed to Whittaker Chambers, right, and asked Alger Hiss (left) if he recognized him. Hiss at the time denied knowing Chambers. Biggest break came in December when microfilms described as copies of secret documents were found in a pumpkin on Chambers' farm, near Westminster, Md. The spy probes were re-opened and were

Of these, capital expansion accounted for the spending of about $3,000,000,000 in 1948; it is too early to say whether it will be as great in 1949; but it certainly will be very heavy. If there is a fall at all in exports it should not be great. Re-armament demands are likely to be heavier rather than less.

Record Volume of Traffic Handled By CPR

By W. A. MATHER

President of C.P.R. MONTREAL, Dec. 31-During 1948 the Canadian Pacific, despite handling a record volume of traffic, did not share to the same degree in Canadian prosperity as other major industries. Rapidly mounting railway wage and material costs, with only partial compensation to cover these higher charges from the freight rate increase, has placed the company in a critical financial posi-

On the one hand, gross earnings will reach an all-time high. On the other, working expenses have climbed so rapidly that net earnings of the company will be at one of the lowest levels in years.

The contrast between record gross and declining net earnings ous position in Canadian economy. The demand for its railway services to carry the expanding industrial output of the nation and to service Canada's foreign trade commitments calls for fin-ancial stability of the highest order. Therefore, to meet rapidly rising operating expenses, and to construct sorely needed equip-ment, adequate rate revenues are urgently needed. Earnings Trebled

This condition is highlighted by the fact that in 1948 the gross earnings will be approximately three times those of the low depression year of 1933 while the net earnings are not expected to reach the figure of that year. In other words, the company in 1948 has done three times as much work in providing vital transportation services to the nation for a net return below that of economies in all phases of its operations. As a result of these conditions the company, in July 1948, applied for an immediate interim increase of 15 per cent on freight rates and a request for an over-all increase of 20 per cent. This application was later revised in re-lation to steadily mounting costs, and, on December 7, a request was made to the Board of Transport Commissioners for a 20 per cent increase in freight rates with a hearing requested immediately before the general freight enquiry. While the company, of neces-sity, has had to curtail expenditures to meet its immediate fin-ancial obligations, progressive plans for the improvement of its equipment and services have been worked out consistent with its financial ability to pay. Likewise, the management is fully cognizant of the necessity for the railway industry to provide modern equip-ment and services at a period in history when Canada's national income and employment are at

It is also an accepted fact that few countries in the world depend to the same extent on transportation as Canada, and with this na-tion's domestic and export trade at peak levels, every effort is being made by the railways, despite their financial plight, to match the advances which are being made along the whole Canadian economic front.

HILL WEDDELL &

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (CP).

—At the tap-roots of most labor disputes, say three top United States economists, is "the haunting fear of another depression."

The Council of Economic Advisers, in its third annual report to President Truman, says removal of that fear must be a main objective of government.

"So long as it overhangs, no group can be expected to surrender its immediate prospects of gain in favor of a future that is too hazy and threatening to be relied upon."

The council, set up in 1946 to analyze and interpret economic development and to guide government business methods, is headed by Dr. Edwin G. Nourse. Its report provides one basis for the State-of-the-Union, address.

Into the report is written an implication that "the occasional breakdown" in labor-management negotiations is not as serious as it may seem on the sur

Recognition of this would reduce the number of work stoppages by introducing broader perspective into wage negotiations."

"Without this, there is little point in asking moderation for workers who have a strategic postion which enables them to obtain more, or of an employer who is in such a strong position that he can compel settlement upon terms less favorable to workers."

New Politicians Flocking To Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (CP)

This is a traditionally busy week on Capitol Hill.

On the eve of another long session of law-making newly-elected Senators and Representatives are flocking to Washington for next Monday's opening of the Bist Congress. The "outs" of the fading 80th are packing up to go home.

A whispering echo of the election of last Nov. 2 will be heard today when remnants of the once-proud Republican dominated 80th meet to adjourn. Three days later, the new congress will be in action with Democrats holding power.

Dean of the departing legislators is Senator Authur Capper (Rep. Kan.) at 83 a veteran of 30 years in the senate. He did not seek re-election this year.

With him goes one of the biggest collections of autographed pictures of Capitol Hill celebrities. Among the photographs is one of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, autographed in 1909

here, there is an abundance of flowers to be seen these days. This Christmas season is the top season of the year for the florists as they supply blooms as Christmas gifts and corsages for the ladies.

The only rival time is Easter, when there is a large demand for Easter lilies.

This week there has been three major dances—the Collegiate "At Home," the Firemen's Ball and the Holly Hop—and those ladies who dressed in formal evening clothes all wore corsages.

A Water St. florist estimates A water St. florist estimates that 200 were purchased for at At Home dance alone; and altogether he has sold about 400 this week. And each of these corsages would have several roses, gardenias and perhaps an orchid.

Roses continue to be the favor-ite flower. Florists explain that this is because they grow the year round providing the temperature is maintained at 70 to 72 degrees. When the Spring comes, however, chrysanthemums, sweet reas and chrysanthemums, sweet peas and carnations come into popularity

Although the total volume of flowers handled this Christmas is about the same as last, monetary returns are down about 10 per cent. One explanation is that the period of peak prosperity is passed; people have less spare money and consequently spend less on their purchases, including

Once the New Year has been celebrated, the floral business will decline until the St. Valentine's trade perks it up.

Local people who order roses Toronto. It is estimated that on Wednesday there was scarcely a rose that could be purchased in the whole city.

Reason for this is that Toronto florists buy from day to day on the cheapest market, while in Pe-terborough consignments are ar-ranged by contract. Floral wholesalers supply their regular cus-tomers first.

Besides the fluctuating seasonal demand for blooms there is the steady request due to funerals and patients in hospital.

To All Happy New Year

Business life is becoming more and more complex with each year that passes, and it is something of a blessing that a tradition such as Christmas and New Year's exists to divert our minds momentarily from affairs of business to a realization that back of all businesses are human individuals in personal contact. In the final analysis, our world can become no better or no worse than the relationship established among these individ-

The degree of our sincere interest in the personal happiness of one another and the measure of our translation of that into earnest personal concern, will determine the success or failure of our mission in life.

Thursday was elected national president of the Co-operative Commonwealth University Federation at the closing session of the third national convention.

Other officers elected: John Burton of Humboldt, Sask., national secretary; James McNeill, national treasurer. Both are from the University of Saskatchwan.

Vice-presidents include: Cen-tral-Eastern Region, Arthur Rockwerg, Sir George Williams College, Montreal; Western-Cen-tral Region, Morgan Bebee, Ut-ica, NY, Queen's University. The convention adopted a

The convention adopted a number of resolutions, dealing with education and international affairs. A resolution was passed supporting admission of Israel to the United Nations.

Another resolution called on Canada to stop shipping arms to China and to seek a peaceful settlement of the Chinese Civil War through UN.

The CCUF also agreed to:

1—Endeavor to establish international democratic socialism on an international basis by affiliating with the International Union of Socialist Youth.

2—Try to obtain larger pro-Union of Socialist Youth.

2—Try to obtain larger provincial grants for universities.

3—Urge government action be taken to establish higher minimum standards and quality of opportunity in education throughout Canada.

Trading Light In Livestock During Week

TORONTO, Dec. 31 — (CP)— Trade was light on the Livestock Market here this week as many buyers decided to make a real holiday out of the season and kept away from the yards. How-farmers did not bother sending many cattle in and there was no holdover.

Cattle prices were strong to 50 cents higher on all grades ex-cept weighty steeds which sold from $1-$1.50 lower on Thursday after hanging around waiting for buyers since the opening of trade on Tuesday. Calves, hogs, sheep and lambs were unchanged.

Cattle receipts totalled 3,052 head. Weighty steers sold at $20-$22.60 and good light steers were $21-$22.50, with good heif. ers at $21-$22. Plain steers and heifers sold downward to $17. Good cows were $17-$18, with plain downward to $13.50. Canplain downward to $13.50. Canners and cutters were mostly $10-$13. Good bulls sold at $19-$21 and plain lights sold downward to $17. Fed yearlings were $24. $26 for choice with medium downward to $19.50. There were no stockers offered on the market.

A light run of 536 calves sold readily at steady prices. Good to choice vealers were $28-$31, with plain to medium from $16-

Hogs totalled 1,593 head and were steady at $31.50 for Grade A and $31.10 for B1. Sows were $2.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs receipts were only 271 head. A few good lambs sold at $25 with mediums from $18-$23. Small lots of sheep sold at $5-$10 and a few good light ewes brought $12.

The storm was sent by God. This is the outstanding truth. When they left the shore by the Master's orders the lake was calm and the Passover moon was shining brightly. Let us not forget that the lake was several hundred feet below the sea level, surrounded by high hills. Therefor the storm could come very suddenly. The Apostles are rowing quietly and discussing the events of the day when the Lord fed a great multitude with a few loaves and fishes. Suddenly the storm came upon them. They are experienced sailors. They toil in the rowing. They know it will need all their skill to get to the other side. The Master ordered them to go. They are obeying orders and find themselves in the midst of the storm. This is an important lesson. It is good for us to remember when we are sure of our orders; that we are

Although this higher figure for insurance applicants may appear to indicate a downward trend in the property of higher points and higher property of higher points and higher point employment, officials point out that employment is at an all-time peak, for any period since the war. As far as experts can see good times will continue well into 1949.

Arrange School
Officials of NES made arrangements on Dec. 17 with H. R. Hendershot, principal of Campbell-ford High School, to start a night school for displaced persons by mid-January. It is expected that 15 pupils from Warkworth, Hast-ings and the townships of Sey-mour East and West will attend. Most of the number will be Dutch

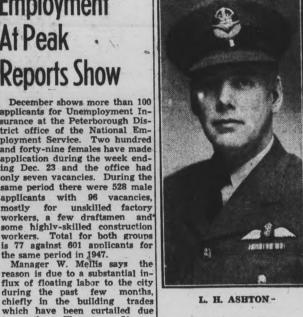

Last year an attempt was made to establish a night school at Norwood to serve nine pupils in that district at that time. It was to have run for five months but attendance was poor and the project was abandoned. Applications on file at present indicate that the Campbellford arrangement will be a success and will carry on until mid-April.

There are no bushmen apply-

Natural Food And Outdoor Life Bring Happiness Veteran Says

THOROLD, Ont., Dec. 31 (CP)

—In the spring of 1948, Emil Zims' merman, 26, lay in a United States naval hospital. He had been there for eight months and doctors told him he would never be completely well again.

Today, tanned and 186 pounds in weight, Zimmerman says his health is proof that man should live as natural intended—with the earth, in the sun and the air, free of the bonds of civilization.

Sees Own Silhouette In Circular Rainbow CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z., Dec

31—(CP)—The rare phenomenon the Spectre of the Brocken, has been seen again in New Zealand from the summit of Mount Ber-nard, overlooking Akaroa Harbor near here.

W. R. Curry, a visitor, reached the mountain peak in driving mist. From time to time, the sun, near-ly setting, broke through and on at least six occasions in half an hour Curry saw his own silhouette rainbow over the bay. When he moved an arm toward it, a long misty arm extended back to him from the mirrored figure in the centre of the circle of color.

"I have travelled round the world and seen some strange sights, but this phenomenon was something completely different, Curry said. "It was a weird and wonderful vision-facinating and unforgetable."

The British Whig was established in Kingston, Upper Canada, as a semi-weekly on February 7, 1834, by Dr. Edward Barker, who had arrived recently in Canada from England. In 1848 Dr. Barker decided to publish his newspaper daily, while carrying on the weekly British Whig. On January 1, 1849, the first dailypaper was published—a laborious task, for all type was hand-set and printed on a hand press.

Dr. Barker was a man of intense political beliefs. One of the most ffequent targets for his bitter pen was the then Governnor-General, Lord Elgin Whenever he had apparently run out of editorial subjects he leaped gleefully to the attack of the unhappy Elgin. Lawyers, too, annoyed him. Many and varied were his printed slaps at them.

In those days a considerate city provided refreshments, largely liquid, to such of the public who chose to attend fires. Dr. Barker denounced these fire-watchers for "abusing the city refreshments at fires." Apparently they showed too much enthussasm in accepting the available offerings.

A Clever Man In 1872 Dr. Barker turned over his newspaper to his grandson, Edward John Barker Pense, then Edward John Barker Pense, then only 22. A man of great ability, Pense built up the paper into a strong, profitable business. Dr. Barker for years battled the Tories in Canada with tremendous vigor. With the rise of the young Kingston man, John A. Macdonald (later Sir John and first prime minister of the dominion) he switched camps, supporting the Tory Macdonald. Pense soon led the paper's editorial viewpoint back into the camp of the Whigs. Pense died in 1910. His estate continued to operate the paper until W. R. ### Prospectors Sought In Vain For Famed Lost Lemon Mine

From an Article by Senator D. E. Riley of High River, Alberta, in the Alberta Folklore Quarterly
There is a fascination in stories of lost mines and lost men. There is the famed McLeed Mine somewhere in the heart of the saw-toothed Nehannies, for which men have searched for 40 years only to have it clude them and leave a trail of bleached and wolf-gnawed skeletons behind. And then there is the famed Lost Lemon Mine of Southern Alberta for which prospectors have sought through the years in vain.

In the Spring of 1870 a party
in Montana to prospect the North Saskatchewan River for gold.
Among them were two men,
known as Blackjack and Lemon.
Blackjack had the reputation of being the best prospector in the West since he was the real discoverer of the Caribou diggings in British Columbia. Thes two men were staked by Lafayette
French, an oldtime Indian trader and buffalo hunter.

Leaving the Saskatchewan party they decided to travél

would afford them protection

4 4 4 ANSWER: You are right. Positively. There is nothing that binds a man so closely to a woman as to know that she loves him with a love that never fal-ters, and that if all the world lapses that cause so many boys ters, and that if all the world turned against him she would stand by his side. Women are so anxious to be loved that they forget that men crave affection just as much as they do. They think that because a man is big and strong and can command an army or be at the head of a million dollar business, he doesn't want to be babied and petted and caressed and made much over.

And that is the greatest mistake that a wife ever makes, for underneath every man's pretense of being self-sufficient is a hungry little boy starving for love and wanting to be told how beautiful and precious he is by some woman who thinks he is a world wonder and tells him so, and that she never ceases to be thankful that she got him for a husband.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

AVOID THE I-OVER-1
THERE is a situation in which, more than at any other time, a player should refrain from making a one-over-one response to his partner's suit bid That is when his partner had bid 1-Heart, he himself holds four-card or better support for the suit and he also has biddable spades, his whole hand being of only moderate strength. In that situation, it is far better to raise than bid 1-Spade. That is so for two reasons. First, it withholds information which may aid the defenders in choice of leads and plays. Second, it tends to shut them out of the bidding, necessitating a bid of three to overcall it in a minor, whereas only two would be required over 1-Spade. AVOID THE 1-OVER-1

Granted that West's bid of 3
Hearts at Table 2 was a bit of an overbid. it paid out through preventing North from showing preventing North from showing actually the slight underbid of 2-Hearts would have been enough to keep North out of the bidding. But 1-Spade left the door open for North's 2-Clubs, when a higher call would not have been dared.

Where the 1-Spade response was overcalled by 2-Clubs, South could hardly lead anything except his partner's suit. In consequence, a trick got set up there at once, so that the defenders took a total of three and held the contract to exactly game.

Where North was shut out of showing his clubs, South made the more natural choice of the unbid major for his opening lead, selecting the spade 10, the A winning The heart 2 to the K killed the Q and the next heart went to the A. When South then tried a club switch it was too late. The A won, the heart 9 cleared trumps, spades divided evenly and the last club of East was discarded on the fourth spade to make an extra trick

West having chosen to open that weakly, there was nothing much East could do except raise with only three-card support. Too strong to pass, unable to bid 2-No Trumps because of lack of heart stoppers and with no alternative suit, he took the only available course. IN BRIDGE you are often obliged to do something you don't like to do. Such, for instance, as like to do. Such, for instance, as raising your partner's possibly four-card suit with only three cards of it. The soundest player is obliged to do that in certain situations, even though he knows that any fewer than four cards risk a dangerous trump suit being chosen. But suppose your hand is too strong to pass, has no other suit in it which you might bid, and is unsuitable for. No Trumps because it doesn't stop some one suit bid by an opponent. Among such a choice of evils, your sole recourse may be a three-card raise stoppers and with no alternative suit, he took the only available course.

West had a tough time to make that contract. Having lost the first twe tricks to the heart K and diamond A, and winning the third with the diamond K when the J was returned, he led the heart Q, which lost to the A. On the diamond Q south shed a heart, and when the diamond 10 followed the dummy's spade 8 ruffed, the Q being forced from South The defense got no more tricks after that, since the spade 8 was killed after the club return Note that, if North had returned a heart after the diamond Q won. West could have assured the safety of his contract by discarding his final diamond.

Your Week-End Question

What advantage is there in knowing your partner will raise your major suit at his first chance instead of bidding another, if he has four cards? How does that knowledge aid you if he bids a different suit his first time and then raises yours on his second chance? $ 10 7 $ A K 9 7 3 $ Q 10 8 3 $ 6 2 N J 108 W E S 7 2 A K 8

Activity In Electrical Industry Will Continue At High Level

By H. M. TURNER President Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd.

The use of electricity in Canada has doubled every 10 years since 1919 when records first became available. Although this trend available. Although this frend-may not be maintai ed indefinite-ly, it is reasonable to expect that it will continue for at least the next decade. This increasing de-mand must be met by a parallel development of power production facilities.

Utilities from coast to coast are undertaking large scale expansion programs that are greater by far than at any time in our history. Even these seem to be inadequate to both satisfy the present power shortages in many areas and meet the increasing areas and meet the increasing demands of the future as indicated by the long-term trend.

Electricity and Nation's Progress

As a nation we enjoy a standard of living among the highest in the world—and one of the chief reasons has been the availability of low cost electric power.

In 1900, Canada was predominantly agricultural and electric energy was just beginning to energy was just beginning to exert its influence on the development of large-scale industry. At that time we had a total waterpower installation of about 173.-000 hp. By 1910 this had increased to 977,006 hp; by 1920 to 2.515,-000; by 1930 to 6,125,000; by 1940 to 8,584,000; and by 1947 to 10,-490,000 hp. In 1948 over 400,000 horsepower was added; a similar amount is planned for 1949, and still more in subsequent years. Today, largely as a result of this expansion, we are one of the chief industrial nations of the world, making perhaps the greatest per capita use of electricity.

The use of electric power has thus become at the same time a principal cause and an accurate index of the nation's progress Canadians have come to assume that it will be provided in suffiin the country's normal growth and expansion

Power Planning onsiderable help in the vital task of long-range planning our power developments for the future.

A close examination reveals, that although the expansion of our electric facilities in the past has been considerable, the rate of increase has not been steadily main tained. Between 1935 and 1940, the rate of increase in installed horsepower fell off considerably before rising thereafter at a rate even higher than before 1935. During the war, by careful hus-banding, this developed power proved adequate for the enormous wartime expansion that took place in all parts of the nation's ndustrial life. In the post-war years it has proved inadequate in some parts of the country to sup-port the even greater peace-time roductive effort. Thus the slackening of the rate of power development in the pre-war years; the lack of men and materials during the war for in-stallations other than isolated, high-priority projects; the gener-ally-held belief that the closing of war plants would release suf-ficient power for post-war reor. W. E. and Mrs. Wilson, stings, also Dr. and Mrs. L. ison, Bur ito, were Eunday sets of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilidifficult to keep pace with together the strain of the control of the co

W. M. S. will hold their power, other than hydraulic, will be secured not only for peak Anuary meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Sykes on January 5, roads and weather permitting.

Large steam-electric stations, though they usually produce power, at higher cost, must sooner or later be employed to supplement the production of water-power stations, even when the full potential of such great systems as the St. Lawrence River have been ful-ly developed.

The twin conclusions that the rate of our power expansion must be consistently maintained and that the type of power expansion must be diversified seem, there-fore, to be basic to our plans for the future.

Electrical manufacturers have of the electrical manufacturing industry in Canada for 1948 is estimated to be about $400 million which is nearly 10 per cent great-er than 1847 and well over four times the production in 1939. Pre-sent indications are that this high level of activity will be continued

Both in value of product and in providing employment, the electrical apparatus and supplies industry, with close to 300 plants employing nearly 53,00 people, is one of the foremost manufactur-ing industries in Canada.

The Home and Farm.

Although electrical manufacturers last year had a record production of appliances, the demand for these still coptinue strong. This demand was created by the construction in 1948 of some 80,000 new housing units, practically all electrified, as well as the addition of electric lebourseaving description description of electric lebourseaving description tion of electric labour-saving de-vices to existing homes. During the past 20 years the number of electrified homes has doubled — and now total over two million.

The low cost of electricity, one of the few commodities that costs less generally than ten years ago, has been an important factor in increased domestic use. The result has been that the average annual consumption of power in Can-ada's electrified homes—1700 kilowatt hours— is one of the high-est in the world. And in some communities, the domestic consumption is over three times as reat as our national average—an ndication of the possibilities of still greater utilization. In spite of the increase in the ousehold use of electricity, over 75 per cent of Canada's wired homes are without electric ranges, 67 per cent do not have electric refrigerators and 38 per cent do not use electric washers.

Today there are approximately 150,000 electrified farms, and utilities in every province have plans afoot to extend power lines into still more wiseless. into still more rural areas to bring the farmer the labor-saving and convenience of electric power. It is anticipated that during the next few years many additional farms will be connected to power lines. Electricity In Industry

Canadian industry is not only 81 per cent. electrified, but it

added more than 5,000 square miles to the map of Canada.
